BRITON ADMITS SPY CHARGE AT MOSCOW TRIAL

Engineer Says He Bribed Russian to Reveal War Secrets.

HIS 5 COMPATRIOTS PLEAD NOT GUILTY

MacDonald Also Confesses He Paid for Sabotage in Soviet Plant.

Moscow, April 12 (A.P.).—W. H. MacDonald, one of the six British engineers who went on trial today on charges of sabotage, bribery and espionage, made a double admission that he was guilty. He entered a plea of guilty when the session opened. The first witness recited a detailed story that MacDonald had bribed him to act as a spy, and the young Englishman confirmed almost all of this testimony.

The other Englishmen on trial—Allan Monkhouse, Charles Nordwell, L. C. Thornton, A. W. Gregory and John Cushny—all pleaded not guilty. Eleven Russian employes of the Metropolitan-Vickers Electrical Co., for which all of the Englishmen worked, pleaded guilty.

Director Tells of Bribery.

The first witness produced by the prosecution was V. A. Gusev, director of the Zlatoust electrical station. Under questioning he admitted that he had supplied MacDonald with military and economic information concerning the Zlatoust plant and that, on MacDonald's instructions, he had actively sabotaged machinery in the electric station in order to diminish the effectiveness of operations in dependent military plants.

Confessing that he had entertained anti-Soviet convictions ever since he fought in the White Army under Gen. Kolchak, Gusev said MacDonald paid him 3,000 rubles for acting as his spy. (The ruble nominally is worth 51½ cents.)

MacDonald Confesses.

Audrey Vishinski, the bespectacled prosecutor, asked MacDonald if Gusev's statements were true. Standing in the prisoners' dock the youthful engineer further incriminated himself by asserting that most of them were.

"I paid him money," MacDonald declared, "and I received this money from Thornton."

Thornton, questioned in turn, said he had given MacDonald 1,500 rubles, but he did not know the purpose for which he wanted it and was not aware that Gusev had furnished MacDonald with secret information. Thornton asserted that the only information that he himself had collected was about the operation of

Britain Ready to Move If 6 Are Found Guilty

London, April 12 (U.P.).—The way was cleared tonight for prompt action by the British government in the event the six Metropolitan-Vickers employes on trial at Moscow are convicted of sabotage and espionage.

The cabinet voted to empower Stanley Baldwin to call a meeting of the cabinet immediately upon ending of the Moscow trial to consider what measures the government should adopt. This discretion was given to Baldwin because of the possibility that Premier MacDonald will be in the United States conferring with President Roosevelt when the trial concludes.

More Nations Invited To Conferences Here

Secretary of State Hull Heeds Desires of Those Not Included in White House Talks; More Acceptances Received.

By HAROLD J. T. HORAN.

Preparations for the White House conference of statesmen intensified yesterday as replies to the invitations forwarded recently to the eleven countries by this Government began flowing back. Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald's acceptance had already been in hand several days and yesterday the formal acceptances of the Japanese, Canadian and Brazilian governments were delivered, while the French and Italian replies were reported on the way.

Secretary Hull finally heeded the tacit representations of the other diplomats for a voice in the preliminary negotiations. Those chiefs of mission who had not been included in the original eleven were bidden to an exchange of views with the Secretary of State in advance of the World Economic Conference. Thus a secondary series of conferences will be going on here, almost at the same time President Roosevelt is receiving the visits of statesmen.

The problem of taking care of so many distinguished visitors has begun to figure in the preparations at this stage, and the matter has been disposed of by the President in this way: Prime ministers in power will be invited to stay at the White House, but all other envoys will be the guests of their respective embassies. In this way former Premier Herriot, Viscount Ishii and Finance Minister Jung, for Italy, will be the guests of their own embassies.

President Roosevelt indicated yesterday that his fireside conferences will not be restricted to a seriatum

PORTABLE SCHOOLS' RETURN THREATENS

Ballou Points to Alternative; New Buildings Seen in Beer Revenue.

By ROBERT C. ALBRIGHT.

Return of the unpopular portable schoolhouse, or part-time instruction in the elementary, junior and senior high schools, were put forward yesterday by Superintendent of Schools Frank W. Ballou as his only alternatives if Congress insists on its $3,633,917 slash under current school appropriations.

Dr. Ballou told the Senate District Appropriations subcommittee he has reduced the number of portables to 25 in the last 12 years, but must again restore them to general use, or resort to part-time classes throughout the school system, if new school construction is dropped from the 1934 program.

Within the last six months it has been necessary to set up four more of the portable structures at the Armstrong High School to avoid overcrowding. Increasing congestion makes their further use elsewhere imminent, despite the fact that the School Board seeks their ultimate abandonment.

The school superintendent reiterated what he told the Board of Education last week—that the only way to avoid the unfortunate educational consequences attending congestion in the schools is by construction of new school buildings.

Following yesterday's hearing, Senator Arthur Capper (Republican), Kansas, former chairman of the Senate District Committee, said he would exert all of the influence he can bring to bear to restore funds in the bill not only for construction of the new Woodrow Wilson High School, but for the Logan Elementary School and needed additions to the Deal and Browne Junior High Schools.

Majority members of the subcommittee, however, were skeptical over

Stockholders Sue National City Bank

$62,883,752 Is Asked by Group Charging Loss Due to Illegal Acts.

New York, April 12 (A.P.).—A stockholders' suit for $62,883,752, charging losses through "unwarranted and illegal transactions," was filed today against the National City Bank, the National City Co., Charles E. Mitchell, former chairman of the bank; Gordon S. Rentschler, its president, and directors of both corporations.

The suit was filed by Sarah Cohen for herself and similarly situated stockholders. She made affidavit that they became aware of the facts set forth in the complaint only after Mitchell and Rentschler testified in Washington recently before the Senate committee investigating stock market practices.

The complaint set forth matter that was dealt with in their testimony.

Dr. Soong Is Too Busy To Attend Parley Here

Nanking, China (Thursday), April 13 (A.P.).—It was understood today that T. V. Soong, minister of finance, has decided he will not be able to attend the economic conversations in Washington and London.

Sun Fo, president of the legislative council and former minister of communications in the Canton government, probably will be named to represent China at the conferences. The pressure of China's financial problems was understood to be so heavy that Dr. Soong would not be able to leave.

LAWS TO AID LABOR ASKED BY PRESIDENT

Backs 30-Hour Week and Invites States to Pass Minimum Pay Acts.

(Associated Press.)

President Roosevelt yesterday placed his influence behind steps to better labor's lot, going beyond the confines of his office to recommend specific action by the States. His approval, and that of his Secretary of Labor, Frances Perkins, was given to the principle of 30-hour week legislation now before Congress.

The President then sent telegrams to 13 governors of industrial States commending to their attention New York State's pending minimum wage law. He expressed hope that similar legislation would be passed by other Commonwealths.

The White House explained the 13 singled out were chosen because of the big factory employment in their jurisdiction. They were New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Connecticut, Rhode Island, New Hampshire, Maryland, Ohio, Indiana, Michigan, Illinois, Delaware, North Carolina and Alabama.

The New York measure referred to by Mr. Roosevelt is an anti-"sweat shop" law, which pronounces it against public policy for any employer to pay women or minors less than fair and reasonable pay, or less than "sufficient to meet the ultimate cost of living necessary for health."

"This," said the President's telegram, "represents a great forward step against lowering of wages which constitutes a serious form of unfair competition against other employers, reduces the purchasing power of the

Bills To Delay Cities' Debts Are Put Aside

(Associated Press.)

Prospects for early legislation to aid debt-burdened cities dimmed appreciably yesterday as the House Judiciary Committee tabled one bill to that end and indefinitely delayed another.

The committee emphatically discarded the McLeod bill, which had the indorsement of representatives of many big cities, including Mayor Frank Murphy of Detroit, who has been named Governal General of the Philippines.

Under that measure, financially embarrassed cities could have gone into courts and obtained moratoriums on debt principal and interest payments for as much ten years. The Wilcox measure was delayed indefinitely.

Ohio Youth, Drunk, Blames New Beer

Police Judge Says Common Sense Must Be Used and Fines Him.

Columbus, Ohio, April 12 (A.P.).—Police Judge Harold L. Kime, in fining a 19-year-old youth for drunkenness today, held it was his opinion "that when Congress passed the recent bill legalizing 3.2 beer, which was later supplemented by the Ohio Legislature, it meant the moderate use of the same."

The defendant, Willis Camp, of Circleville, who was fined $10 and costs, testified he had been drinking only 3.2 beer. Arresting officers asserted he was "staggering, bleary-eyed and his speech incoherent."

The judge said "that it is the court's solemn duty to protect innocent citizens who have free use of the streets from irresponsible persons who lack the will power and common sense to judge the moderate use of 3.2 beer in accordance with their own physical capacities."

NATS WIN, 4-1, IN DEBUT SEEN BY ROOSEVELT

(The Philadelphia Athletics performed yesterday under the direction of Acting Manager Bing Miller when Connie Mack missed plane conections and failed to put in an appearance for the opening game with the Nats.)

Mr. Connie Mack,
General Delivery, Philadelphia, Pa.

Dear Connie: Seein' as how you couldn't get down here to see your boys play, you may be pained to learn what happened yesterday. I'd like to break it gently, Connie, but you'll agree with me that teams aren't winning ball games on six hits these days. The upshot of it all was, Connie, that your young fellows with all their new speed couldn't steal first base and took it on the chin from our Nats, 4 to 1.

It was too bad about Joe Cronin, too, Connie. It was a tough spot for a 26-year-old kid in there managing a big league club, and I hope you won't be too hard on him. Joe's new managerial duties weighed so heavily on his mind that he only made three hits, including the first hit and the first run, was the middle man in a cute double play, and otherwise figured in wiping five of your base runners off the sacks when your young men were threatening to do something about Al Crowder.

Comforting, Yes Comforting.

If it's any comfort to you, Connie, Joe'll probably steady down when the season gets a little older.

Your lieutenant, Bing Miller, didn't make any mistakes, Connie, and he's really not to blame for what happened. If you ask me, Bing would rather have been in the A's line-up

2 KILLED BY GUNMEN IN JERSEY BEER WAR

Bodies Found in Six-Room Suite of Elizabeth Hotel; Victim Ran in Vain.

Elizabeth, N. J., April 12 (A.P.).—Gangsters' guns broke the tea-time quiet of the Elizabeth Carteret Hotel today, and a dozen detectives, scurrying past startled guests to an eighth floor suite, found two bodies described by police as those of beer syndicate leaders.

The slain men were identified by police as Max Feldman, 33, and Joseph Greenberg, 33, both of Reading, Pa. Police were checking a report that Feldman also was known as Max Hassell, Pennsylvania beer baron.

While reluctant to attach significance to the fact, police said Feldman was a pal of Al Lillien, whose enemies killed him on March 23 after chasing him up two flights of stairs in the old Hammerstein place at Atlantic Highlands.

The bodies both were in room 824, one of six rooms occupied in the names of Penney and Jameson. Police are checking these names.

An overturned chair in a distant part of the suite indicated to Capt. Frank Brennan, in charge of the investigation, that one of the victims, at least, had run 60 or 70 feet in an effort to escape.

Greenberg's body, with a bullet through the heart, was slumped in a chair behind a desk, his chin resting against his chest.

Feldman had fallen to the floor in front of the desk. Two bullets

Denmark's Parliament Bans Nazis in Slesvig

Copenhagen, April 12 (A.P.).—Both chambers of the Danish Parliament today adopted a bill prohibiting the wearing of uniforms and emblems of political organizations. Voluntary corps which are officially recognized are excepted. A bill also was adopted increasing State police forces by 100 men.

The bill forbidding uniforms and emblems was designed to prevent the entry of uniformed German Nazis into Danish Slesvig. The bill was rushed through due to a desire to make the law effective before the Easter holidays when, it was pointed out, uniformed Nazis intended to visit the district.

Nazis Claim Harvest of Guns and Red Literature in Prussia.

Berlin, April 12 (A.P.).—Systematic search by the police of passengers' baggage deposited at Prussian railway cloakrooms yielded a rich harvest of treasonable material, it was said in an official report issued tonight.

Truckloads of trunks, filled with Communist literature, arms and munitions, were seized in Berlin and other cities, the report said.

OLSON THREATENS RICH MINNESOTANS

May Declare Martial Law and Confiscate Wealth to Halt Suffering.

St. Paul, Minn., April 12 (A.P.).—A threat of martial law and confiscation of wealth to provide relief was dangled over the Legislature today by Gov. Floyd B. Olson, who said he hoped "the present system of government goes right down into hell" if it fails to prevent recurrence of existing conditions.

Addressing relief marchers from the capitol steps, the only Farmer-Labor governor in the Nation charged State lawmakers, particularly the Senate, with holding up measures to alleviate suffering.

He said he was making a "last appeal to the Legislature," which must adjourn April 19, and that if it did not provide ample relief "I shall invoke the powers that I hold and I shall declare martial law."

"As long as I sit in the governor's chair there is not going to be any misery in the State if I can humanly prevent it," asserted Olson, who left his capitol office to speak before the crowd of several hundred war veterans and others.

The march was under direction of the Minnesota organization of the Bonus Expeditionary Force and a group calling itself the State committee of action. The latter claimed to represent farmers and workers.

The marchers left a petition demanding that the Legislature enact measures providing unemployment insurance, a moratorium on foreclosures and evictions, tax exemption for unemployed and impoverished farmers, and an income tax.

3-ALARM DOWNTOWN FIRE DRAWS THRONG

Lieutenant Is Overcome and Women Saved in Blaze at Philipsborn's.

While thousands of early theatergoers crowded downtown streets, firemen battled more than two hours last night to subdue a spectacular three-alarm fire, which for a time threatened to wipe out the interior of M. Philipsborn & Co., women's apparel shop at 606-614 Eleventh street northwest.

Dinners were left untouched and would-be movie patrons changed their minds as restaurants and theater lobbies emptied at the first sound of screaming fire engines. Streets were quickly jammed as the dense smoke and continued clanging of bells drew great throngs to the scene.

Confronted with huge clouds of smoke billowing from all windows of the five-story structure, first firemen to arrive immediately sounded a second alarm. Unable to reach the fire center with lines of hose, responding companies soon sent a third call for aid.

The stubborn blaze originated beneath a front show window in a room used to store cleaning equipment. It quickly spread to the rear of the basement and confined itself in a double partition under the first floor.

Dense smoke found its way into wall spaces and was soon issuing from all front windows of the building. For more than half an hour firemen sought to locate the blaze's center.

Passers-by discovered smoke coming from a basement trap door on the sidewalk about 7:15 and notified Theodore Gibbs, colored porter, who was working in a show window.

A number of persons were working in the building at the time. Gibbs called Jack Carter, building manager, who hurried to the fourth floor and warned Mrs. Irene Grubbs, office manager, and Miss Virginia Donnelly. Before they could make their way

Cruiser Launched At Brooklyn Yard

Miss Jahncke Names Boat New Orleans as 5,000 Gather in Rain.

New York, April 12 (A.P.).—The 10,000-ton treaty cruiser New Orleans slipped down the ways at the Brooklyn Navy Yard today as Miss Cora Stanton Jahncke christened the ship by breaking a bottle of Mississippi River water on its prow.

Five thousand guests gathered in the rain to watch the launching of the third United States naval vessel to bear the name of the Crescent City. The official party included Mrs. James Roosevelt, mother of the President, and Henry Latrobe Roosevelt, Assistant Secretary of the Navy. Miss Jahncke is daughter of Ernest Lee Jahncke, of New Orleans, former Assistant Secretary of the Navy.

The cruiser was authorized in 1929 and constructed under the terms of the London naval treaty. The ship is 588 feet over all, with a beam of 61 feet, and has an armament of 17 guns, 6 torpedoe tubes and 4 aircraft.

New York Life Slices Pay of Its Executives

New York, April 12 (A.P.).—The New York Life Insurance Co. today announced salary reductions for executives and employes ranging from 5 per cent to 15 per cent. The maximum cut applies only to the salary of President Thomas A. Buckner. Employes receiving $2,000 and less are not affected by the adjustment. It applies to all others in the home and branch offices.

HOUSE LEADERS FAIL IN STEP TO BIND MAJORITY

Party Caucus Refuses to Agree to Vote as Unit Upon Rules.

HEATED ARGUMENTS HEARD AT MEETING

Proposed Change Would Require 218 Names to Take Bills Onto Floor.

(Associated Press.)

The House Democratic leadership, gathered in a heated secret caucus, last night failed to bind its membership to vote as a unit for a proposal to strengthen the House rules.

The proposed rule, which would increase the number of petitioners from 145 to 218, a majority, in order to extract a bill out of committee to obtain a House vote, nevertheless was adopted as the "sense of the caucus."

It requires a two-thirds vote to bind the membership and the Democratic caucus last night voted, 146 to 86, on the rule. This was eight short of the necessary two-thirds.

Proposal Amended.

As first presented to the caucus by Democratic leaders, the resolution to change the rule would have bound them, but after several votes on substitute proposals indicating defeat for their resolution, Speaker Rainey, Representative Byrns, of Tennessee, the Democratic leader, and Representative Sabath (Democrat), Illinois, amended it to make it the "sense" of the caucus. This did not bind the members.

If the rule is presented to the House, the Democrats therefore will be free to vote as they wish.

There are 313 Democrats, 112 Republicans and 5 Farmer-Laborites in the House, with 5 Republican vacancies. There were 80 members absent last night and the leadership had no way of determining whether their support could be counted on.

Representative Lea, of California, chairman of the Democratic caucus, said "unless we get some votes from the Republicans, it looks like the rule might be defeated if it is brought up in the House."

Substitutes Defeated.

Substitue proposals by Representative McKeown (Democrat), Oklahoma, to place the number of petitioners at 160 and by Representative Parsons (Democrat), Illinois, at 201, were defeated before the final vote was taken.

This is the second time since the leadership has taken control of the Democratic organization that it has been defeated in its effort to bind the majority. The first failure was on the administration's economy bill.

It was while Vice President Garner was Speaker that the 218 rule, invoked when the late Speaker Nicholas Longworth (Republican), Ohio, controlled the House, was reduced to 145. Rainey was one of the leaders of the fight for the liberalization of the rules at that time.

The move to tighten the rules was undertaken to prevent proponents of inflation, cash bonus and other legislation not on the administration's program from being brought to a vote in the House.

Many of the new Democratic members favor these proposals. Democratic leaders last night said that if they could not get enough votes within their own rank to restore the 218 rule, Representative Snell of New York, the Republican leader, might "give up 50 votes."

Akron Sailed Despite Plans To Fix Known Weak Girder

Strengthening of Very Point Which One of Three Survivors Saw Buckle Was Slated This Month, Hearing at Lakehurst Reveals.

Lakehurst, N. J., April 12 (A.P.).—The doomed U. S. S. Akron, a naval court of inquiry learned today, took off on its last flight after plans had been made to strengthen its structure at the very point where one of the three survivors saw a girder buckle as the ship took its dive to destruction.

The testimony came from Lieut. Comdr. Edwin F. Cochrane, assembly and repair officer at the naval air station here, and was subsequently corroborated by Thomas L. Blakemore, the station's aeronautical engineer. The work was to have been done between April 7 and 18 when the dirigible was to have been given a general overhauling.

The strengthening alterations, Cochrane told the court, were among the nine repair items decided upon prior to the flight in a conference between Commander F. C. McCord, the ship's skipper; its first lieutenant, its engineer and Cochrane.

The alterations, Cochrane related, called for the reinforcement by crossbracing of intermediate frames in the middle third of the ship, or between frames 57.5 and 147.5, covering bays 5, 6 and 7.

Neither Cochrane nor Blakemore was able to state how much strength the reinforcements would have given the areas in question. Blakemore said there was no record why the alterations suggested by the manufacturers of the ship and approved by the Navy had been ordered. He said, however, he assumed they were to have been made because two girders had buckled farther aft on the starboard side of the Akron during her West Coast trip last May.

Prior to the ordering of the reinforcements on the Akron, he said,

REGULARS PREPARE FOR FARM BILL ROW

Senate's Insurgents Persist in Efforts to Guarantee Production Costs.

(Associated Press.)

Senate administration supporters prepared yesterday to down the proposal to guarantee the farmer his production costs after Secretary Wallace let it be known that he wants it left out of the embracing measure designed to cure agriculture's financial ills.

There was some prospect, however, that enough Republicans might join the Democratic insurgents to pass it over their opposition. The plan would be optional and the Secretary of Agriculture could put it into effect at his discretion.

The production cost guaranty section was written into the Roosevelt bill by the Senate Agriculture Committee, but administration followers were confident they could and would throw it out.

Agree on Vote Today.

The Senate agreed to vote by 2 p. m. today on the controversial plan written into the program by the Agriculture Committee.

Meantime, senatorial advocates of inflation tagged amendments to the bill which includes both price lifting and mortgage refinancing, and Senator Barkley (Democrat), Kentucky, lambasted those he averred were trying to defeat the measure through ridicule.

The House, considering the mortgage refinancing plan as a separate bill, postponed a vote until today. During the debate Representative Hoeppel (Democrat), California, called the mortgage bill "half baked," and described the "new deal" as a "raw deal," of which "the American people are begininng to get tired."

Boyer Bares Guilt In Bank Shortage

Case of Former Federal-American Cashier Put Up to Probation Officer.

Charles D. Boyer, former cashier of the Federal-American National Bank, pleaded guilty yesterday in the District Supreme Court to a charge of embezzling $26,000 of the bank's funds.

Justice Daniel O'Donoghue referred his case to the probation officer for a report, which will be acted upon in imposing sentence upon Boyer.

At the time of his resignation, Boyer's shortage was estimated at more than $125,000. Sentence may be pronounced next week, because the Easter holidays interfere with possible sentence late this week.

Charity Bulk Here Privately Donated

American U. Park Citizens Told Public Funds Are Only 10 Per Cent.

Ninety cents of every dollar given for relief in Washington is by private contributions, whereas, in other cities only 10 cents is by private gifts as against 90 cents from public funds, the American University Park Citizens Association was informed last night.

This statement was made by Thomas E. Lodge, first vice president of the Federation of Citizens Associations, in reporting on an investigation into relief work in the District. He also stated that there are now 10,000 families in the District being supported by charity.

A resolution was adopted protesting against the alleged taxing of residents in that section for the upkeep of that part of Western avenue which extends into Maryland. It was pointed out that other streets in that section, particularly Chesapeake street, from Forty-ninth street to Western avenue, are not kept up, while Western avenue throughout its length is kept in a good state of repair.

Pan-American Address Delivered by President

President Roosevelt's Pan-American address yesterday follows:

I rejoice in this opportunity to participate in the celebration of Pan-American Day and to extend on behalf of the people of the United States a fraternal greeting to our sister American republics. The celebration of Pan-American Day in this building, dedicated to international good will and cooperation, exemplifies a unity of thought and purpose among the peoples of this hemisphere. It is a manifestation of the common ideal of mutual helpfulness, sympathetic understanding and spiritual solidarity.

There is inspiration in the thought that on this day the attention of the citizens of the twenty-one republics of America is focused on the common ties—historical, cultural, economic and social—which bind them to one another. Common ideals and a community of interest, together with a spirit of cooperation, have led to the realization that the well-being of one nation depends in large measure upon the well-being of its neighbors. It is upon these foundations that Pan-Americanism has been built.

This celebration commemorates a movement based upon the policy of fraternal cooperation. In my inaugural address I stated that I would "dedicate this Nation to the policy of the good neighbor—the neighbor who resolutely respects himself and, because he does so, respects the rights of others—the neighbor who respects his obligations and respects the sanctity of his agreements in and with a world of neighbors." Never before has the significance of the words "good neighbor" been so manifest in international relations. Never have the need and benefit of neighborly cooperation in every form of human activity been so evident as they are today.

Constructive Efforts Necessary.

Friendship among nations, as among individuals, calls for constructive efforts to muster the forces of humanity in order that an atmosphere of close understanding and cooperation may be cultivated. It involves mutual obligations and responsibilities, for it is only by sympathetic respect for the rights of others and a scrupulous fulfillment of the corresponding obligations by each member of the community that a true fraternity can be maintained.

The essential qualities of a true Pan-Americanism must be the same as those which constitute a good neighbor, namely, mutual understanding, and, through such understanding, a sympathetic appreciation of the other's point of view. It is only in this manner that we can hope to build up a system of which confidence, friendship and good-will are the coner stone.

In this spirit the people of every republic on our continent are coming to a deep understanding of the fact that the Monroe Doctrine, of which so much has been written and spoken for more than a century, was and is directed at the maintenance of independence by the peoples of the continent. It was aimed and is aimed against the acquisition in any manner of the control of additional territory in this hemisphere by any non-American power.

Hand in hand with this Pan-American doctrine of continental self-defense, the peoples of the American republics understand more clearly, with the passing years, that the independence of each republic must recognize the independence of every other republic. Each one of us must grow by an advancement of civilization and social well-being and not by the acquisition of territory at the expense of any neighbor.

Existing Conflicts Backward Step.

In this spirit of mutual understanding and of cooperation on this continent you and I can not fail to be disturbed by any armed strife between neighbors. I do not hesitate to say to you, the distinguished members of the governing board of the Pan-American Union, that I regard existing conflicts between four of our sister republics as a backward step.

Your Americanism and mine must be a structure built of confidence, cemented by a sympathy which recognizes only equality and fraternity. It finds its source and being in the hearts of men and dwells in the temple of the intellect.

We all of us have peculiar problems, and, to speak frankly, the interest of our own citizens must, in each instance, come first. But it is equally true that it is of vital importance to every nation of this continent that the American governments, individually, take, without further delay, such action as may be possible to abolish all unnecessary and artificial barriers and restrictions which now hamper the healthy flow of trade between the peoples of the American republics.

I am glad to deliver this message to you, gentlemen of the governing board of the Pan-American Union, for I look upon the union as the outward expression of the spiritual unity of the Americas. It is to this unity, which must be courageous and vital in its e'ement, that humanity must look for one of the great stabilizing influences in world affairs.

In closing, may I refer to the ceremony which is to take place a little later in the morning at which the government of Venezuela will present to the Pan-American Union the bust of a great American leader and patriot, Francisco de Miranda. I join with you in this tribute.

99 MORE RECRUITS GO TO FOREST CAMP

Filling of Quota by Week-End Expected; One Assigns $25 to Strangers.

Washington's contingent of the reforestation army was increased by 99 men yesterday, bringing the total number of jobless men at Fort Washington to 206, it was reported yesterday by Leroy A. Halbert, director of emergency relief.

This means that Washington's quota of 500 men in the first 25,000 is less than half-filled, although it is expected that the full 500 men will have been sent to the conditioning camp by the end of the week. Removal of some restrictions on recruiting, allowing men to go to camp although their families have never received aid, increased yesterday's enrollment over those enlisted on previous days.

One man, one of the two in the Army holding college degrees, allotted $25 of his salary to a family to whom he is not related, officials of the emergency relief council said yesterday. Rules provide that at least $22 of a man's monthly pay of $30 must be allotted to his family, and this man, anxious to go to camp to escape fruitless job hunting, allotted the bulk of his pay to some family which has no claim on him.

Meanwhile, plans were being rushed for the opening of the first camp, near Luray, Va., as a model for others which will house the jobless army throughout the country. It is hoped to open the camp early next week, possibly in the presence of Mrs. Roosevelt and Government officials. Secret Service men are understood to have surveyed the road to the camp, which is 6 miles west of Luray in the Shenandoah National Forest, and to have mapped out a route which may be followed if Mrs. Roosevelt goes.

The War Department yesterday was placed in charge of the camps. The original plan was that the camps would be in charge of the Forestry Service, which now will have charge of assigning the men to their work.

ARMS TAKEN BY NAZIS IN R'DS IN PRUSSIA

dential press conferences granted the political editors of all Berlin dailies

The resignations of the heads of universities were expected in accordance with administrative changes that are being effected by the government.

A new Prussian students' code abolished parliamentarism and substituted Nazi leadership, under the principle of making appointments from above rather than trusting to popular selection.

New Bavarian Cabinet Is Selected by Von Epp

Munich, Bavaria, April 12 (A.P.).—Within 24 hours of his appointment as governor of Bavaria, Gen. Franz von Epp today formed a new Bavarian cabinet with former Burgomaster Siebert, of Munich, as premier.

Other members are Adolf Wagner, minister of the interior; Hans Frank, minister of justice; Hans Schemm, minister of education. Ernest Roehm, formerly Chancellor Hitler's chief of staff, was appointed state secretary to the governor. Thus the second biggest state in Germany has been promptly brought into line under the national equalization plan.

RUTH BRYAN OWEN ENVOY TO DENMARK

Senators Speedily Confirm Naming, but Defer Vote on Curley and Bell.

Without even sending her nomination to committee, the Senate yesterday confirmed President Roosevelt's choice of Ruth Bryan Owen for the first major diplomatic post ever held by a woman—that of Minister to Denmark.

Such quick action was not accorded the two nominations which accompanied Mrs. Owen's, that of Mayor James M. Curley of Boston, as Ambassador to Poland, and Frank T. Bell as Commissioner of Fish and Fisheries. This is not foreseen as intimating any objection to the names, however. The other two will take the usual course, while Mrs. Owen's speedy confirmation was a courtesy.

The filling of these three jobs is partially offset by Eugene Meyer's desire to retire as governor of the Federal Reserve Board. Several weeks ago, it was learned, Mr. Meyer told the President that he would like to return to private business.

Former Representative.

Outstanding among the candidates for Mr. Meyer's post are Angus McLean, former Governor of North Carolina, and Walter W. Stewart, chairman of the board of Case, Pomeroy & Co.

Mrs. Owen is a former representative from Florida and is the daughter of William Jennings Bryan. By the terms of her appointment, Mrs. Owen will also be Minister to Iceland, a dependency of Denmark. One of the first questions she must settle in her new role is whether or not she will serve beer in her legations abroad. She is a strict dry, as was her father, and was defeated for reelection to Congress while running on a dry ticket. But recently, talking to newspapermen at the White House, she promised to say whether or not beer would be permitted if she were selected for the post.

Bell From West Coast.

In addition to her congressional experience, Mrs. Owen served as a nurse with the British army in Palestine during the war. She is the widow of Maj. Reginald Owen of the Royal Engineers. She also holds the degree of doctor of laws from Rollins College, Winter Park, Fla., and doctor of humane letters from the Russell Sage College.

Mr. Bell was formerly secretary to Senator Dill, of Washington. He has lived in Washington during the sessions of Congress since 1922. He has been in the commercial fishing business, and is an ardent fisherman and advocate of game conservation. He is 48 years old and unmarried.

Mayor Curley has headed the city government of Boston during three four-year terms, and also served in the House of Representatives here from 1911 to 1915, when he resigned to become mayor. Born in Boston in 1874, he entered politics in 1902 when he was elected to the Massachusetts House of Representatives.

Newport Hears Parleys May Be Located There

Newport, R. I., April 12 (A.P.).—Word was received today from Richard Washburn Child in Washington saying he had assurances Newport would be considered as a site for the proposed World Economic Conference.

Child had urged the acceptance of Newport as the seat of the conference on the ground it was a spot detached from political and financial centers and yet accessible and with adequate facilities for hospitality. Child said Rhode Island senators planned to keep the project before Roosevelt and Secretary of State Hull.

ROOSEVELT SOLICITS AMITY OF 21 NATIONS

Pan American Union Speech Raps Trade Barriers in Western Hemisphere.

(Associated Press.)

Peace and elimination of trade barriers were held up by President Roosevelt yesterday as the great needs of the American Republics.

Speaking to diplomats of the 20 other American nations at a solemn session of the Pan American Union's governing board in the observance of Pan America Day, he called undeclared warfare between Paraguay and Bolivia and Peru and Colombia, a "backward step."

His address had been anxiously awaited throughout the Americas, whose statesmen have joined with the United States and the League of Nations in vain attempts to obtain peace.

More important to some of them, however, was his proposal that the American governments move promptly to eliminate inter-American trade barriers.

21 Nations Represented.

Standing before the great mahogany table from the Dominican Republic, around which were seated the chiefs of missions of 20 nations, the President called upon their governments to initiate steps to "abolish all unnecessary and artificial barriers and restrictions which now hamper the healthy flow of trade between the peoples of the American republics."

His address preceded presentation by Minister Pedro Arcaya of Venezuela in the Hall of the Americas of a bust of Gen. Francisco Miranda, South American independence leader.

Secretary Hull received the gift and it was unveiled by the minister's daughter, Senorita Isabel de Arcaya.

The President said the role of the United States would be that of a "good neighbor."

Benefit of Cooperation.

"Never before," he told the diplomats, "has the significance of the word 'good neighbor' been so manifest in international relations. Never have the need and benefit of neighborly cooperation in every form of human activity been so evident as they are today."

Mr. Roosevelt's speech, delivered behind closed doors, was heard through amplifiers in the nearby Hall of the Americas, by several hundred school children.

Several thousand crowded the front of the Union as the President arrived and surged up the stairways behind him as the band played "Hail to the Chief."

MORE ARE INVITED TO WORLD PARLEYS

talk with the delegates. If M. Herriot arrives here at the time Mr. MacDonald is at the White House, they will be invited to talk things over together.

However, this does not mean that the fireside conference, even if it is expanded to include a third member of what originally was meant to be a twosome, will extend the agenda of the informal discussions in the same way. When it comes to embarking on the real nub of the discussions, war debts, tariff reductions, gold standard, the President will restrict his views to the bilateral principle laid down in the beginning.

It became known yesterday that the Anglo-American discussions between British Ambassador Lindsay and Secretary Hull have reached a point where the most encouraging hopes are permissible. The talks between the two chiefs have been attended by the advisers from the Department of State, as well as by the technical experts from the British Embassy, H. O. Chalkley and T. K. Bewley. The broad character of the discussions is evinced by the subjects already treated: The conference itself, its preparation and its probable date, war debts, tariff reductions, the silver problem, the gold standard or the assurance of stable monetary conditions, and cooperation on the disarmament program.

The most appreciable degree of understanding has been reached on the objects and purposes of the conference, in which the British delegation and Secretary Hull see eye to eye. The method of approach to the problems of the agenda varies on both sides, but the presence of the prime minister here with the President is expected to advance the preparatory work of the conference to a point where both the United States and Great Britain can go into the conference with a general understanding on its most difficult phases.

The arrival of the new French Ambassador, Lefebvre de Laboulaye, will probably clarify the intentions of the French government with regard to France's deferred December 15 payment. While the French Parliament has taken no definite action toward ordering the Banque de France to make the payment, there has been an improvement in sentiment toward the settlement of the postponed indebtedness.

The 44 other countries who were invited yesterday to an exchange of views will complete the projected conversations which will make the Capital of the United States the focal point of world interest beginning with the arrival of Prime Minister MacDonald. The invitations were decided on after the members of the Little Entente here broadly hinted that the presence of Italy at the big power discussions might be erroneously interpreted in the Balkans, so the State Department, faced with the alternative of letting in only Czechoslovakia, Jugoslavia, Roumania, and creating additional jealousy, opened the doors entirely to all the nations and broadcast an invitation for an exchange of views between the Secretary of State and the various ambassadors and ministers.

Herriot Coming to U. S. As Envoy of Good Will

Paris, April 12 (A.P.).—Former Premier Edouard Herriot, who will serve as France's special representative at President Roosevelt's economic conversations in Washington, is going to America as an ambassador of good will.

"I will arrive in the United States," he said today, "as a worker and well-wisher who always has maintained the necessity of agreement between the two great republics. I also am an admirer of the man the United States has placed at its head, who has all the qualities of a chief."

Shaw Goes

Sails for Home After Hot Session With Reporters and Cameramen.

New York, April 12 (U.P.).—Displaying magnificent courage for a man of his age and temperament, George Bernard Shaw today bearded the lion in its very cage—put himself at the mercy of 50 newspaper reporters, those predatory persons he calls "gangsters."

"Fire away!" said the great man, ruffling his beard, folding his arms and crossing his legs. His fiery red nose peeped out from the white shrubbery that conceals his features, resembling nothing so much as a large, ripe strawberry floating in a bowl of whipped cream.

It was two hours before the Empress of Britain was to sail for Shaw's native heath and he had told them he would give them 25 minutes, no more, no less.

During these 25 minutes he declared that most of the Irish should be killed, denied that he had ever insulted Helen Keller, said that war is a good thing because a lot of people ought to be shot, broke a microphone and knocked two more over, and finally went off in a huff.

A howl went up from the press photographers. They had not been given a chance for enough shots. But one of their number semeed satisfied. Peering down the companionway at the receding figure of the playwright, he contorted his features into an expression of ineffable disgust.

"Listen," he said, turning around, "I told Queen Marie to pull up her dress and show her legs. If that guy wants to come back, O. K. If he doesn't, let him stay in his hole."

PLEA BY BORAH ASKS INCLUSION OF SOVIET

Answers Arthur Robinson's Attack and Holds Russia Can Not Be Ignored.

(Associated Press.)

The question of Russian recognition flared into the open in the Senate yesterday for the first time this session and culminated in a fervent plea by Senator Borah (Republican), Idaho, for inclusion of the Soviet government in all international conferences for betterment of world conditions.

"I do not know how to formulate a program without that nation," said the Idahoan, long an advocate of American recognition of Russia.

Borah's speech was prompted by Senator Robinson (Republican), Indiana, who in a prepared address vigorously denounced advocates of recognition and asserted such an event at this time would be equivalent to "placing a gun in their hands with which to shoot us."

Robinson said with an embassy in Washington, Russian leaders would utilize it as a "central point for carrying on their admitted efforts to destroy the American republic."

Plea by Borah.

Asserting Russia "had no intention of destroying the Government of the United States and I know perfectly well they couldn't destroy it if they wanted to," Borah said:

"We are about to engage in a world economic conference. How are we going to adjust the world economic affairs and leave Russia out? We are in a disarmament conference. How are you going to reach a decision without taking Russia into consideration?

"How are you going to establish peace with one-sixth of the world's surface outside the family of nations? How are you going to adjust any of these questions without considering this great nation?

"It is not because Russia stands in need of recognition, but I ask with all sincerity, with the World Court, the League of Nations, the economic conference and the disarmament program, how do you expect success without the Russian people and the Russian government?"

Thus far, representatives of the Soviet have not been invited to participate in the informal parleys the administration is holding in preparation for the world economic conference.

Looks to Roosevelt.

Robinson expressed hope that President Roosevelt would adhere to the same nonrecognition policy adopted by recent Republican administrations and added:

"I refuse to lend my sanction to a partnership with a group of conspirators who openly avow that one of their chief objectives is the destruction of the Government under which I live and to which I owe my allegiance."

Borah said he could not see how setting up a Russian embassy here would facilitate dissemination of propaganda because "you can buy any kind of literature on the subject for five cents."

He said he had made a thorough investigation of Russian affairs since Stalin became head of that government and was convinced "there has never been any attempt whatever to interfere in American governmental affairs" either through propaganda or any other method.

Dr. Davis to Lead Friends' Meeting

Yale Professor to Discuss Religion and Economics at Church Here.

Jerome Davis, of Yale University, will lead a discussion on "Religion and the Economic Life" tonight at a conference on religious problems at the Friends' Meeting House, 2111 Florida avenue northwest.

The meeting, held under the auspices of the Quakers, will be open to the public. Dr. Davis, who has been professor of practical philanthropy at Yale since 1924, is the author of several books on Russia.

The conference is the second of a series of three. The final meeting will be held April 21, with Jesse H. Holmes, of Swarthmore College, leading the discussion on "A Christian Civilization."

Revival Services Under Way.

A series of revival services are being conducted by Mrs. Florence Mason and Mrs. Anna Homer at the Apostolic Faith Mission, 32 H street northeast. The services opened Monday and will continue for two weeks. The preaching services began at 8 o'clock each night.

GEN. HAGOOD URGES BIG ARMY SHAKE-UP

Says War Department Is in Danger of Collapse; Asks $50,000,000 Saving.

(Associated Press.)

A reorganized Army "at less cost to the taxpayer" was urged yesterday by Maj. Gen. Johnson Hagood, who opened his testimony before the House Military Committee with the assertion that "the shock of war would destroy" the War Department.

"I criticize an institution created by Congress that has become so complicated that an archangel right out of heaven could not operate it," said the free-speaking commander of the Seventh Corps Area at Omaha, Nebr.

"The War Department has always collapsed at the outbreak of every war and the present organization will collapse at the outbreak of the next war because it is too top-heavy."

Hagood was subpenaed by the committee after some frank remarks to citizens groups in the Middle West on economy in the Army. The 60-year-old veteran adjusted his pince nez and detailed a plan he said would lop off $50,000,000 annually from Army expenses.

High Praise for MacArthur.

Hagood once instructed Gen. Douglas MacArthur when the chief of staff was a West Point cadet. He said yesterday MacArthur was the best man in the Army for the job he holds "in war or in peace," paid corresponding praise to other fellow officers in high posts, but said most of these commands should be abolished.

Among those Hagood wants eliminated are: Assistant Secretary of War for Air, chief of cavalry, chief of infantry, chief of field artillery, chief of Coast Guard artillery, inspector general, chief of chaplains, three assistant chiefs of staff, the Signal Corps, the chemical warfare service and the Philippine scouts.

In place of the present set-up, Hagood would have the War Department and general staff organized "along natural functional lines" into five divisions: Administration, supply, tactics, air corps and militia bureau.

"Too Much Drilling."

Hagood began by saying he was "in an embarrassing position." He said as a member of the executive branch he must decline to express any opinions unless the committee was investigating at the instigation of the President, or his appearance was approved by Secretary Dern.

"We'll have the War Department understand you are not rocking the boat," Chairman McSwain said, and Hagood went ahead.

"There is too much drilling everywhere," Hagood said, contending soldiers could be taught to fight in ten days.

"The basis of this plan is that we must have a Navy equal at least to the best Navy in the world," he testified. * * *

"The National Guard should be advanced to the first line of the Army and the Regular Army put back in the Reserve. In time of peace the Regular Army should be used to instruct the civilian components. * * *

"The key to national defense is the R. O. T. C., through which we turn out annually 40,000 fine young men."

Rio Grande Flood Pact Approved by Senators

(Associated Press.)

The treaty between the United States and Mexico for rectification of the Rio Grande in the El Paso-Juarez Valley was approved yesterday by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

The treaty, signed at Mexico City February 1, is designed to control floods and stabilize the international boundary line, which has varied because of the shifting river channel. Cost of the flood control would be shared by the two governments, with the United States paying 88 per cent and Mexico 12 per cent.

prospects for saving the entire school construction program approved by both House last session, but dropped by the Budget Bureau from the revised estimates.

Revenue from Beer.

A few plan to concentrate on restoration at least of funds for the Woodrow Wilson High School in the Reno section. Chairman William H. King, of the Senate District Committee, will join Capper in a fight to save this structure.

Senator Capper pointed out yesterday that returns from beer licenses and the local beer tax has provided a new source of revenue that should be reflected in more generous appropriations. Estimates of revenue from this source vary from $350,000 to $500,000.

Dr. George F. Bowerman, District librarian, will complete his testimony before the subcommittee this morning. He will demonstrate that proposed cuts in the 1934 budget, will cripple the city's library system.

Overcrowding Most Acute.

Chief Justice Alfred A Wheat, of the District Supreme Court, also testified yesterday, protesting reductions that will necessitate discharge of seven court criers. Evidence also was presented showing detrimental effects of the cuts on the Recorder of Deeds and the Recorder of Wills offices.

Hearings will be concluded today or tomorrow, when representative citizens will be called before the subcommittee.

Dr. Ballou's testimony yesterday amplified his recent statement that overcrowding is most acute in the senior high schools, where enrollment is approximately 2,252 pupils in excess of capacity. Eastern High School is now on a double shift program, and other schools must follow suit if the budget cuts are approved by Congress. In the elementary schools, there are now approximately 38 classes on a part time basis.

GERMAN SCIENTIST GIVEN U. S. MEDAL

Dr. Richard Willstaetter, of Munich, Rewarded by Chemical Society.

New York, April 12 (A.P.).—Award of one of the foremost American science medals to a German, Dr. Richard Willstaetter, of Munich, described in the announcement as "co-religionist of Prof. Albert Einstein," was made public tonight by the American Chemical Society.

The award is the Willard Gibbs Medal, bestowed annually by the Chicago section of the American Chemical Society. Dr. Willstaetter is a Nobel Prize winner in chemistry. The award described him as a "world leader in organized chemistry."

His first great work was with cocaine alkaloids, and it led to the present commercial synthesis of local anesthetics, including cocaine.

The Nobel Prize was given for his work on the green coloring matter of plants, chlorophyll, the chemical which probably accounts for the world's entire food supply. It enables plants to use sunshine to manufacture their sugars and starches, which in turn are eaten by animals.

From the start given them by Dr. Willstaetter, chemists believe they now are on the verge of discovering how to synthesize cholorphyll. This is a feat scientists dream of about as likely to open new fields of progress in food and probably other branches of chemistry.

DR. WALSH ASSAILS SHAW'S RED EULOGY

G. U. Regent Asserts Soviet Dream Delusion Based on Ruin of Religion.

Scoring the eulogies of Russian Communism made in Bernard Shaw's recent radio broadcast, the Rev. Dr. Edmund A. Walsh, regent of the Georgetown University School of Foreign Service, told Washington Rotarians yesterday at their Willard luncheon that Leninism is a delusion and a snare based on a materialistic philosophy responsible for most of the recent economic ills of the world today.

While admitting the humor and shrewdness of the high priest of Shavianism, Dr. Walsh insisted that Shaw visualized the Russian experiment from the economic aspect at the sacrifice of character and moral principles. In fact, he stated, "the elimination of religion is essential to Communist theory, in order to prevent a divided allegiance."

The world today is being faced by a new religion, embodying a new theory of living, it was contended. Russian Communism has its bible in the form of Marx's "Das Kapital;" its evangel in the so-caled "Communist Manifesto," with Lenin as its high priest, and with missionaries in the form of thousands of propagandists in almost every country of the world.

Russia, however, is not entirely to blame for the present situation. The famous five-year plan is merely an industrialization scheme, copied from modern countries and made possible through American engineering genius. Furthermore, it embodies all the worst features of modern industry because of its failure to consider duly the balancing of production and consumption along the lines now being attempted in most other industrial countries.

President Arthur C. Christie presided and the speaker was introduced by the Rev. C. T. Warner. There were 24 Rotarians from other States to enjoy the program, which included several songs by Bernard Fitzgerald.

Minister's Wife Loses Him To Blonde Who Shared Home

Mother of Two Not Bitter Toward Rival Who Left With Pastor and Will Continue Study to Become Teacher.

Springfield, Mo., April 12 (A.P.).—The slight, blue-eyed wife of the Rev. Sharon Inman faced life without bitterness today after losing a desperate gamble for her husband's affections.

Her experiment of inviting into her home her rival, Ezia Holdridge, 20-year-old blonde, in the hope of winning back her husband's love ended yesterday when she saw Inman and the girl trudge away down the highway toward Joplin, Mo. She bade them good-by after taking them to the highway in her car.

The 35-year-old minister, pastor of the Cave Springs Presbyterian Church near here, was suspended by church officials, who reported he appeared before them and admitted his love for Miss Holdridge, reputed to be from Oklahoma.

Trim and smiling, Mrs. Inman went to classes as usual today at the Springfield State Teachers College, where she will qualify in May for a teacher's certificate that may enable her to support her two small children. The seat next to her where Miss Holdridge had studied in recent weeks was vacant.

"It was a good deal my fault," Mrs. Inman told interviewers. "I was responsible for bringing her into our home, more than he was. I thought—I hoped, that she would see me and the children, and our home and give him up. But nothing did any good."

Miss Holdridge spent the last month at the Cave Springs parsonage. Mrs Inman said she believed her husband met the girl while he was attending Missouri Vallege College at Marshall, Mo., last fall to finish work for his degree.

"She and I never quarreled," said Mrs. Inman. "We joked rather grimly sometimes about the possibility of finding poison in the biscuits. But there was never any real danger, of course."

$30,000 Damage In Leesburg Fire

Herndon and Purcellville Aid, but Business Block Is Partly Burned.

Special to The Washington Post.

Leesburg, Va., April 12.—A large part of the business section of Leesburg was destroyed by fire early this morning with a loss of $30,000.

Flames bursting through the roof of Jack's Bowling Alley were discovered about 1 o'clock. A call was sent to Herndon and Purcellville for help and with the local fire company they prevented the flames from consuming the entire block.

Among the buildings were the old Linden Hotel, 100-year-old brick building containing Max Davis' clothing store. John Carter's radio establishment and other smaller offices, an adjacent brick office building and an abandoned garage and sheds in rear of the buildings also burned. Allen Adrian, member of the local company, was injured while fighting the fire.

Kentucky Engineer Dies On Philadelphia Train

Philadelphia, April 12 (A.P.).—Eugene A. Wright, of Louisville, Ky., a civil engineer attached to the valuation department of the Interstate Commerce Commission, died today on an elevated train.

He was 42 and is survived by his widow.

to the first floor, however, the structure was filled with smoke.

Carter aided the two women down a stairway, and, almost overcome, they succeeded in reaching the street uninjured. Donning a gas mask, Carter again reentered the building to rescue papers and money from an office safe.

The mask failed to work properly and at the third floor he was forced to retrace his steps. A second attempt was made and this time he reached the fifth floor with the aid of firemen and powerful searchlights.

As excitement reached its height, an exclamation rose from the crowd when Lieut. J. E. Suit, of No. 1 Engine Company, was carried unconscious from the basement. Strong gases and smoke overcame him as he worked in a far corner of the cellar. He was soon revived by members of the Rescue Squad and returned to duty. A short time later, however, he was again forced to the street.

Stock of adjoining buildings was slightly damaged by smoke. Fire Marshal Calvin Lauber estimated damage to Philipsborn as $3,000 by fire and $20,000 by smoke.

Mrs. Judd Granted Hearing on Sanity

Black Cat and Four New Kittens Get Attention of Blonde Tigress.

Florence, Ariz., April 12 (A.P.).—Winnie Ruth Judd was given a last ray of hope today as a hearing was ordered to determine whether she is insane and therefore exempt from the gallows.

Superior Court Judge E. L. Green set next Friday for beginning the hearing at which twelve men will decide whether the condemned slayer of Agnes Anne Leroi in the "trunk murder" case has become mentally deranged during her fourteen months in prison. If the jury finds her sane, she will be hanged at dawn of the following Friday, April 21. Clemency has been refused.

The Arizona Supreme Court in Phoenix today denied Mrs. Judd a writ of habeas corpus, asked on grounds that the trial jury had imposed the death penalty solely to frighten her and "make her talk."

A black cat, "Friday," and her four kittens, newly arrived, seemed to be of more importance today to Mrs. Judd than the news that Warden A. G. Walker had interceded in her behalf and asked a sanity hearing.

Chinese Brigands Abduct American

U. S. Asks Negotiations Be Opened for Release of Missionary.

Mukden, Manchuria, April 12 (A. P.).—The American consulate was informed today that Chinese brigands had kidnaped Dr. Niels Nielsen, an American medical missionary who came here from Minneapolis.

This information was contained in a telegram sent to the consulate by the missionary's wife. He is affiliated with the Danish Lutheran Mission at Hsiuyen, 110 miles south of Mukden. Mrs. Nielson's telegram contained no details.

(Associated Press.)

The State Department yesterday instructed the American Consul General at Mukden, Manchuria, to begin with local Government officials and Japanese military authorities negotiations for release of Dr. Niels Nielsen, of Minneapolis, reported kidnaped by brigands.

Brooklyn Suspect Held as Burglar

Mrs. Levi Cooke's Home Is Among Those Entered in Robbery Series.

Morris Kutler, 42, of Brooklyn, N. Y., was yesterday charged with housebreaking in connection with three burglaries last month in the homes of prominent Washingtonians, which netted about $800 in loot, mostly clothing.

Complainants are Mrs. Levi Cooke, of 2409 Wyoming avenue northwest, widow of Levi Cooke, well-known Washington lawyer; Col. Charles R. Saunderson, U. S. A., of 2320 Tracy place northwest, and William C. Wright, of 3619 Blaine street northeast.

Kutler, who has been staying at a hotel, was arrested several days ago by members of the headquarters clothing squad. A quantity of loot has already been recovered, according to police.

REICH-PAPAL PACT ADVANCES AT ROME

Von Papen and Goering Are Paid Honors on Visit to Vatican City.

Vatican City, April 12 (A.P.).—A concordat between the Vatican and Germany will result from conversations which are being held by Pope Pius XI, Cardinal Pacelli, papal secretary of state, and Vice Chancellor Franz von Papen, prelates said today.

This concordat would embody the three existing concordats between the Vatican and Prussia, Bavaria and Baden, which were negotiated when Cardinal Pacelli was the papal nuncio to Germany.

Prelates said the agreement would be similar to those concluded with many other countries. It would regulate the affairs of church and state, and in no way would it mention the Hitlerites, or the Catholic Center party in Germany, or enter into the political situation in the Reich.

The German vice chancellor was received today by the Pope in private audience. He was accompanied by Frau von Papen and they were accorded formal honors. The vice chancellor wore evening dress and his decoration as a papal Knight of the Cape and Sword.

Capt. Hermann Goering, minister without portfolio in the Hitler Cabinet, had an audience with the Pope shortly after the Von Papens had left. He arrived in an Italian government automobile bearing the Hitler swastika flag. It was the first time the German Fascist banner officially entered Vatican City.

After spending half an hour with the Pope, Goering was received by Cardinal Pacelli. He, too, was accorded formal honors.

Another concordat, according to Vatican prelates, probably will follow a visit to the Pope tomorrow by Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss of Austria. This agreement has been in negotiation for a year, the chief difficulty being the marriage clauses. It was reported that the Austrian Minister of Justice would come to Rome to discuss the details of the concordat with Cardinal Pacelli.

The Austrian chancellor had a long conversation this morning with Premier Mussolini. In reference to this talk, Italian officials emphasized that Italy's attitude toward "Anschluss"—union of Austria and Germany—was not changed by the advent of Chancellor Hitler. Italy still opposes this movement. It was said, as she did when she voted against it at the Hague in 1931.

Mussolini entertained Chancellor Dollfuss at dinner tonight, and the chancellor is giving a luncheon for him tomorrow.

The premier is tired from the unusual number of discussions he has participated in recently, as well as a succession of formal dinners and luncheons which he heartily dislikes. In addition to conferring with German and Austrian statesmen, he has discussed trade matters with a delegation from Argentina. Probably he will go to his home town, Forli, tomorrow night for a two-day rest.

Kemper Gets Banking Post McLucas Vacated

Kansas City, April 12 (A.P.).—W. T. Kemper, chairman of the Commerce Trust Co., today was elected the Tenth District member of the Federal Advisory Council, in Washington, to succeed W. S. McLucas, who recently became president of the newly formed national bank at Detroit, in the establishment of which the Government participated.

At today's meeting the Tenth District directors elected W. Dale Clark a director of the Omaha branch to succeed the late Robert O. Marnell, of Nebraska City, Nebr. Mr. Clark is president of the Omaha National Bank.

LAWS TO AID LABOR ASKED BY PRESIDENT

workers and threatens the stability of industry."

On the 30-hour work week bills, the administration sought to make them more elastic, so the limit of six hours and five days work a week could be exceeded if that were found advisable. The legislation would work by barring from Interstate Commerce articles manufactured under other than those working limits. But, Miss Perkins told the House Labor Committee:

"I am definitely in favor of the principles of the bill and I think it is a good device for spreading employment."

Suggests Elasticity.

That statement followed a two-hour session during which she made several suggestions to the committee for making the bill more enforceable, especially more "elastic" in enforcement.

One suggestion by the Secretary was not well received by the House committee. She opposed including in the bill imported articles, contending the foreign trade problem could best be handled separately through such media as the world economic conference.

Foreign products were put under the 30-hour limit in Chairman Connery's bill, which has the approval of his Labor Committee. They were excluded in the Black bill, which passed the Senate, and for that reason Senator Trammell (Democrat), Florida, has moved reconsideration.

Would Fight Own Bill.

Chairman Connery promptly announced he would oppose his own bill if foreign products should be excluded. It was understood the Labor Committee stood with him more than 2 to 1.

Miss Perkins was requested by the Labor Committee to put her substitute suggestions into written form.

One of these would allow use of a 40-hour work week for 10 weeks a year, with a commission consisting of the Secretary of Labor and representatives of industry and labor to pass on applications for the more extended time.

Another suggestion under consideration by the House committee would permit variations in the length of the working day to meet the necessities of business requirements.

CHARITIES REPORT $90,705.96 SPENT

Great Burden of Emergency Relief Being Borne by Associated Body.

Associated Charities have spent $90,705.96 out of an available $185,588.79 for the year, and the organization is bearing a great deal of the burden of the division of emergency relief of the Board of Public Welfare, it was revealed yesterday at a meeting of the board of managers.

Clarence Phelps Dodge, chairman of the intake committee, disclosed that in March the Associated Charities spent nearly $7,000 for relief of the unemployed, many of whom were properly chargeable to the division of emergency relief of the Board of Public Welfare.

Mr. Dodge showed that in the same month $5,482 was spent for relief in 202 families in which there was illness, $2,429 for 95 families of widows and $2,734 for 131 families in which the children and mothers had been deserted by their fathers. In all the intake committee has given relief to the amount of $20,157 to 975 families during March, Mr. Dodge said.

Sale of provident stamps realized a total of only $207 in March as compared with $557 in March last year, it was shown.

The board recommended that whoever is appointed judge of Juvenile Court be qualified for work with children, including high moral character, intelligent understanding of child psychology and ample knowledge of the fundamental rights of the child and parents.

Louisiana Exhibit At Fair Forbidden

Cermak's Anti-Long Vote Said to Have Led to Official Ban.

Alexandria, La., April 12 (A.P.).—Arch C. Johnson, of the department of exhibits of the World's Fair at Chicago, said in an address here that "because the late Mayor Anton Cermak of Chicago voted against the seating of the delegation of Senator Huey P. Long at the Democratic National Convention, Long has forbidden Louisiana to send its State exhibit to the fair."

"Consequently, when Gov. Allen was appealed to, he also forbade the sending of the exhibit to Chicago," Johnson said.

Johnson pointed out that it had been announced that Herbert B. Bayliss, manager of the Alexandria Chamber of Commerce, was trying to get permission from the governor to finance the sending of the State exhibit to the fair through donations of interested citizens. Mr. Bayliss said that "an exhibit would be arranged that will do credit to the State and Louisiana will be represented."

Funeral Rites Today For Capt. Paul King

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. today from the Tabler Funeral Chapel for Capt. Paul King, 38, son of Senator William King, of Utah, who died Tuesday night when he fell seven stories from a window of his room to the ground at 1017 Seventeenth street northwest. Burial will be at the Arlington National Cemetery with full military honors.

A certificate of accidental death will probably be issued today. According to the coroner, Capt. King had been ill and in a weakened condition. He stated that it was likely that Capt. King had leaned from the window and fell out.

CHARLES LEWIS, 70, WRITER, SUCCUMBS

Native Kentuckian Was Well Known in Capital for Many Years.

Charles McAfee Lewis, 70, familiar figure in Washington, died yesterday at Emergency Hospital following a short illness.

Mr. Lewis, a representative of the United States Brewers Association and the National Distillers Association, was instrumental in enactment of the beer bill.

He was born in Perryville, Ky., and later moved to Harrodsburg, where he became engaged in newspaper work. Later he bought the Shelbyville Sentinel and operated the paper for many years. He afterward acquired a stock farm near Lexington, Ky., and up to the time of his death pursued his interest in the breeding of thoroughbreds. Though he and his wife spent their winters in Washington, Mr. Lewis maintained his home at Shelbyville and a summer camp at Eagle River, Wis.

His residence in Washington brought him in contact with many public men. One of his intimate friends was the late Boies Penrose, of Pennsylvania, and the late Champ Clark.

Mr. Lewis is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Margaret Bottom, of Plant City, Fla., and Mrs. Rose Strickland, of Huntington, W. Va. His wife, Mrs. Nellie Trabue Lewis, died last week.

Funeral services and interment will be held tomorrow at Shelbyville.

SUNNYVALE AIR BASE DEDICATION IS HELD

1,500 Witness Ceremony at Future Domicile of Airship Macon.

Sunnyvale, Calif., April 12 (A.P.).—The $5,000,000 air base here officially became a part of the United States Navy today after being commissioned at a ceremony attended by about 1,500 persons. It will be the future home of the big dirigible Macon.

For one minute the assembled officials and spectators stood in silence in memory of the officers and men lost in the recent crash of the dirigible Akron off the New Jersey coast.

Gov. James Rolph, jr., who was to have been one of the principal speakers, and Herbert Hoover, former President, sent their regrets. The Governor was represented by Earl Lee Kelly, director of the State department of public works.

Rear Admiral G. W. Laws, commandant of the Twelfth Naval District, made the principal address.

The new base is about 80 per cent complete.

Akron, Ohio, April 12 (A.P.).—Whether the U. S. S. Macon makes her first trial flight tomorrow will depend upon an inspection of the field in the morning as well as weather conditions Capt. Alger H. Dresel announced late today.

The first flight of the Macon, sister ship of the ill-fated Akron, had been tentatively set for 5 o'clock tomorrow morning.

Rough Seas Halt Akron Body Hunt

Search Flotilla Stands By Helpless; Storm May Dislodge Debris.

Aboard the U. S. S. Portland, off the New Jersey Coast, April 12 (A.P.).—The Navy stood watch tonight, helpless, over the scene of the Akron disaster, while high on-shore winds and rain kicked up a sea which pounded ominously against the sides of anchored searching craft.

Not a searching hook was lowered all day. The prospect was for heavy seas continuing until at least tomorrow afternoon.

The wind blew around 30 miles an hour as dusk fell, and the rain, while not a downpour, showed little indication of abating.

The only bright spot on the otherwise dull horizon was the possibility that shoreward winds would prevent the 68 bodies still missing and the wreckage from moving further seaward, and the expressed hope the storm would bring both to the surface.

It was generally conceded aboard that unless this happens, the situation is virtually hopeless, and it would be problematical how much longer the search would continue.

Burials for Three Akron Dead Today

Moffett, McCord and Berry to Be Honored at Naval Rites.

Funeral services for two of the ranking officers of the Bureau of Aeronautics, one the chief of the bureau and the other the commanding officer of the Akron, both of whom lost their lives in last week's airship disaster, will be held here today. Both men will be laid to rest in Arlington National Cemetery.

Commander Frank C. McCord, captain of the ship, will be buried at Arlington at 11 a. m., following church services at 9:45 in the Chevy Chase Presbyterian Church. Rear Admiral William A. Moffett will be buried at 1 p. m., the cortege forming at the Fort Myer gate of the cemetery. There will be no services at the late admiral's home, 2019 Massachusetts avenue.

Funeral services for Commander F. T. Berry, commanding officer of the Lakehurst Naval Air Station, will be held today at Annapolis, Md., in the Naval Academy Chapel, followed by burial in the Academy cemetery.

similar reinforcements had been made on the U. S. S. Macon.

Another high-light of the day's testimony at the rain-swept air station here was Commander H. V. Wiley's statement the ship may have gone into a stall because of its acute angle of inclination before the final seaward plunge. Conceding this possibility, Wiley, sole surviving officer of the crash, reiterated that in his opinion a strong downward current of air sent the ship crashing.

President Lauds Germans Who Saved 3 of Akron

(Associated Press.)

President Roosevelt sent a letter yesterday to Capt. Carl Dalldorf, of the German ship Phoebus, tendering "this Nation's gratitude" for the services of the crew in rescuing the three survivors of the Akron.

The letter follows:

"Through an act of Providence the S. S. Phoebus was near the scene of the destruction of the U. S. S. Akron on the night of the fourth of April.

"It was doubly fortunate that the ship was in the hands of a captain such as yourself, with a fine and able ship's company.

"To these circumstances the three survivors of this tragedy owe their lives.

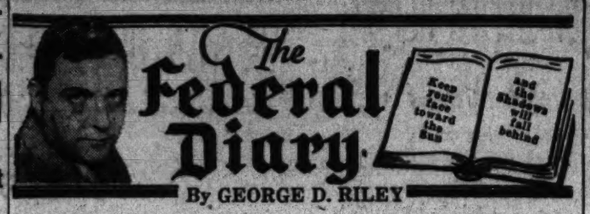
"Lieut. Comdr. H. V. Wiley, the senior survivor of the Akron, reports that you placed your ship near the wreck and lowered boats to search for survivors; that all hands were on duty throughout the night, manning boats in rough seas, searching and rendering first aid to the rescued; and that the performance of your officers and crew merits the highest commendation.

"Commander Wiley further reports that your own efficiency, seamanship, and judgment were in accordance with the highest traditions of the sea, and that when he expressed his appreciation as he was leaving the Phoebus, you replied, 'I only tried to do my duty. We are all seamen.'

"In that modest statement you typify the spirit of kinship and mutual helpfulness which binds together those who follow the sea.

"To you and to the officers and crew of your ship I tender this Nation's gratitude. Sincerely,

"FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT."



The Federal Diary

By GEORGE D. RILEY

WOMEN'S UNION, Bureau of Engraving and Printing, Local Union No. 105, N. F. F. E., believed to be the only woman's organization of Federal employes, has passed another milestone. It is more than 24 years old and looks back on its long years of existence with pride of accomplishment.

These are the women who hold the helm in the twenty-fifth year of the local's activity:

Belle Treuland, president; Mignon Miller, vice president; Gertrude McNally, corresponding secretary; Anna Coburn, secretary-treasurer; Leo Williams, guard and Minnie D. Stevens (*), guardian. The officers were installed by Luther C. Steward, president, N. F. F. E., who also explained decisions made by the Comptroller General regarding furlough leaves and other important phases of economy legislation and answered many questions. He also outlined questions to be taken before the national convention, Kansas City, in September.

By unanimous action the National Federation was called upon to cause to be introduced in Congress a bill which will grant sick leave with pay to all civilian Federal employes who do not now receive such leave, thereby removing the existing discrimination. The resolution pointed out that the members of the local perform eight hours work each day except Saturday; that the character of the work is both arduous and confining; that the absence of these employes on account of illness is now and always has been chargeable to either annual leave or leave without pay; and, finally, that the great majority of the civilian employes of the Federal Government are granted sick leave with pay.

The resolution will be forwarded to the national officers of the National Federation for attention.

The local is particularly pleased with results of seven years' operation of its guild for hospitalization and its credit union.

CLUBS were trumps yesterday. There must have been twenty clubs, all to be carried in a golf bag, the gifts of his friends in Census Bureau when William Mott Steuart, 3725 Morrison street, retiring director, bid farewell to that group in Commerce.

Four pieces of silver service also adorned the table around which the ceremony was held.

It was more than half a century ago as assistant messenger at $480 a year that Mr. Steuart started in the Census Bureau. Through long and painful process he finally reached the post of director. He retired March 31 voluntarily and because of age.

Secretary Daniel C. Roper, who years ago served under Mr. Steuart, was among those who extended their good wishes to a departing friend.

A large, shiny cup, donated by the National Federation of Federal Employes and emblematic of the Government Basket Ball League championship, will repose in the trophy case at Bureau of Investigation if the team of that unit is able to whip G. P. O. tonight at 8:30 in the second game of the league's championship series at Bolling Field.

Investigation won the first tilt, 20-16, but G. P. O. can tie matters all up with a triumph tonight. Should that occur, a third game will be played tomorrow. The Sleuths are defending champs.

BOYDS TO ENTERTAIN QUEEN SHENANDOAH

Police to Escort Mlle. May and Aid to Winchester About May 1.

Special to The Washington Post.

Winchester, Va., April 12.—While in Winchester as queen of the Apple Blossom Festival, Mlle. Francoise May, daughter of the Belgian Arbassador and Mme. Paul May, will be entertained at the home of Dr. and Mrs. P. W. Boyd, it was announced today.

Mlle. May will be crowned Queen Shenandoah on the first day of the 1933 Apple Blossom Festival here, about May 1. She recently selected Count de Buisseret as her official escort. Festival officials stated today that Mlle. May and her aid would be escorted to Winchester the day prior to the fete by a special detail of State and city police.

Fred A. Read, jr., director of the grand feature parade, "The Trail of the Pink Petals," in honor of Queen Shenandoah, announced a number of additional entries for the line of march. Among the new entries were:

Cadet Band of McKinley High School, Washington, D. C.

Cadet Corps of the Alexandria High School.

Cadet Corps of George Mason High School, Alexandria, Va.

Cadet Corps of Washington-Lee High School, Clarendon.

Teachers Convene In Capital Today

1,000 Are Expected to Attend Eastern Commercial Session.

The thirty-fifth annual convention of the Eastern Commercial Teachers Association will convene today at the Wardman Park Hotel, when more than 1,000 teachers will meet. Morning and afternoon will be devoted to registration and sightseeing trips, the convention to formally open tonight with the president's address followed by a reception and dance.

The business sessions of the four-day meeting will be interspersed with many social activities. Arrangements for the convention were made by the following chairmen of local committees: J. O. Malott, United States Office of Education, general chairman; P. J. Harman, Strayer College, banquet and breakfast; Mrs. Joe Mace, Roosevelt High School, program; Mrs. Carolyn Stephen, Temple School, hospitality and tours; Thomas Holmes, Roosevelt High School, publicity; E. O. Harned, Central High School, Government exhibits, and Dr. A. L. Howard, Roosevelt High School, membership.

A feature of the convention will be an address by Dr. C. L. Hsia, secretary, Chinese Legation, who will speak on the subject, "China of Tomorrow." Dr. Hsia is a well-known educator and author. Other talks will be given by teachers outstanding in their profession.

Randolph to Address Club.

MUSICAL MIRACLE DELIGHTS AUDIENCE

Wire Invention Reproduces Stokowski Performance Without Flaw.

Philadelphia, April 12 (U.P.).—Leopold Stokowski and the technicians of the Bell Laboratories produced a musical miracle here today.

From the stage of the Academy of Music, the full Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra was heard in all its beauty and fidelity of tone.

Yet the stage was empty. It was a phantom orchestra that played—apparently from behind a dimly lighted curtain, but in reality not in the same auditorium at all.

It was the introduction to the world of a new development in musical reproduction. The orchestra played in the ballroom in another part of the same building, and its playing was suffused through the auditorium by wire transmission with such faithfulness of reproduction as no audience has ever heard before.

The occasion was a private demonstration of a new development by telephone engineers in collaboration with Dr. Stokowski, which is to be revealed publicly at a concert under the auspices of the National Academy of Sciences in Constitution Hall at Washington on April 27, when the music will be played in Philadelphia and heard in Washington.

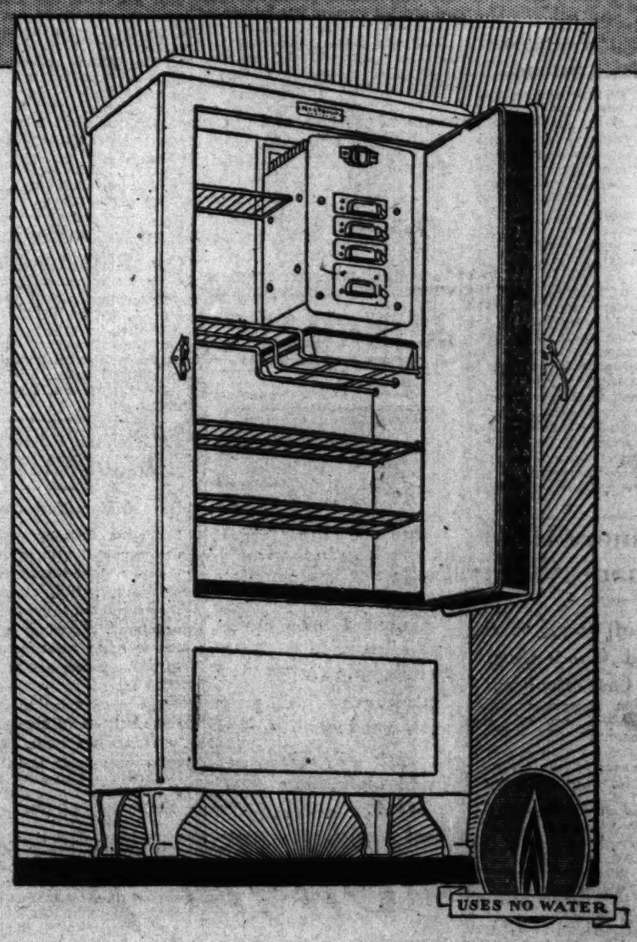
SEE THE Gas REFRIGERATOR BEFORE YOU BUY

IT'S HERE! The greatest forward step in the history of automatic refrigeration

The NEW AIR-COOLED ELECTROLUX THE Gas REFRIGERATOR



Seven years ago the first Electrolux Gas Refrigerator startled the world with its lack of machinery—its permanent silence—its utter simplicity. Only a tiny gas flame and a trickle of water were used to produce constant, steady cold, and clear, sparkling ice cubes. Here surely was a refrigerator that would answer the housewife's fondest dreams—give her perfect refrigeration without the slightest trouble—and at a fraction of the cost of old-fashioned refrigeration.

But even this has been overshadowed! The new Electrolux uses no water! The water used in the cooling process has been entirely eliminated—replaced by air-cooling.

Air Cooling Means More Economy

It seemed almost impossible, yet the makers of this revolutionary refrigerator set about the task of reducing still further the extremely low cost of operation—the simplicity of the gas refrigerator. Heat must be used to circulate the refrigerant. Another element must extract this heat. Water was used until now, when after seven years of constant work, the new Air-Cooled Electrolux has been perfected.

You owe it to yourself to see this new achievement, and to buy if you want absolute silence—refrigeration without the bother and expense of machinery—and true economy of operation.

OFFUTT ADDRESSES CLUB AT ARLINGTON

Frank F. Shipley Reelected President of Leeway Association.

ARLINGTON COUNTY BUREAU OF THE POST.
Tel. Clar. 809. Clarendon, Va.

Speaking at the luncheon meeting of the Kiwanis Club of Arlington County yesterday at Windsor Arms, George W. Offutt, president of the Potomac Savings Bank, declared last March 3 was the darkest day in history with more than 12,000,000 men walking our streets, but in approximately one month the President has kept so many of his party's pledges that we are now around the corner and on the right track.

Discussing the outstanding accomplishments of the administration, Mr. Offutt said the emergency banking act is one of the finest and most constructive pieces of work in history. The next, he said, was the legalizing of beer which, instead of causing runs on banks has caused runs on restaurants.

Other speakers were Charles E. Ford, of the Newport News Kiwanis Club, and W. J. Bright, president of the Newport News Club.

A feature of the program was the playing of "Happy Days Are Here Again" by Louis Davies, banjo radio star, of Washington.

Owing to a change in the plans to move into their new quarters in the Rucker Building at Clarendon, the Arlington County Woman's Democratic Club will hold its first anniversary celebration next Monday evening instead of Tuesday as previously announced. The event will be held in the present quarters in Rees Building at Clarendon.

The president, Mrs. Catharine M. Rogers, announces the following committee chairmen for the year: Publicity, Mrs. William Friess, and Mrs. Isabelle Davis, membership.

Roy Snelling was held for the grand jury in the Arlington County court yesterday by Judge B. M. Hedrick on charges of murdering T. R. Stoneburner. He was released on $2,000 bond.

Frank F. Shipley was reelected president of the Leeway Citizens Association last night at the Robert E. Lee School.

Other officers elected were W. W. Halliday, vice president; Henry Thomas, treasurer, and William C. Hull secretary. The association indorsed the proposed streets naming system.

Cherrydale Council, No. 11, Daughters of America, held its monthly meeting in the Masonic Temple last night. At the next meeting on April 25 plans will be made for the State session, which meets at Richmond May 15 and 16.

War Veteran Democrats Plan Hospitality Ball

The War Veterans Democratic Club of the District will hold a hospitality ball Wednesday night at the National Press Club. The committee arranging the ball is working with Democratic National Committeemen John F. Costello and John P. Colpoys.

Democratic members of Congress and of Government departments will be guests at the ball. The purpose of the entertainment is to facilitate personal contacts among members of the organization and friends.

Former Governor Backs Dry Repeal

Cooper, of South Carolina, Declares It Would Not Bring Back Saloon.

The repeal of the eighteenth amendment to the Constitution does not mean a return of the saloon, former Gov. Robert A. Cooper of South Carolina declared last night at the Jefferson Day rally of the District Division, Young Democrats of America.

"It simply means," he asserted, "that the power to regulate, which carries also the power to prohibit the traffic in intoxicating liquors, is referred back to the States, and there is an obligation imposed upon the Federal Government to protect each State in the full enjoyment of the policies which the State may determine as best suited to its own condition and responsive to the desires of its own citizens."

In a business meeting preceding the address, the organization ratified its new constitution and by-laws, made the temporary officers permanent and named Winfield S. Macgill national committeeman, and Lidamae Francis national committeewoman.

Mrs. Elmore Head Of Humane Society

Finances of Organization Reported Good; 390 Cruelty Cases Probed.

Mrs. Herbert W. Elmore was elected president of the Washington Humane Society at a meeting Tuesday at the Carlton Hotel.

Committee heads of the organization reported its financial standing as being good and explained cases they had investigated. Three hundred and ninety complaints of cruelty to animals were reported to officers of the society last year. The greatest number were cruelty to dogs, but horses, cats, goats and turtles were also found to have been mistreated, it was reported.

Other officers elected were Col. Laurence Halstead, vice president; the Rev. C. Ernest Smith, Mrs. F. J. Stellwagen, Mrs. R. Ross Perry and Miss Barnes Richardson, honorary vice presidents; A. Guy Reber, treasurer, and John P. Heap, secretary.

Whitney, Popular Reporter, Marries Miss McIntyre

Robert F. Whitney, 27, popular Post reporter and well known in newspaper circles here, and Miss Elizabeth McIntyre, 24, were married at Clearwater, Fla., at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William McIntyre, yesterday, according to advices reaching here.

The bridegroom is a graduate of the University of Syracuse, where he was a varsity athlete, taking part in footfall, track and wrestling. Mr. Whitney attended Central High School here. The bride is an alumnus of George Washington University and Western High School. Mrs. Whitney is a member of Delta Zeta Sorority and Mr. Whitney is a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon. Besides his newspaper work, Mr. Whitney is a contributor to national magazines. Directly after completing college he spent eight months in the Liberian jungles on the staff of Firestone Rubber Co.

Mr. Whitney's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Mark L. Whitney and his sister, Miss Mary Whitney, a sorority sister of the bride, motored to the Florida city to be present at the ceremony. The bridal couple will spend their honeymoon driving through historic points in the South. The bridegroom's parents live at 3387 Stuyvesant place northwest.

Mr. and Mrs. Whitney have taken an apartment here and will arrive back in the city about the early part of next week.

Candy Easter Eggs Sold to Aid Needy

Unique Charity Experiment Succeeding at Old Downtown Store.

A unique experiment in charitable work is being conducted this week in the heart of downtown Washington and, according to Mrs. Harry Walsky, its sponsor, is meeting with success. Mrs. Walsky is chairman of the Easter Egg Bazaar in the old Garfinckel department store at Thirteenth and F streets northwest.

Hand-molded and coated with rich chocolate, the eggs are made daily in the kitchen of Mrs. Walsky's home at 3726 Connecticut avenue. Many patrons, told of the conditions under which the chairman and her assistants have worked for charity's sake, have expressed admiration of the large ouput and daintiness of the eggs. The entire proceeds will be distributed among local charitable organizations.

Assisting Mrs. Walsky are Mrs. Edward Cafritz, Mrs. Meyer Dodek, Mrs. Pauline Rubenstein, Mrs. Mildred Dodek, Mrs. Helen Millison, Mrs. Harry Schwartz, Mrs. J. Gill and Mrs. William Levy.

KidnapThreat Seen In Telephone Call

Heir to $4,000 Recipient of Anonymous Message While at School.

Aroused by an anonymous telephone call, the family of Clinton Snyder, 12, of 1635 Wisconsin avenue, yesterday told police that they feared the possibility of a plot to kidnap him.

They said the boy reported some one called him on the telephone at Curtis School, which he attends, and when he answered he was unable to understand clearly, but was sure he was threatened.

As a possible kidnaping motive, it was explained that the boy was heir to $4,000 left to him in the will of his father.

Potomac Grange Hears Taber and Dunlap Talk

Though originally an aggressive, insurgent organization, the National Grange is now a leader in the movement for stabilization and conservation, Louis J. Taber, national master, declared last night at a meeting of the Potomac Grange at All Souls' Church.

Renick W. Dunlap, former assistant Secretary of Agriculture, also addressed the meeting, and called upon the organization to fight against any dismemberment of the personnel or disruption of the work of that department.

The way they are made gives them speed. Quick to dissolve means quick to relieve. You cannot get the same results from a slower tablet.

Time a Bayer Aspirin tablet in a glass of water; in your stomach; in the time it takes to feel the actual relief. And don't hesitate to use Bayer Aspirin because of this speedy action. You could take it every day without ill effects; it does not depress the heart. Insure your comfort—in and out of business hours—by carrying Bayer Aspirin in the convenient pocket tin.

HOWARD UNIVERSITY TRUSTEES ADJOURN

No Announcement Made as to Expected Revision of Academic Program.

The annual meeting of the board of trustees of Howard University concluded yesterday a series of sessions in the board room of the Carnegie Library, with its specific acts in modification of the academic program undisclosed. Faculties of the various university schools, as well as administrative personnel, sought in vain for announcements of sweeping changes which were expected. The only statement given out following the two-day session referred to the naming of various new buildings on the campus.

Girls' dormitories will bear the names of three women who were national characters, and whose life was inspirational. Sojourner Truth was the name given to Dormitory 1, in memory of a colored friend of Harriet Beecher Stowe, Wendell Phillips and other antislavery advocates, who has been accredited with establishment of the first Sunday school in America. The second dormitory was named for Prudence Crandall, a Quaker, who organized a colored school in Rhode Island in 1831 over strong opposition.

The third dormitory was named for Julia Caldwell Frazier, a Howard graduate of 1888, who later taught in Dallas, Tex., and became assistant high school principal there. The new university library, when erected, will be designated as the Founder's Library, in memory of Gen. O. O. Howard. Frederick Douglass Memorial Hall will be the designation of the new educational classroom building.

Reelected as members of the board for a term of three years were George W. Crawford, New Haven, Conn.; Rolfe Cobleigh, Dr. Louise C. Ball, New York; W. Justin Carter, Harrisburg, Pa.; Dr. John R. Hawkins and Dr. Ulysses G. B. Pierce. Dr. Leverett S. Lyon, director of educational activities and public relations of Brookings Institute, was also elected to membership on the board.

Sound pictures depicting the cocoa bean industry were shown members of the Washington Lions Club meeting in the Hotel Mayflower yesterday.

It was voted to hold the annual charter night dinner of the club in the Mayflower on April 26. Charles W. Hoover heads the committee on arrangements, assisted by John M. Waters, Dr. Sterling V. Mead, Adam F. Arnold and Dr. Guy F. Leadbetter. President Leonard W. DeGast announced the appointment of Howard R. Palmer as chairman of the program committee for May.

Interest Spurts as Post's $10,500 Contest Nears End

Three Days Remain for Entries in Competition for 51 Charming Girls to Attend World Fair as Queen and Court.

With only three more days remaining before the close of The Washington Post's $10,500 Queen Contest, the volume of daily entrants has shown an increasing interest that is expected to result in an avalanche of photographs during the final hours before the hands of the clock point to midnight of Saturday, April 15. Immediately following, the official judges will beging their tremendous task of selecting the 51 most charming girls from among the thousands who have entered the competition for the selection of a queen and her court of honor to officiate at the opening of the Century of Progress International Exposition at Chicago on June 1.

Every unmarried girl, regardless of her place of residence, will have an equal opportunity to share in the great honors and financial rewards that will come to this selected group, provided her photograph, at least 6 by 8 inches in size, and made within the past 12 months, is mailed to the Queen Contest Editor, The Washington Post, before midnight next Saturday. One hundred girls already have shared in the distribution of $500 in cash that was awarded for the publication of photographs in The Post rotogravure section during the past ten weeks. Selection of pictures for this purpose, however, will have positively no influence upon the final judgment of photographs, to be started immediately following the close of the contest.

The 51 girls who will be selected for the charming femininity reflected by their photographs, will enjoy a two weeks' stay at Chicago's most luxurious hotels as the guests of The Washington Post and the Chicago Tribune. Beautiful gowns will be provided at the expense of these newspapers and they will enjoy an elaborate program of entertainment under proper chaperonage. Their transportation from their homes and return, in addition to every other expense, will also be provided.

From the group, one girl will be selected as queen of the great world's fair and she will receive a cash award of $5,000. Two other girls will become first and second ladies-in-waiting and will respectively receive cash awards of $3,000 and $2,000. The remaining 48 girls will compose the queen's court of honor during the colorful opening ceremonies of the Century of Progress International Exposition and will receive international recognition as members of the group of the world's most charming girls.

Only professionals such as stage girls and artists' models and employes of The Washington Post and members of their families are ineligible to compete. Every other unmarried girl is invited to fill out the transmittal coupon which appears elsewhere on this page today, or to write out the same information upon any sheet of paper, which should then be pasted to the back of the photograph and mailed to the Queen Contest Editor of The Washington Post. Any friend or relative is also entitled to enter the photograph of a favorite candidate. There are no entrance fees and positively no other cost or obligation involved at any time.

Mrs. Norton in Favor Of District Status Quo

Chairman Mary T. Norton, of the House District Committee, said yesterday she favors no change in the District's present form of government that would give the citizens of the District a greater voice in their affairs.

Representative Loring Black, jr., (Democrat), New York, a member of the committee, said the District now has "a pretty good government." He said however, he would be in favor of substituting a mayor for the District Commissioners.

68 MEN DISMISSED BY D.C. REPAIR SHOP

267 Remaining Ordered to Take 13 Days of Furlough Before July.

On account of the seasonal slack in work and a shortage of funds, Harold W. Baker, director of construction, yesterday dismissed 68 per diem employes from the District Repair Shop and ordered that the remainder of the 267 day workers be required to take a 13-day furlough before July 1.

This action was taken after Mr. Baker had taken personal charge of the repair shop and had made a close check on the list of employes, the amount of money available, and the repair work pending.

While he had previously stated that some employes would be dismissed, Mr. Baker had thought the number might be less than 68. He pointed out, however, that the repair shop's number of per diem workers varied with the seasons and the available projects. It has recently been overmanned.

Only $67,500 remains to carry on the work of the shop until the end of the fiscal year, and $20,000 of this is scheduled to be used in installing heating plants at four schools.

Mr. Baker will continue to maintain direct supervision of the shop.

INSURGENCY AGAIN.

The Roosevelt administration has had its first taste of senatorial insurgency. Many Democratic senators have not been captivated by the wisdom of some administration measures, but most of them have yielded to party discipline. Strenuous efforts to maintain harmony have been noticeable. Republicans have refrained from obstructive tactics. Congress has functioned with more smoothness than has been apparent on Capitol Hill for a long time. But the honeymoon period of the new administration seems to be drawing to a close.

It is significant that the most carping criticism of President Roosevelt's program came from senators of his own party who helped to elect him. In this respect his experience is similar to that of President Hoover. The most acrimonious foes of the Hoover administration were men who called themselves Republicans. Now a new group of insurgents in the Democratic party is apparently ready to put the Republican wild men to shame by their mud-slinging at President Roosevelt.

Criticism and ridicule are ten-fold more biting when they come from members of one's own party. Opposition is expected from political antagonists, but when it arises within a party it is a serious danger signal. All shades of opinion from socialism to moss-backed conservatism, are represented in the Democratic delegations in Congress. Until now President Roosevelt has been very successful in keeping these broad schisms under cover. The success of his administration will be measured by his ability to maintain this discipline during the coming four years.

During the Hoover administration the Democrats joined with insurgents in blocking him. Will the Republicans now retaliate by joining forces with the Democratic insurgents who are ready to wreck the administration? The public hopes not. There is nothing in common between these new mutineers and the Republican conservatives. The Republicans in Congress have loyally supported President Roosevelt in his emergency program. If they should decide not to follow him in other proposals they will be expected to furnish sound reasons for their opposition. The public is not in a mood to accept partisanship as sufficient basis for opposing Mr. Roosevelt's plans. It is still less inclined to tolerate insurgent Democratic opposiiton to the President, after having suffered from the consequences of insurgency and partisanship in the last Congress.

BANK GUARANTY HITS SNAG.

A great deal of confusion has arisen over the bank reform program that is being prepared for Congress. When Representative Steagall indicated a few days ago that a measure, including a deposit insurance feature, had been agreed upon as the second step in President Roosevelt's program to protect depositors and investors, he was apparently airing his own wishes. According to the latest reports from the White House, the President has taken no definite stand on the banking guaranty proposal. Indications are that Senator Glass is hostile to it, although the scheme was announced as a compromise between the Virginia senator and Mr. Steagall.

A flood of criticism greeted the Steagall plan to force sound conservative banks to pay for the blunders and delinquencies of small weak institutions. If the guaranty scheme had been agreed upon tentatively at the time it was announced, there has been a change of heart both at the White House and the Senate. But it seems more probable that Representative Steagall, in his enthusiasm to guarantee bank deposits, made the mistake of launching a semi-completed ship instead of sending up a trial balloon.

At any rate, the administration is not ready to indorse this socialistic measure. The experience of the States in this field stands as a solemn warning against any attempt to make all banks responsible for the losses incurred by financial bucket-shops. The proper course is to eliminate the unfit institutions and to strengthen the banking structure so that failures can be reduced to a minimum or entirely stopped.

President Roosevelt's idea of breaking up the banking measure into several bills may be aimed at the so-called guaranty section. By this means it could be quietly eliminated without putting Mr. Steagall into complete reverse. But other vital sections of the measure would also probably be lost by this method. The branch banking provision, innocuous as it is, might not be able to pass on its own merits through a Congress that is devoted to obsolete banking methods. It might be a more happy solution to frame a single measure that is free from dangerous palliatives and is designed to put the entire banking system on a solid foundation. Such a bill would put the problem of sound banks vs. bucketshops clearly before Congress, and public opinion would exert a powerful influence in favor of constructive action.

GIVE US ENGLISH BEER!

The tariff act of 1930, which Secretary Hull believes to be a highly iniquitous measure, applies a duty of $31 a barrel on beer. The internal revenue tax on the new 3.2 beer is $5 a barrel. A barrel of English beer must therefore pay $36 to enter into American consumption, after which it would be taxed by the States. Its cost to the consumer would be about 40 cents a glass, or $1 a bottle.

This is outrageous, and Secretary Hull should look to it. The British commonwealth is laboring in the heavy sea of depression. The war debt to America threatens to swamp it. Mr. MacDonald is about to come to Washington to plead for some arrangement that will either write off the debt entirely or cut it down. Mr. Hull is strongly in favor of reducing the tariff so that the war debtors can pay their debts in goods. Now is his chance to do a friendly turn for Great Britain and the beer consumers of the United States, by striking down this prohibitive duty on British beer.

In the brave Democratic days of old, in 1913, the duty on beer was only 43 cents a gallon. The present Republican tariff is $1 a gallon. Robbery!

It may be that American brewers will protest against any concessions to British beer. Much has been said of the stimulus to employment that is afforded by 3.2 beer. The brewers seem to assume that they will be protected in their home industry. They are hiring men, expanding their production, and giving business to railroads and trucks. The public seems to be delighted with the prospect of better times as a result of activity in the brewing industry. But all these hopes are predicated upon the ability of Amercan brewers to hold the American market. In other words, prosperity in the beer business depends upon the tariff.

But what is the tariff between such friends as John Bull and Uncle Sam? Why should American beer drinkers be denied the joys of superior British beer? Great Britain naturally can not become a heavy consumer of such staple American products as hot dogs, peanut brittle and electric hair curlers unless concessions are granted to British goods in this market. Secretary Hull proposes to extend the sales of American goods abroad, and he intends to do it by cutting down the robber tariff so that foreign goods can enter more freely into the joys of the American market.

Down with the tariff on beer, Mr. Secretary! Do not listen to the brewers and their tales of increased employment. They are beneficiaries of the robber tariff, and therefore they deserve no mercy. There must be greater exports of vacuum cleaners and can openers if America is to recover.

Let there be beer reciprocity between the two great branches of the English-speaking race. American consumers are denied the opportunity to drink British beer. Strike off the shackles, Mr. Hull! Open the floodgates of world trade, and give Britain a chance to pay off the war debt in delicious, ice-cold English beer!

MAKING JOBS—IN JAPAN.

While world commerce in general remains at a low level, Japan is experiencing a remarkable boom. So far as international trade is concerned, Japan is about the only bright spot in the business spectrum. Reports from Tokyo indicate that exports from that country are 50 per cent above the level of last year. Men have gone back to work in Japan. Industry is expanding in spite of the Manchurian controversy.

The cause of this Japanese trade boom is known to every one. Japan's medium of exchange, the yen, is ordinarily worth 50 cents. Now it is worth only 21 cents. The government at Tokyo has been able to keep commodity prices at their previous level in spite of the fact that the yen has lost more than half of its value. As a result Japanese factories can produce goods at less than half the cost of two years ago. Those goods are sold in the United States and other foreign markets at large profits even though the selling price remains far below the cost of manufacturing similar goods in this country.

Japan has become the cheapest producer in the world. She is in a position to smash nearly any industry in any foreign country unless that country takes definite steps to protect its own enterprises. This advantage is acquired almost entirely through debasement of the yen and debasement of labor. Japanese workingmen are paid extremely low wages in ordinary times, but the depreciation of the yen has brought their remuneration down to about 42 cents per day. They work long hours. Under these conditions any workingmen that are forced to compete with the Japanese are faced with unemployment or a standard of living that is intolerable anywhere in the Occident. In the United States such wages, even for six hours' work, are unthinkable. The tree-planting army, that is employed for relief purposes only will receive more than twice the Japanese wage, plus food, clothing and shelter.

Most of Japan's exports coming to this country compete directly with American products. In the first two months of this year Japan exported 76,000,000 yen worth of cigarettes compared with 8,000,000 yen for the same period in 1932. Her exports of toys increased 200 per cent. Increases ranged from 40 to 100 per cent for pottery, perfumes, canned fish, textiles and rayon tissues. Japan is making rapid inroads to the markets of the entire world. Japanese automobile tires are soon to undersell American tires.

To a lesser extent Great Britain, the Scandinavian countries, various other European countries and South America are enjoying similar advantages over the United States in the world market. These countries sell with great advantage in the American market because their goods here have increased in price in terms of their debased currency.

It is into this situation that Secretary Hull projects his theory of economic internationalism. Without taking note of these grave dangers which beset American industry, he refers to the protective tariff as "antiquated, obsolete and bewhiskered." He revels in the vision of mutually profitable world trade flowing to all nations. Is it too much to expect the Secretary of State to explain how American workmen could hold their jobs at from $4 to $11 per day in competition with 42-cent Japanese laborers? The United States has no control over Japanese currency, and even if Japan should return to the gold standard an enormous discrepancy in wages would remain.

PUBLIC BENEFACTIONS.

Whatever faults Americans may have they are not lacking in generosity. No nation in the world has ever witnessed the establishment of such well-endowed foundations as exist in this country today to promote, not only direct benefits for the needy, but the welfare of humanity in general. A recent survey shows that twenty of the largest American foundations have an aggregate fund exceeding $660,000,000, with annual disbursements during recent years of $60,000,000.

Few of those who have earned great fortunes in the United States have failed to recognize their obligations to society. Many have given large sums to good causes. Of late years there has been a notable broadening of the scope of bequests of this character. Instead of establishing a fund for some narrow field of endeavor, the necessity for which might pass or diminish with changing conditions, the practice grows of naming administrators of established standing and giving them wide powers of discretion to "promote the welfare of mankind."

The list of American foundations now totals more than 200, many of the important ones having been in existence for 20 and 30 years. While the direction of most of these trusts is located in New York, there are notable exceptions in Washington, Chicago, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Cleveland, Detroit, Buffalo, Cincinnati and San Francisco. In addition to the privately established foundations, there are numerous community trusts which make possible a vast amount of useful charitable and relief work.

Foundations, funds and trusts may be put into three general classifications—those which are devoted almost exclusively to research work, foundations primarily interested in promoting health, both physical and mental, and the broad field of public health, and the organizations giving special attention to child education and welfare.

The Senate is about to bump into an impeachment trial, besides several treaties. Fortunately, legislation can proceed as usual, without requiring attention.

There are folks in Wall Street who can't understand why Congress shouldn't reverse its plans so as to regulate agriculture and boost the price of stocks.

Denmark, by saying nothing and keeping out of the papers, draws down a prize by winning a charming woman as American Minister.

House Republicans object to passing bills before they are read. But who ever scans bills during a honeymoon?

THE 30-HOUR WEEK BILL

From the Minneapolis Journal.

The Senate has adopted, 53 to 30, the Black bill to establish the 30-hour week in American industry for the next two years. What the House will do with the bill remains in doubt, beyond the promise that the 30 hours will be increased to 36. The chief reason for doubt appears to be uncertainty as to the attitude of President Roosevelt, who certainly has not recommended the legislation and may well be in much dubiety as to its wisdom.

The underlying principle of the bill that in these days employment should be shared, is generally approved. It is a principle that has already been enforced to no little extent by industry itself. But when it is proposed to enforce this policy rigidly on everybody, with a few exceptions, there is room for grave doubt.

How are industries to adapt themselves to the changing requirements of consumption, if bound to this rule? How are they to readjust their wage scales, or existing organizations and contracts? How are they to do business under the threat of constant Federal scrutiny and onerous penalties? How are they to meet the competition of foreign goods? That problem, indeed, has led to a move for reconsideration in the Senate.

There is, too, the question of constitutionality. The bill is claimed to be within the power of Congress to regulate interstate commerce. But it is obviously an attempt to do much more than regulate commerce. That power may not be thought by the Supreme Court a wide enough hole to drag so large an animal through.

But, after all, the Constitution would probably bear the strain, if such a measure is really desirable, if it will really put 2,000,000 idle men to work without at the same time putting industry in too rigid a harness, and without proving too great a hardship to those already at work. But if it wouldn't work, if it failed to prove its practical benefits, the reaction would be severe in effects not now easily foreseen.

We don't wonder that Mr. Roosevelt finds himself in a quandary over Senator Black's effort to solve machine age unemployment problems by law.

Shutting Off the Wrong One.

POST HASTE.

The Senate is to reconsider the 30-hour week bill—called back to the starting line to wait this time for the White House signal gun.

But this seems to be a simple matter in comparison with the headlong stumble taken by the bank guarantee bill when the advance veto messages arrived. Teamwork is getting a bit ragged.

If American industry is limited to a 30-hour week and an unlimited day added to the advantage of depreciated currencies for imports, tariffs will become unimportant enough to suit Secretary Hull.

It may be an unfortunate coincidence that Ambassador Daniels arrives just as Mexico is preparing to commemorate the anniversary of the occupation of Vera Cruz while he was Secretary of the Navy.

The bars are down on the young men's Forestry Club, and it may be more popular as a democratic institution.

If the 6-hour day is introduced in the lonesome camps of the foresteers their theme song will be: "Lord, You Made the Nights Too Long."

References to the 1 per cent dry content of the Michigan repeal convention supply arid humor quite unappreciated in prohibition circles.

HOME SINGING.

About the piano we gather once more,
To sing the old songs in the old-fashioned way.
Should young friend or old come to tap on our door,
"Crowd into the circle and warble!" we say.
So here's to old trouble and failure's harsh sting,
We'll keep them outside just so long as we sing.

We've dug out the books of our favorite songs
And all the collections of ballads and hymns.
Now once more the family's where it belongs,
For we've done with our foolish, extravagant whims.
Perhaps what has happened's a very good thing,
Since it's brought us together at nighttime to sing.

Oh, I can't keep a tune and my voice isn't much,
But for years that piano's been idle and still,
And it may be that mother's lost some of the touch
In her fingers so gentle, and some of her skill,
But it's good once again to have rafters that ring
With the laughter and joy of the songs that we sing.

We are home and together, not wandering out
Seeking pleasures afar, and I often declare,
As to sing some old music we gather about,
That we can be merry in spite of our care,
Once more we're united, so let the tune swing.
There's little can harm us so long as we sing.

You-Can Make Slavery Illegal, But the Many Still Slave for the Few

By ROBERT QUILLEN

If the man who works for his living has a decent sense of responsibility, he never is free of anxiety.

No matter how happy and prosperous he may be, his mind is burdened with the age-old problem of the poor: "How will I live when I am old, and what will my dependents do if anything happens to me?"

He has cause to worry. Statistics show that 90 per cent of those who live to be 60 are pensioners of charity or of relatives.

Most of those who earn their bread save for the proverbial rainy day, but saving gives no assurance of safety. The money laid by serves only to fatten rogues.

Nowhere on earth is there a safe place to keep money; nowhere on earth is there a safe investment.

Recent events have shown how futile it is to save. Big men and little, rich and poor, shrewd financiers and gullible small investors, all alike lost their shirts.

And this was not a new experience, it happened in 1920. It happens, in greater or less degree, every year that Heaven sends, in good times and bad. Honey saved by the bees is taken by a man who calls the honey his because he can take it.

And yet, every individual who is willing to work and save can provide certain protection for his dependents and certain security for his old age.

He won't do it, for he is unwilling to learn from the sad experience of others, but he could do it.

He will buy stocks and their value will fall and they will pay no dividends.

He will buy bonds that offer a high rate of interest and the interest will not be paid and he can not turn the bonds into cash.

He will buy real estate and it will lose value and taxes will consume the income and he can find no buyer when he needs money.

He will deposit his money in a bank that closes or hide it at home for a thief to find.

He will invest in tax-exempt Government bonds, the safest of all investments, and they will be stolen or his surviving dependents will turn them into cash and somehow lose the money.

Yet he could deliver his savings to the great life insurance companies and thus purchase absolute security—not a sum of money, to be wasted or lost, but a life income, payable each month, for himself and his dependents.

It is the one and only way to make the future safe. It is a way to end all anxiety and uncertainty, and defeat the wolves that feed on sheep.

But small investors will continue to hope for easy money, and again as always the many will labor to produce riches for the few to enjoy.

POLITICAL COMMENT

Refinancing Farm Mortgages.

Topeka Capital.

Refinancing of farm mortgages completes the administration program of agriculture and may be more promising of results than the elaborate price-fixing bill.

The farm mortgage debt is estimated as between 8½ and 9 billion dollars. The administration plan does not profess to cover it, but is limited to the issue of 2 billions of 4 per cent bonds by the Treasury for two purposes: To exchange with farm mortgage holders for present mortgages and to make new mortgage loans to farmers. In both cases the loans would call for 4½ per cent interest, reducing interest charges from 1 per cent to an indefinite amount. In some sections mortgages draw 7 or 8 per cent. The bill also allows for such adjustments as may be made in exchanging the bonds for outstanding mortgages. Two years are permitted for effecting such exchanges.

Government Competition.

Philadelphia Public Ledger.

Congress will be justified in scrutinizing with care the bills introduced yesterday to carry out the President's Tennessee basin enterprise, of which Government operation of Muscle Shoals and sale of power are a part. It should not only appraise the possible advantages in this ambitious scheme which embraces flood control, prevention of soil erosion, afforestation and elimination of marginal lands, but the probable cost resulting from expenditure of the taxpayer's dollars and from the Government's competition with private industry.

Executive Exercise.

Springfield Sun.

The White House physician has been abolished. A message a day keeps the doctor away.

Republicans Stand By.

New York Times.

The spirit of the House, of the Senate and of the Nation is one. The Republicans as a rule have gone beyond partisanship. Of some measures or details in them they may be doubtful; but they are all eager to pull the country out of the depression and willing to stand behind the President.

This substantial unanimity, this swift passage of momentous acts, has made a profound impression in Europe.

"Inflation" for Farm Relief.

Topeka Capital.

"For saner farm relief," in place of the Roosevelt projects of taxing processors and leasing marginal lands and refinancing farm mortgages, the Chicago News advises "controlled inflation." Curiously enough, the idea of inflation, at first horrifying to conservative minds, seems to run the course of vice as memorably painted by the poet Pope—of so frightful mien that to be hated needs but to be seen. But once familiar with its face "we first endure, then pity, then embrace."

The Chicago paper is appalled by the danger of loose appraisals in mortgage refinancing, the weary taxpayer footing the bills in lieu of foreclosures, the "small army of Federal employes and agents" to run the allotment plan, and flies to inflation as far preferable.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Missourian Thinks Monopoly and Not Any Weakness of Capitalism Brought About Hard Times.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Many people are expressing fear that capitalism has collapsed, or will collapse.

The truth is, capitalism is not collapsing; it is monopoly which is producing in abundance its evil fruit of unemployment, failures and widespread want and destitution.

Monopoly is hostile to the sound working of the capitalistic system. As between monopoly in the hands of private individuals and monopoly controlled by the Government, there can be no choice for the reason that the people themselves do have some say as to the control of Government, but they have no say regarding the control of a privately owned monopoly.

Our attempts at regulation of monopolistic business have been feeble and ineffective chiefly because those who did the regulating were themselves often controlled by the very corporations they were supposed to regulate. One of the best illustrations of this is the Insull failure. We have other examples, notably the vast bonuses paid, often secretly, to the officers of certain companies by themselves.

Monopoly always seeks for personal advantage. It violates absolutely the economic laws of capitalism, and starting thus, with violation of economic law, the people who profit from it violate without hesitation the moral laws and have scant respect for statute laws.

The primary monopoly from which the world today suffers is that of monopoly of the earth's resources. Coal, oil and gas in the earth are the products of no man's brain or of no man's muscle. They are the provision nature has made for supplying man with almost unlimited energy.

That the coal and oil deposits of this vast country by moral right belong to all of the people of the country is beyond question, and yet in our laws we provide for granting a monopoly of these through private ownership to individuals or to companies.

The result is that monopoly has prevented equal opportunity, which we boast of as being an American principle, and has worked its perfect work to such an extent that we now have widespread distress, unemployment, suffering and even starvation in a land endowed with unlimited resources.

When we free our land from monopoly, capitalism will, for the first time, have its opportunity to show good results. Individual rights are destroyed by monopoly.

MISSOURIAN.

New York Man Suggests Coordination of Railroads and Trucks.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: It is an undisputed fact that the advent of large motor vans in long-distance freight transportation has vastly contributed to the present railway situation, and it is further believed that unless immediate steps are taken to offset auto-freighting their facilities will advance to such a scale that they will entirely supplement all railway freight business.

Motor trucks afford conveniences, such as door-to-door transportation of freight and the saving of time in arranging for shipments. Their system is so direct and modern that the general public has accepted it in preference to the antiquated, multiplex procedure to which the rails still cling. Thus it follows that there are certain features in trucking the loss of which would be detrimental to the world of transportation. It is believed that if these features were coordinated into a definte system, including the speed and safetiness of railroads, the financial rehabilitation of railways, through this modernization, could well be realized.

Legislation would be necessary to assure the ultimate success of this project. Legislation is needed to minimize the unfair advantages enjoyed by trucks, in contrast to the many burdens and stipulations placed upon railroads. This legislation would place truck freight rates under control of the Interstate Commerce Commission and establish a safe speed limit and stipulate the size and weight of trucks moving over all public highways.

Rehabilitation of the railroads would assure the jobs of rail employes; recreate many positions previously lost in the course of deflation; allow rails to resume payment of dividends on their stocks; to resume their role as the Nation's largest taxpayer, thus bringing relief to the general public and many more benefits too numerous to mention here.

CARTER DUKE.

New York.

Innocent New Englander Falls Into Pacifists' Trap.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Hats off to Gen. Butler, who recently appeared before a Senate committee and declared that a saving of $200,000,000 could be effected by amalgamating the Army and Navy into a Department of National Defense. Nicholas Murray Butler said the same thing a short time ago. It is a ridiculous and stupid anachronism for a country which has formally renounced war as a means of settling international disputes to maintain Army and Navy Departments. A Department of National Defense which can properly protect our interests at home and abroad is all we need, and anything more is merely a concession to the pomp and vanity of our bellicose citizens. Just at this moment it seems somewhat unnecessary to spend $200,000,000 to afford satisfaction along these lines.

Events in Washington Society

Ball Game Witnessed By President and Mrs. Roosevelt.

THE PRESIDENT AND MRS. ROOSEVELT yesterday attended the opening game of the American League baseball season when the Nationals and the Philadelphia team played. With them was a small party that included Mrs. Malvina Thompson Scheider and Mrs. Daniel O'Day, who is a house guest at the White House.

Mrs. Roosevelt later went to the bundle tea at the Thrift Shop.

The Ambassador of Belgium and Mme. May left yesterday for Hot Springs, where they will remain until April 20. The Ambassador and Mme. May returned to Washington early yesterday from New York, where they have been for several days. While at Hot Springs they will have as their guests for a short time Brig. Gen. and Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt.

The Ambassador of Spain, Senor Don Juan Francisco de Cardenas, will go to New York tomorrow to join Senora de Cardenas, who has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. S. Parker Gilbert for several days. The Ambassador and Senora de Cardenas will return to Washington on Saturday.

Viscountess d'Alte, wife of the Minister of Portugal, is among the patronesses for a concert to be given at the Carnegie Hall in New York on April 18 for the benefit of the Catholic Boys Clubs.

The Minister of Roumania, Mr. Charles A. Davila, has returned from New York.

Mrs. Hubbard Hostess To Democratic Women.

Mrs. George H. Dern, wife of the Secretary of War, and Mrs. Daniel C. Roper, wife of the Secretary of Commerce, were among the guests at a luncheon given yesterday by Mrs. Wilbur Hubbard for the governing board of the Women's National Democratic Club at her home, Widehall, in Maryland.

The other ladies of the board included Mrs. Charles S. Hamlin, former Gov. Nellie T. Ross, Mrs. James T. Robinson, Mrs. Robert Lansing, Mrs. Burton K. Wheeler, Mrs. Emily Newell Blair, Mrs. Borden Harriman, Mrs. Charles Warren, Mrs. Huston Thompson, Mrs. Edwards Shouse, Mrs. John B. Kendrick, Mrs. Harry Covington, Mrs. Edward P. Costigan, Mrs. Blair Bannister, Mrs. Frank Hiram Snell, Mrs. Robert W. Woolley, Mrs. Ellinor Connolly, Mrs. Frank Bright, Mrs. George M. Eckles, Mrs. Harry N. Rickey, Mrs. Kate Trenholm Abrams, Mrs. Edward Keating, Mrs. Rose Yates Forester and Mrs. Grimsley.

Mrs. George M. Morris, Mrs. Hubbard's daughter, of Washington, accompanied the party.

Old Aunt Charlotte Yorker, who was born at Widehall 101 years ago, when it was owned by Judge Chambers, served the coffee in the den of the old customs house.

Representative Fred J. Sisson, of New York, has returned to Washington with his family, and they are established in their apartment at Wardman Park Hotel.

Maj. Gen. and Mrs. T. Q. Ashburn entertained at a supper party last evening in honor of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Brown, of Birmingham, Ala.

Maj. Gen. and Mrs. George A. Leach are spending some time at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va.

The newly appointed Counselor of The Netherlands Legation, Baron Van Breugen Douglas, and Baroness Douglas arrived yesterday in Washington from New York, where they landed on Tuesday on the Statendam. Baron Douglas succeeds the former Counselor of the Legation, Mr. L. G. van Hoorn, now Minister of The Netherlands to Austria and Hungary.

The former Secretary of State, Mr. Elihu Root, is in Atlantic City for a few days.

Ward Monroe French Weds Miss Carwithen.

The marriage of Miss Louise Parvin Garwithen, daughter of Mrs. Van Court Carwithen, of Merion, and Mr. Ward Monroe French, son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Raymond French, of Washington, took place yesterday afternoon in the Overbrook Presbyterian Church. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. George Emerson Barnes, pastor of the church.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her mother, was escorted to the altar by Mr. Maurice Bower Saul. The bride wore a blush-tone satin gown, fashioned on close-fitting lines, with a boat-shaped decolletage. The sleeves, of old family duchesse lace, which were full to the elbow, extended in deep points over the hand, the lace having been worn by her grandmother and mother on their wedding days. The long train fell in folds from the skirt, and her veil of tulle fell from a cap effect of old family lace. She carried a shower bouquet of white orchids, lilies of the valley and gardenias.

Mrs. Raymond C. Reid, of Westfield, N. J., sister of the bridegroom, attended as matron of honor, and Miss Nona E. Carwithen, sister of the bride, was maid of honor.

Mrs. French, mother of the bridegroom, wore a gown of rose-tone chiffon with a brown hat and slippers of the same tone, and a corsage of gardenias, orchids and lilies-of-the-valley.

Mr. William Taylor French, of Washington, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man. A reception followed the ceremony at Green Hill Farms, Overbrook.

The former Assistant Secretary of War for Aviation, Mr. F. Mr. and Mrs. John J. Barrett, of New York and New Canaan, Conn., announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Lois Roxanna Barrett, to Mr. William Edgar Edmonston 2d, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Davis Edmonston, of Baltimore. Mr. Edmonston is the grandson of Mrs. David Stewart Hendrick, of Washington, and of the late Mr. and Mrs. William E. Edmonston, of Washington.

Miss Barrett attended the Brearley School in New York and made her debut there three years ago. She is a member of the Junior League.

Mr. Edmonston graduated from the Gilman School in Baltimore and attended the Taft School and also Princeton University. Mr. Edmonston's sister, Miss Pattie Warfield Edmonston, made her debut last season and was presented to Washington society by her grandmother, Mrs. David Stewart Hendrick.

Miss Mary Howry and Miss Elizabeth Howry, who have leased their house in Georgetown for two months, are at Miami Beach, Fla.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Simonds are spending a few days in New York.

Lieut. Col. Campbell Hodges entertained at luncheon at the Carlton yesterday.

Miss Dorothea Lane will leave today for Cincinnati to spend the Easter holiday with friends. Mr. Richard Lane, father of Miss Lane, will join her there the end of the week.

The Congressional Club will entertain with its annual Easter dance Tuesday evening from 9 until 12 o'clock. This promises to be one of the gayest parties of the club season, as many of the college young folk, who are spending their vacation in Washington, will be present.

Dr. and Mrs. Irving Brotman entertained at dinner last evening in their apartment at the Westchester. Their guests were Lady Coventry of England, the sculptor; S. Salamunich, and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Russek.

Mrs. William A. Starrett and Mrs. Mary A. Case, of Madison, N. J., are guests at the Shoreham for a few days, when they will go to Eastern Shore, Md., where Mrs. Starrett has a house.

Miss Moira Archbold is in New York for a short visit.

Mr. and Mrs. George Djamgaross were guests of honor at a dinner last night by Representative and Mrs. Hamilton Fish. They will be guests of Austrian Minister and Mme. Prochnik at luncheon today and will return to New York tomorrow.

Mrs. Walter D. Wilcox is in New York for a short visit.

Philip Hichborn to Wed Gertrude Poel.

Miss Gertrude Vander Poel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. Oakley Vander Poel, of New York, will be married on May 1 to Mr. Philip Hichborn, of this city. The ceremony will take place at the Church of the Resurrection in New York, the Rev. E. Russell Bourne officiating. A reception at the home of the bride's parents will follow.

Miss Barbara Vander Poel will be her sister's maid of honor, and Mrs. Sherburn M. Becker, jr., the former Miss Mildred Vander Poel, another sister, will be matron of honor.

Mr. Francis L. Spalding, son-in-law of the Minister of Austria, will be best man for Mr. Hichborn, and the ushers will include Mr. Melville E. Ingalls, Mr. Sherburn M. Becker, jr., Mr. Richard Peabody, Mr. Tipton S. Blish, Mr. Granville O. B. Ulman, Mr. Quincy A. Gilmore, jr., Mr. Charles Hitchcock and Mr. Alfred Wagstaff 3d.

Stocks Decline Fractionally As Sales Volume Dwindles

Eight-tenths Loss Recorded on Light Turnover of 748,061 Shares.

New York, April 12 (A.P.).—Stocks pointed downward with most other financial markets today, but the decline was leisurely and the average loss fractional.

Brisk profit taking in grains, notably corn and wheat, helped keep shares lower all day. However, favorable business statistics tended to offset the decline in commodities and Wall street traders were more inclined to let the market drift than actively to unload recent purchases. Some leaders lost a point or slightly more; few were able to fight the lower trend successfully. Sales totaled 748,061, the smallest volume in more than a week.

A regular 60-cent quarterly dividend for Woolworth fooled the guessers who had been predicting a cut, and the stock rallied more than a point. Continental Can's directors also voted the usual 50-cent payment, which helped the shares moderately. American Telephone, whose dividend meeting comes in another month, was off 2 at the worst, cutting its loss to 1½ net. Westinghouse, Union Pacific, Santa Fe, U. S. Steel preferred, National Biscuit, Case, Coca-Cola, Public Service of New Jersey, Allied Chemical, Inland Steel, U. S. Smelting and Harvester sagged 1 to 1½. Detroit Edison and International Silver lost about 2.

The day's annual stockholders' meetings uncovered a few expressions of mild optimism. The head of Republic Steel Corporation, Thomas N. Girdle, characterized February as "a pretty good month" and said it had been followed by a rebound which he thought was the start of a gradual upturn. President Carlton of the Western Union said executives of that company thought the last week or ten days had witnessed general business improvement.

FOREIGN MARKETS.

(Associated Press.)

London—Dealings on the stock exchange were restricted owing to the approaching holidays. Prices developed some irregularity, profit taking being especially evident in transatlantic issues and Kaffirs, while gilt-edged securities, Argentine rails and German bonds improved. Fresh buying occurred later in Kaffirs, which helped to record the steadier closing tone of the market.

Paris—The tone of the bourse was irregular, prices turning firmer after earlier declines, which developed when traders lightened their position on account of the heaviness of the American dollar and the British pound and the hesitancy in the Wall street market. The market closed resistant.

Berlin—Trading on the boerse was in a holiday mood and prices closed unchanged.

TRADE TRENDS.

(Associated Press.)

Farm equipment—Sales are slightly improved in volume, principally in connection with replacements for tractors and machinery, says Dun & Bradstreet, Inc. Stocks in all hands from consumers to manufacturers are extremely light, the agency reports.

Floor covering—It is reported in trade quarters that sentiment for a curtailment program is making substantial progress. It is claimed by some observers that the industry has gained comparatively little from the production curtailment program undertaken at the turn of the year.

Synthetic yarns—Trade reports say that retailers are featuring an increased volume of knitted frocks of synthetic yarns in the sports wear lines. The outstanding style numbers are of dull acetate yarns.

Lead—Dealers are hesitant in predicting the volume of buying in view of the recent ¼ cent advance, but it is stated in various trade quarters that buyers are displaying a greater interest in the market.

Stocks.

A leisurely decline sent prices eight-tenths of a point lower. Profit taking in other markets reacted on stocks. Sales volume dropped off to 748,061 shares.

Bonds.

The market sagged in heavier trading in spite of easier money and more favorable business reports. The loss averaged two-tenths of a point. Sales increased to $10,167,000.

Curb.

With few exceptions, leaders lost ground. The correctional movement was aided by a decline in buying power. Sales decreased to 127,000 shares.

Wheat.

Curtailment of speculative buying and profit taking sent wheat prices down. Other grains joined in the slump. May wheat sold at 58¾ to 58⅞ cents.

Cotton.

Reaction set in as other markets eased and cotton closed 4 to 6 points down. July sold at 6.74. Liverpool reported continental and Bombay selling absorbed by the trade.

New York, April 12 (A.P.).—Steel prices unchanged.

BOND MARKET SAGS IN HEAVIER TRADING

Some Rails Gain in Spite of Slumps; Sales Are Up to $10,167,000.

New York, April 12 (A.P.).—The bond market sagged today, ignoring a further easing of money rates, a substantial advance in steel production and more optimistic trade reports from various parts of the country.

United States Government securities, led by the actively traded Liberty fourth 4¼s, were moderately reactionary; public utilities generally were quite soft, while German obligations resumed the slump which had been interrupted by a two-day rally.

Sales totaled $10,167,000, par value, and the average for 60 domestic corporate bonds was off two-tenths of a point.

While Liberty 3½s and Treasury 4¼s firmed, most of the other Federals declined 1-32 to 12-32 of a point. The heaviness of Liberty fourth 4¼s, which lost 9-32 of a point in a turnover of 1,153 bonds, was ascribed principally to further uncertainties regarding the calling of this issue.

Utility losers of a point or more included bonds of American & Foreign Power, Detroit Edison, International Telephone, Western Union and Columbia Gas. There were few important changes in the industrials.

Most German bonds registered losses of 1 to around 4 points, reflecting nervousness over reports of renewed political and economic tension in the Reich. Other foreign loans were somewhat mixed.

Some of the domestic rails improved. Among these were bonds of Santa Fe, Alleghany Corporation, St. Paul, International Great Northern, Frisco and Union Pacific. Issues of Chesapeake Corporation, Chesapeake & Ohio, Rock Island, Illinois Central, New York Central and Southern Pacific were heavy.

Building and Loan Industry Plans Aiding Home Owners

Chicago, April 12.—The building and loan industry expects to grant upward of $300,000,000 in new credit to American home owners during the next six months.

That is the estimate of the United States Building & Loan League in the face of recent developments in the banking and financial world.

The league expects this sum to be allocated as follows:

About $100,000,000 for refinancing of solvent home owners, largely from funds advanced to building and loan associations by the Federal Home Loan Bank system.

At least $65,000,000 for financing of repairs and remodeling, using about $35,000,000 of this amount from associations' receiptss and the other $30,000,000 from Home Loan Bank advances.

About $10,000,000 for tax payments, especially to families whose funds have been tied up by bank reorganizations.

About $40,000,000 for construction of new homes, and up to $85,000,000 for financing the purchase of existing homes.

Counting the average building and loan mortgage at $3,000, this last named item of credit expansion would provide for the sale of more than 28,000 homes to owner-occupants in the next six months.

Financial developments in recent weeks, the league points out, have brought two major effects on availability of funds for building and loan mortgage lending.

First, circumstances have brought associations and the Federal Home Loan Banks into "closer understanding," with the result that building and loan institutions are expected to circulate the full $125,000,000 available from the new system before autumn.

Second, the pick-up in confidence which is bringing large amounts out of hoarding will net associations a larger income than for many months, so their own new moneys available for loanings are expected to reach $175,000,000 by October.

Already associations reporting to the league have retailed nearly $16,000,000 in Federal Home Loan Bank funds to home-owners in 23 States since early January.

About 34 per cent of this sum has gone for remodeling and repairs on homes, about 23 per cent for loans to pay taxes on homes, and 43 per cent for refinancing of mortgages where home owners were being pressed for payment, or for making new mortgages where the home owner could find no other source of mortgage money.

Exports of Grain Up 61,000 Bushels

Cargoes for Week Total 314,000 Units; Drop Under 1932 Period.

(Associated Press.)

Grain exports last week from the United States amounted to 314,000 bushels, against 253,000 bushels the previous week and 1,902,000 bushels during the corresponding week of last year.

Commerce Department figures yesterday gave the following comparison between last week's exports and those for the week before:

Wheat, none, against 2,000; rye, none, against 1,000; oats, 58,000, against 72,000; corn, 64,000, against 103,000; barley, 192,000, against 75,000.

Canadian grains exported last week from United States ports amounted to 94,000 bushels, against 373,000 the previous week, while exports of North American wheat flour were 36,000 barrels, against 48,000 barrels the previous week.

Power Production Is Slightly Lower

Percentage Drop Smallest as Compared With Last Year.

New York, April 12 (A.P.).—Electric power output for the week ended April 8, although moderately lower than that of the previous week, showed the smallest percentage decline from last year for any recent period. Consumption ran 4.5 per cent below the 1932 week, while in the previous week the loss was 5.3 per cent.

Last week's output was 1,399,367,000 kilowatt hours, against 1,402,142,000 in the previous week and 1,465,076,000 in the 1932 period.

Most of the major geographic regions recorded smaller declines from last year than shown a week ago. The Atlantic seaboard was off 2.7 per cent, against 4.6; central industrial, 5.7, against 8.1; New England, 3.8, against 7.2, and Pacific Coast, 6.8, against 5.7.

Stock Exchange Votes For Holiday Tomorrow

New York, April 12 (A.P.).—Governors of the New York Stock Exchange today voted to close the exchange on April 14, Good Friday.

CURB CONTINUES DIP IN NARROW RANGES

Correctional Movement Held to Small Losses; Sales, 127,000 Shares.

New York, April 12 (A.P.).—The curb market ran a little shy on buying power today and continued the "correctional movement" started yesterday.

With few exceptions the leaders lost ground, but declines were generally narrow. Volume amounted to about 127,000 shares compared with 199,000 on Tuesday.

The trend was mixed in utilities, and in the mining, oil and specialty groups. Some of those ignoring the reactionary trend and closing higher included Axton Fisher, Bulova Watch preferred, Columbia Gas & Electric preferred, Duke Power, Newmont Mining, Safety Car Heating & Lighting and International Petroleum.

There were moderate fractional losses in many of the recent speculative favorites, including Deere & Co., American Gas & Electric, Electric Bond & Share and Cord. Great Atlantic & Pacific gave up a couple of points. A. O. Smith, which pushed ahead fast in recent sessions, dropped back fractionally.

Alabama Power preferred, a closely held and inactive issue, dropped about 13 points from the previous sale on a few odd-lot sales.

Steam-Driven Plane Success in Test Flights

Oakland, Calif., April 12 (A.P.).—A steam-powered airplane developed by William J. Besler and George Besler, brothers, made three short test flights here today.

It is a two-cyclinder oil burner. The brothers said they considered the project more of a development of external combustion engines than a step in aviation. They described the engine as very silent in flight. The brothers said they have made about 100 miles an hour and the cost of operation was lower than for a gasoline motor.

Sugar Company Shares Record Heavy Advance

New York, April 12 (A.P.).—The long-depressed shares of the sugar companies have leaped forward in the stock exchange of late, some doubling in value.

Raw sugar futures in the New York Coffee and Sugar Exchange currently show an appreciation over the low levels of January and early February of nearly 70 per cent. Prices have risen from around .65 of 1 cent a pound, before payment of the 2-cent duty, to above 1.10 cents.

Western Union Company Finds Trade Improving

New York, April 12 (A.P.).—Newcomb Carlton, president of Western Union Telegraph Co., said at the stockholders' annual meeting today that officials of the company believed they had discerned a general improvement in business over the last week or ten days. He said he himself was "considerably encouraged."

The company handled large amounts of money transfers during the bank holiday. Traffic also increased after the California earthquake, reaching a level, Carlton said, which the company had not expected to attain for some time.

Bank loans of Western Union are now $1,900,000, an increase of $400,000 from December 31.

Finished goods of a seasonal character continued to move well on past orders. Rayon yarn sales were steady in small lots. Interest broadened slowly in fall worsteds and woolens. Burlaps were firmer. Broad silks sell steadily for immediate shipment.

WHEAT VALUES SINK AS BUYING DECLINES

Profit Taking Forces Prices Down; Other Grains Join Slump.

Chicago, April 12 (A.P.).—Sudden curtailment of enthusiasm for speculative buying gave a decided jolt to grain values today.

Instead of fever to purchase, eagerness to collect paper profits led to a heavy increase of selling, and there were numerous price breaks that approximated 2 cents a bushel. In the main, reactions were attributed by traders to the fact that wheat had made an unusually rapid rise of 10 cents a bushel, and that a downswing was to be expected.

Wheat closed unstable at but little above the day's bottom, 1 to 1½ under yesterday's finish; corn 1½ to 1⅞ down; oats ¾ to 1¼ off, and provisions varying from 5 cents decline to a rise of 17 cents.

Other Slumps Harmful.

Weakness of securities and of cotton contributed to the downhill trend of grains. A large Eastern holder of wheat was generally believed to have let go of an extensive line of wheat today, and new buyers were also disturbed over a forecast of possible moisture relief for some sections of drought territory. The Liverpool wheat market had altogether ignored yesterday's upturn on this side of the Atlantic.

Only transient rallies in wheat prices followed reports of new dust storms Southwest and of liberal sales of wheat here to domestic mills. Word of improved demand for flour was likewise given little notice. Considerable comment developed regarding the fact that Washington reports of new definite legislative moves today for currency inflation had no apparent market influence.

Enlarged rural offerings of corn did much to puuu corn and oats prices down. Some operators asserted that the corn market had not been showing any great strength since last Friday, when corn prices dropped more than 3 cents from the previous day's finish.

Provisions averaged higher, responsive to the course of the hog market.

COTTON PRICES CUT AS MARKETS REACT

...ully Sells at 6.74 With General Values Down 4 to 6 Points.

New York, April 12 (A.P.).—The cotton market was reactionary today in sympathy with the easier tone of the grain and stock markets and on the approach of the Easter holidays.

July contracts sold to 6.69 or 11 points net lower, but the market steadied on trade buying and covering at this figure. There were rallies of a few points in the late trading.

July closed at 6.74, with the general market very steady at net declines of 4 to 6 points.

Easy Liverpool Cables.

The opening was unchanged to 6 points lower in response to relatively easy Liverpool cables. The decline extended to 5.53 for May and 6.89 for October during the early trading or both 10 to 13 points net lower. A disposition to take profits on long cotton following the recent sharp advance was considered responsible for a good deal of the selling, while there was some further selling here for foreign account. Offerings were absorbed by trade buying on the setback.

The New York Cotton Exchange service estimated domestic consumption for March at 489,000 bales of all growths compared with 442,000 in February.

Liverpool cables said continental and Bombay selling had been taken by local and trade buying there. Exports today, 12,530, making 6,325,563 so far this season. Port receipts, 10,-860. U. S. port stocks, 4,309,227.

Cottonseed Oil.

Bleachable cottonseed oil advanced to 5 points early today on increased covering and commission house buying, promoted by the bullish consumption report, firmness of crude and rumors of sales of tallow at higher prices. Offerings increased on the upturn, however, and the market closed 1 to 3 points net lower. Sales, 50 contracts, or 7,500 barrels. The Census Bureau estimated March consumption of cottonseed oil at 256,-716 barrels, against 227,400 last year. Bleachable spot closed 3.95; May, 4.01; July, 4.19; September, 4.38; October, 4.42.

West's Railway Freight Loadings Increased

New York, April 12 (A.P.).—Freight loadings of the New York Central system decreased last week, totaling 76,507 cars against 79,510 in the week ended April 1. The percentage decrease from a year ago was 12.5, whereas the drop in the previous week had been 11.4 per cent.

Traffic on several Western roads increased last week. St. Louis terminal loadings totaled 28,419 cars compared with 27,896 the week before; Missouri Pacific, 17,178, against 17,152; International - Great Northern, 4,926, against 5,517; Gulf Coast Lines, 2,862, against 2,634; Missouri-Kansas-Texas, 9,313, against 6,056, and St. Louis-San Francisco, 11,211, against 11,039. Total loadings of the Pennsylvania system for the week were 72,947 cars, compared with 75,091 in the preceding week and 87,440 in the same week last year.

3 DRAW JAIL TERMS IN CONDEMNED SHOW

Judge at Rockville Scores Play in Armory as "Outrageous."

Montgomery County Bureau of The Post, 8706 Georgia Ave., Silver Spring, Md. Telephone Shepherd 2363.

Asserting that the performance was the most "outrageous ever held in Montgomery County," Judge Charles W. Woodward imposed heavy sentences in the cases of three defendants who were convicted yesterday at Rockville in connection with an obscene show presented in the National Guard Armory at Kensington.

Benjamin Livingston, of Baltimore, Md., was convicted on a charge of "maintaining a common-law nuisance." He is alleged to have been the one who provided the entertainers for the show. Livingston was sentenced to serve five years in the Maryland House of Correction.

Fred Edwards Casey and Gertrude Cole, both of Baltimore, alleged to have been performers, were sentenced to serve four and three years, respectively, in the House of Correction.

Mrs. Livingston, wife of the first defendant, created a scene in the courtroom as her husband was sentenced. She ran to the front and shouted: "It isn't so! It isn't so!" She was led from the room by Sheriff Richard H. Lansdale after she had made an impassioned plea for clemency on behalf of herself and their seven children.

The appeals of Julius Rosenfeld and Edmund D. Ault, of Washington, who were convicted and fined in the county police court in connection with the show were dismissed. The judge was informed they had paid their fines of $750 and $50, respectively. Judge Woodward dismissed the appeal of Powell Havener, of Kensington, alleged to have been a performer, when he was informed that Judge Donald A. DeLashmutt in police court had suspended sentence in the case.

Ralph Pimes, of Washington, also arrested in connection with the case, paid a fine of $150 and costs imposed by Judge DeLashmutt in police court yesterday morning, where Pimes pleaded guilty.

When news of the show leaked out in Kensington, it created a furore and civic leaders at once laid the matter before State's Attorney Stedman Prescott, who brought it to the attention of the county grand jury and ordered warrants sworn out for cases in the lower court. County officials said they wished to make an example of these people in order that similar shows will be afraid to operate in Montgomery County.

Fairfax Chamber Is Facing Deficit

Loss of Funds Discussed Without Any Action Being Taken.

Owing to a general decrease in its revenue, the Fairfax County Chamber of Commerce faces a deficit for the current fiscal year, it was announced at the meeting Tuesday night. Ways and means of funding the deficit were discussed without any definite plans being adopted. It was decided, however, that the membership list should be revised.

Representatives of the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co. and the Public Service Co. attended the meeting, but stated that they were unable to discuss rate reduction until the State Corporation Commission handed down a decision in cases now pending before it.

It was pointed out, however, a reduction in toll rates, rather than in rental charges, was being demanded by the general public.

BRITON CONFESSES MOSCOW CHARGES

Metropolitan-Vickers machinery at Zlatoust.

Gusev, 35 years old, red-headed and slightly stooped, said he had repented his anti-Soviet ideas and wanted a chance to show his loyalty. The prosecution will follow up this line of evidence tomorrow when V. A. Sokoloff, Gusev's assistant, will take the stand. The prosecution contends that he also was in the pay of MacDonald.

The trial is being held in October Hall, the trades union meeting place. Soldiers armed with rifles with fixed bayonets were on duty inside and outside the court. Spectators, of whom there were about 500, were admitted only by card.

The proceedings were watched by William Strang, British Charge d'Affaires, and a number of secretaries from the British Embassy and Consulate. Virtually every member of the diplomatic corps was represented.

After the indictment had been read MacDonald entered his plea of guilty. This was a surprise even to British Embassy officials, who had not been allowed to discuss the case with the defendant.

London, April 12 (A.P.).—The British foreign office, issuing tonight its summary of today's session of the Moscow trial, noted that W. H. MacDonald, who pleaded guilty, was interrogated out of his order in the list of the accused.

The summary also stressed the point that MacDonald "has not been allowed out on bail and has, during the last four weeks, been in a G. P. U. prison without being allowed to receive advice or discuss his case with anyone except the prosecutor or his state-paid Soviet counsel."

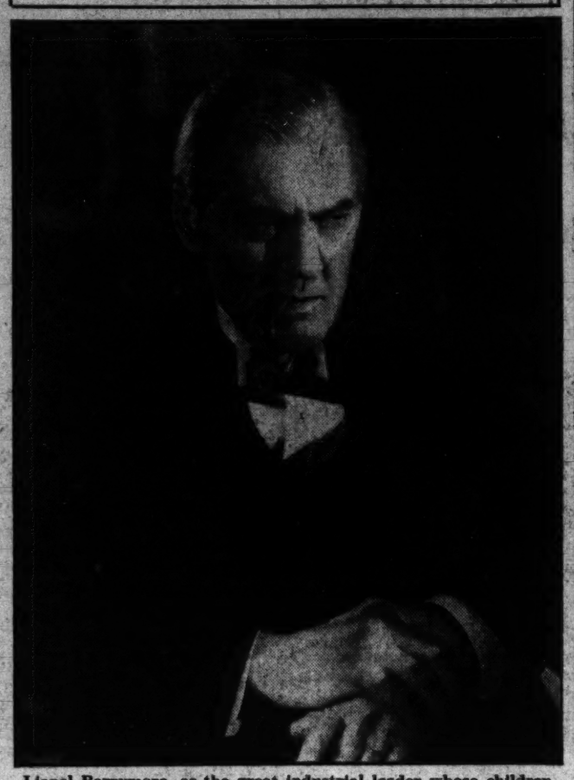
A MAN OF BLOOD AND IRON



Lionel Barrymore, as the great industrial leader whose children fall him and whose empire crumbles at his feet, in "Sweepings," the picturization of the Lester Cohen novel, which comes to RKO-Keith's tomorrow and is said to provide the eldest of the Barrymores his greatest screen role.

ABOUT THE SHOW SHOPS

With NELSON B. BELL

MASTER DICKIE MOORE, one of the screen's most engaging youngsters, has caught up with an important period in his career—the interval in which he will graduate from the ranks of the infant prodigies, so to speak, to those of the fullfledged juveniles, whose work is based on intelligent comprehension of the task in hand rather than solely upon any mere baby precocity.

Dickie Moore.

This inevitable test for the male of the species, about to pass from babyhood into conscious—and sometimes self-conscious—young boyhood, usually takes the form of a try at "Oliver Twist" before the cameras. If this hurdle is successfully negotiated, the youngster is looked upon as an actor worthy of his hire for any man's cinema.

Although there was something of the spark of genius about everything he did in his baby days, this Dickens role was the first severe test to which the remarkable talents of the then wide-eyed and wistful Jackie Coogan ever were put. He met the trial by fire so splendidly that his was by far the best contribution to a production that boasted the mature talents of Lon Chaney, Gladys Brockwell and, if memory serves correctly, the late George Siegman.

It is an even stiffer assignment that now confronts little Dickie Moore, because, in addition to all of the silent pantomime that made Jackie Coogan great in the part, he also must give a thought to all those lines and the microphone—contraptions that had not been invented, or, at least, had not been perfected, when Master Coogan tore our hearts out with his futile and pathetic plea for more porridge!

If Dickie can approximate Jackie's simulation of poverty, hunger and want, and, at the same time, handle the considerable dialogue with which the part now must be invested, he will earn immediate recognition as the outstanding screen actor of his years.

The tale will be written at the Metropolitan Friday, with Irving Pichel, William (stage) Boyd, Doris Lloyd and Alec B. Francis contributing notably to many of its most important passages—the first named as Fagin, Mr. Boyd as Bill Sykes and Miss Lloyd as Nancy.

It is a fine tribute to Jackie Coogan's performance of the part now essayed by Master Dickie that it remains so vivid a recollection in so many memories.

While English films may lag behind Hollywood's in many respects that seem vital to us, there come along from time to time instances in which the foreign mind solves a problem with which we have seemed unable to cope. Take the matter of the printed program in the motion picture theater, for example. Programs have never been a success in our picture houses because they can not be satisfactorily read if the theater is to be kept dark enough to lend best effect to the screen. They have managed a way around that difficulty on the other side.

According to a bulletin just released by the motion picture division of the Commerce Department, programs that can be read in the dark have recently been introduced to audiences in a London theater.

The new programs are in the form of a thin sheet of black paper on which details concerning actors, scenes and other essential items appear in white letters, possibly stenciled. When the auditorium is darkened and the proscenium and screen lights come on, this sheet may be held against the light and the printed characters thereon become perfectly legible. The "black" program is inserted in the regular program which embodies the more voluminous nonessentials, such as house information, coming attractions, ads and the like.

This idea is heartily commended as a suggestion that might eventually be developed into a means of ridding the screen of trailers. (Applause.)

This seems to be the open season for year books of the screen and the theater. Hot on the heels of Jack Alicoate's invaluable "Film Daily Year Book of the Motion Picture," comes an even more comprehensive and voluminous work, dedicated primarily to the traditional theater of bone and sinew.

Sir Isaac Pitman & Sons, Ltd., of London and New York, have just published the new edition of John Parker's "Who's Who in the Theater," which celebrates its coming of age in this issue, a copy of which has graciously been supplied this desk by Mr. Parker.

From a modest little brochure of only 775 pages in its first edition in 1912, the volume has grown during the intervening 21 years to a total of 1,900 closely printed pages, to which 500 new biographies have been added, making nearly 3,000 biographical notices of actors, actresses, managers, dramatic authors, composers critics, scenic artists, designers, &c., &c., in Great Britain and the United States which the book now contains.

The volume also provides a synopsis of London playbills from 1930 down to December 31 last, fully indexed; a list of the most notable productions on the London stage from the sixteenth century to date; royal command performances; Dr. J. M. Bulloch's tables of hereditary theatrical families, British and American, numbering more than 100; a list of public school boys and university graduates numbering some hundreds, who in recent years have adopted the theater as a profession; an obituary list containing over 3,000 names, and a mass of miscellaneous information.

No other work that has ever come to hand embraces so immense a number of facts and dates, or so all-inclusive a collection of theatrical data as this massive and useful tome.

Incidentally, the editor, Mr. John Parker, is American born, although he has long been resident in Great Britain. If these lines should ever come to his notice, I wish him to know that they are heavily freighted with thanks.

With the help of this useful compendium, I am now enabled to inform the inquirer over the telephone yesterday definitely that Rudolph Valentino died on August 23, 1926, at the age of 31—seven years ago, just as we both thought, but couldn't be quite sure.

Tomorrow the members of the cast of "Best Seller," the new play by Edouard Bourdet, author of "The Captive" and "The Sex Fable," led by Peggy Wood and Ernest Truex, will arrive in Washington to put the finishing touches on this latest Lee Shubert importation, to be given its American premiere in the National Theater on Monday night. Joseph M. Gaites will be the unseen puller of the strings.

"Best Seller" will be the last regular road show booking of the current season at the National and will be succeeded on Monday night, April 24, by Panjandrum Stephen E. Cochran's National Theater Players for their ninth spring and summer season of stock under the direction of Clifford Brooke, as, of course, you already know.

The new offerings for Easter Week in the cathedrals of the celluloid drama will be approximately akin to this: Rialto, Kiepura and Magda Schneider in "Be Mine Tonight;" RKO-Keith's, Lionel Barrymore in "Sweepings;" Loew's Fox, Lionel Barrymore in "Looking Forward," and Isham Jones and his orchestra headlining the vaudeville; Earle, Bette Davis in "Ex-Lady," and Dorothy Stone, in person, headlining the vaudeville; Metropolitan, Dickie Moore in "Oliver Twist;" Palace, Helen Hayes and Clark Gable in "The White Sister;" Columbia, Ralph Morgan and "Boots" Mallory in "Humanity," opening Monday.

Incidentally—and please pardon the muddy tracks on your carpet, Mr. Povich—that was a pretty good show Mr. Griffith and his boys put on out at Griffith Stadium yesterday.

No wonder, with the whole United States Government in the cast!

BANK STOCK ISSUE SET AT CHERRYDALE

300 Depositors Hear Plan to Reopen House on Normal Business Basis.

Plans to reorganize the Peoples State Bank of Cherrydale was put in motion at a mass meeting of stockholders held last night at the Cherrydale School.

The plan, as explained by Clarence R. Ahalt, member of the board of directors and counsel for the bank, proposes the capital stock to be $50,000 instead of $70,000. The plan, which was outlined to more than 300 depositors, was favorably received.

The bank is now operating with a limit of withdrawals of accounts prior to March 3 at 5 per cent. Those after that date are subject to 100 per cent withdrawal. The plans for reorganization, as explained by Mr. Ahalt, in no way affect the new depositors.

The following notice to the bank and which was being rapidly signed by depositors provides:

"First. You are hereby authorized to deduct from my account 13 per cent of the total funds on deposit. This contribution is being used to eliminate losses and doubtful assets as determined by a recent examination of the bank by the State banking department.

"Second. You are further authorized to deduct 20 per cent of my balance or balances, demand and time, in addition to the above 13 per cent, for the purchase of stock in the new institution, providing my balance or balances amount to $25 or more."

It is expressly understood that bailee accounts or trust funds are not in any way affected by stipulations in paragraphs No. 1 and No. 2 and are returnable 100 per cent at any time.

It was pointed out by Mr. Ahalt that under the proposed plan present depositors will hold about three-fourths of the entire issue of stock.

Garrett Park Group For Sewer Installation

Immediate installation of a modern sanitary sewerage system in Garrett Park was urged in a resolution adopted by the Garrett Park Citizens Association. Capt. L. L. Dye, chairman of the committee on public utilities, reported on what the Washington Suburban Sanitary Commission has planned on this project. It is expected work will begin soon.

The association also adopted an emphatic protest against continuance of discrimination in gas rates between the District of Columbia and Montgomery County.

Dogwood Planting At Ballston Today

P.-T.A. Picks Committees for Benefit Card Party and Dance.

Plans for planting two dogwood trees and holding a benefit card party and dance were completed at a meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association of the Thomas Nelson Page School at Ballston yesterday.

The two trees, donated by Mrs. James Fuller Hayes, will be planted on the school grounds today at 3:30. J. Homer Leigh, vice president, will be the principal speaker. A playlet will be presented by sixth grade pupils under the direction of Miss Daisy West, principal.

A committee, consisting of Miss Hazel Groton, Mrs. J. H. York, Miss Marjorie Fowler, Mrs. J. P. Craig and Mrs. I. Carpenter, was appointed to arrange the card party. Andy P. Cooper, Mrs. W. H. Loveless, A. W. Stream, Mrs. Hortanse German and Mrs. I. Carpenter will handle the dance plans. Mrs. Mayme Johnson was selected a delegate to the Arlington County Council, Parent-Teacher Associations. Mrs. Virginia Clark, Mrs. O. Robert Howell and Mrs. J. P. Craig were named to select a new slate of officers to be elected in May.

had gone through the back of his head.

On the floor beside Feldman was a piece of concrete about the size of a clay brick. Police said it may have been thrown by either the attackers or one of the victims, most likely the latter, as no other weapons seemed to be available either to Greenberg or Feldman.

The bodies first were seen by Louis Parkowitz, who police said was associated with the victims. Parkowitz called the Elizabeth General Hospital, but both men had died instantly.

Parkowitz told police, Capt. Brennan said, that he had been with the men during the afternoon and had left for only twenty minutes, finding the bodies upon his return.

Prosecutor Abe J. David, of Union County, held him for further questioning. Also held were two bellboys, William Umahled and John Syko, and a waiter, Benjamin Brown, who frequently served meals in the rooms. He served lunch there today to several men, police said.

WILLIAMS ELECTED SCHOOLS' DIRECTOR

Chester Superintendent Will Succeed Bowton at Alexandria.

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU, 907 Prince St., Alexandria, Va. Phone Alexandria 523.

T. C. Williams, of Chester, Va., for the last twelve years superintendent of schools of Chesterfield County, Va., was elected last night at a special meeting of the Alexandria School Board to the position of superintendent of the Alexandria schools, to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of the incumbent, R. C. Bowton. The resignation of Mr. Bowton is effective at the end of the present school term, and Mr. Williams is to assume his duties on July 1.

The meeting was called for 7:30 o'clock in the superintendent's office, Jefferson School Building, and after the reading of the minutes of the last meeting by the clerk, Gilbert J. Cox, jr., several minor school matters were discussed. The chairman, Dr. John T. Ashton, then announced the main purpose of the meeting was the election of a superintendent. He stated that since the published resignation of Mr. Bowton more than 100 applications had been received for the position and the school board had carefully investigated all applicants.

Mrs. George T. Klipstein then nominated Mr. Williams, stating his qualifications and previous experience. Her nomination was seconded by C. Page Waller. No other nominations were made and the clerk was instructed to cast the unanimous vote of the board for Mr. Williams, and notify the selection of the board.

Mr. Williams is a graduate of the Virginia Military Institute, the University of Virginia, and William and Mary College. He has been principal of the high schools of Mitchells, Sparta and Chatham, Va., and was elected principal of the Chesterfield County school system in 1921. He has recently been reelected to that position for another 4-year term. He is a World War veteran.

Superintendent Bowton reported the resignation of Miss Mary Strader, teacher, to accept a better position in the Washington school system, and Miss Alberta Schaff was elected substitute teacher for the unexpired term.

Cheers Greet Roosevelt's Presence

Gives Prize Fighter's Handshake to Crowd on Departure.

Garner Threatens to Intercept Toss of First Ball.

By WESTBROOK PEGLER.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT dealt the baseball industry a hand of cards in the new deal yesterday when he went out to Clark Griffith's ball yard to attend the opening ceremonies, dragging quite a large passel of trade with him. A fete which ordinarily might not have played to more than 15,000 head was run off in the presence of about 23,359 paying customers, the margin being due apparently to Mr. Roosevelt's personal draw.

He saw the home boys of his new home town win their contest with the Athletics, 4 to 1, and received a shrill parting cheer as he seated himself in his car and saluted the people with a prize fighter's duke, both hands clasped above the hat and waggled vigorously just after the final putout.

The weather was windy and cool and the new head man sat through

Tribe Defeats Tigers, 4-1, In 13th; Brown Wins Duel

DETROIT, April 12 (A.P.).—A costly outfield error, an intentional pass and three singles in the thirteenth inning broke up a sparkling pitchers' duel between Tommy Bridges, of the Tigers, and Clint Brown, of the Indians, today and enabled Cleveland to win an overtime season opener, 4 to 1.

Bridges had allowed the Indians only four hits and the score was 1 to 1 when Gerald Walker dropped Cissell's fly in the thirteenth with one out. Cissell took second. Vosmik lined out and Morgan was purposely passed.

Then Kamm, Spencer and Brown singled to break up the ball game. Jo-Jo White doubled as a pinch batter for the Tigers, Detroit's seventh hit, but died on base.

Perfect spring weather brought out a crowd of only 19,000, the smallest opening day attendance in years.

Warneke Grants Four Hits As Cubs Blank Cards, 3-0

By PAUL MICKELSON.

CHICAGO, April 12 (A.P.).—Lonnie Warneke, pride of the Ozarks, muffled the big St. Louis Cardinal guns with a great four-hit pitching performance today to send the Cubs off on their National League pennant campaign with a shut-out victory, 3 to 0.

A four-hit barrage off Dizzy Dean in the second inning, opened by young Frank Demaree, reserve trooper for the injured Kiki Cuyler, gave the Cubs all their runs as the crowd of 25,000 quaffed beer and cheered. With Warneke clicking far more impressively than he did last year when he won the National League pitching championship, it was all the Cubs needed, although they nicked Dean and his successor, Tex Carleton, for seven more safe blows.

Warneke Wild In Second.

Except for a brief spell of wildness in the first inning, when he walked Sparky Adams, sent him to second with a wild pitch and then hit George Watkins with a pitched ball, Warneke had everything today. The Cards collected one hit in the second inning, two in the third and one more in the fourth, to make only mild threats, but thereafter went hitless. Twice, when Warneke was in trouble, two fast double plays stopped the rallies. He walked but two batters and struck out six with a sharp-breaking drop that fooled the Cardinal hitters. No Cardinal got more than one hit and all of them were singles.

Gabby Hartnett, a notorious victim of Dean's slants, was the batting star of the Cub attack. In the second inning assault he singled to score the first two runs and came up with two wasted singles in the next three times at bat. Babe Herman, making his first appearance in a Cub uniform, went hitless.

25,305 See Pirates Defeat Reds, 4 to 1

Cincinnati, April 12 (A.P.).—Pittsburgh's Pirates chalked up one victory on their way to a possible National League pennant today, defeating the Cincinnati Reds, 4 to 1, in the season's opening game.

Two doubles by Suhr, and a triple by Paul Waner, helped humble Si Johnson, while the Redland crew was helpless before Swift's deliveries.

The Reds attempted a ninth inning rally but Lombardi hit into a double play, after Hafey and Moore had singled, to end the game. A crowd of 25,305 saw the contest.

Grove Likely To Hurl for Athletics

Foxx to Rejoin Club for Second Game of Series Here.

Cronin Says His Nats Will Display Same Dash and Fire.

By FRANK H. YOUNG.

A BIGGER and better show—from a baseball angle, at least, than that of yesterday is promised in Griffith Stadium this afternoon, but, oddly enough, there will be no lively battles among the fans for seats. And this despite the fact that the same Nats and same Athletics that met in the inaugural will be opposing each other and that added attractions in the form of Bob (Lefty) Grove in the box and Jimmy Foxx, 1932 home run king, at first, are listed. Earl Whitehill, who also flings with the wrong arm, is slated to make his official debut on the Nat mound.

It's a strange condition—something for the psychologist to explain—which sees the cash customers fighting to give up their money one day and almost completely ignoring the same opportunity the next. But yesterday's opener was such a flashy one that perhaps the reaction which has followed past inaugurals will turn a flip-flop.

Fans Impressed With Nats.

Truly, no Washington fan can complain of yesterday's doings, unless it is to gently cuss out the weather man for keeping them on the anxious seat all morning. When the rain did stop, though, things went off without a hitch and the 24,000 crowd left for home convinced that Manager Joe Cronin has the makings of a real ball team.

And Cronin himself is not the least enthusiastic of the bunch. "I'm greatly pleased with my team. Of course, we are not going to win every day like we did today," he said after the game, "but I can promise the fans that we will be just as much on our toes and always give the other fellow a battle and that they can consider this afternoon's showing a typical one"—which is fair enough.

While there have been closer games than that of yesterday, there have been few others here which have given the native hand-clappers more thrills. "General" Al Crowder pitched a masterly game as long as he lasted, but Skipper Cronin was quick to see that he was rapidly fading out in the seventh and did not hesitate to yank his ace in favor of Alphonse (Tommy) Thomas. And when Thomas went in the box, the A's chance went out of the ball park, for he retired the remaining six as fast as they showed up at the tee.

Crowder Yielded But Six Hits.

Crowder yielded but half a dozen hits, but three of them were good for extra bases and they were so

Post March Played At Inaugural Game

The big league baseball season here was opened to the tune of The Washington Post March at Griffith Stadium yesterday.

Swinging around the field to launch the pregame ceremonies, the Army Band paused at home plate to render the famous march composed by John Philip Sousa and dedicated to The Washington Post.

Savoldi and Referee To Work in Canada

Chicago, April 12 (A.P.).—Joe Savoldi, winner over Jim Londos in a wrestling match in the Chicago Stadium last Friday night, which brought about the indefinite suspension of the sport in Illinois, today signed a three-year contract with Promoter Joe Corcoran, of the Queensbury Sports Club, Toronto, Canada, for his wrestling services.

Bob Managoff, the referee who gave Savoldi the decision over Londos, bringing about a storm of accusations, attended the conference and indicated that he would work in many of Savoldi's matches in Canada.

Schmeling Opens Camp In Jersey on May 1

New York, April 12 (U.P.).—Max Schmeling will open his training camp about May 1 at the Lake Swannanoa Country Club, N. J., for his fifteen-round bout with Maxie Baer, Manager Joe Jacob announced tonight.

Schmeling is scheduled to arrive in New York Friday from Germany. He will go on a brief exhibition tour before starting training. The May 1 date will give him more than a month in which to condition himself for the Baer bout at Yankee Stadium on June 8.

Chisox Beat Browns; Simmons Hits Homer

St. Louis, April 12 (A.P.).—Durham and Heving allowed the St. Louis Browns only four hits and the Chicago White Sox won the opening game of the season today, 4 to 2.

Ralph Kress, who once wore a Brownie uniform, drove in three runs for Chicago. The other Sox run was a homer by Al Simmons in the fourth. Attendance was only 4,500 despite almost ideal weather and the attraction of beer. The score:

$7,500 Race to Draw Many Derby, Preakness Candidates.

Special to The Washington Post.

HAVRE DE GRACE, Md., April 12.—W. R. Coe's Ladysman, generally considered favorite for the Kentucky Derby, heads the list of 48 nominations for the $7,500 Chesapeake, the outstanding 3-year-old race of the thirteen-day spring meeting, which opens Saturday.

In attracting 48 nominations, Race Secretary Joseph McLennan drew eight more entries than were handed in for last year's race, thus giving him an increase in every stake to be run here this spring. It is high tribute to McLennan's ability, as well as proving that the sport of kings, which enjoyed a highly successful winter season, is destined to retain its popularity in Maryland this spring.

The Chesapeake, closing feature of the Harford Agricultural and Breeders Association's session, will be offered on Saturday, April 29, get-away day. The race will be the final public one for the East's Kentucky Derby candidates; therefore, a record turnout of fans is anticipated.

George D. Widener, popular Pennsylvania sportsman, who won last year's running with Evening, will attempt to make it two straight this year with Don Guzman, a bay gelded son of St. James and Armada.

Star 3-Year-Olds Named.

Every 3-year-old with any pretentions to class has been named for the Chesapeake, nominations for which follow:

G. H. Bostwick's Garden Message, Brookmeade Stable's Inlander and Caesars Ghost, F. A. Carreaud's Levasl, Catwaba Farms' Mr. Khayyam and Good Advice, W. E. Coe's Ladysman, Pomponius, Pomposity and Pompoleon; William H. Gallagher's Crack Flyer, Glen Riddle Farm's War Glory and War Stripes, Cary T. Grayson's Band Wagon.

Greentree Stable's Dynastic, Easy Day and Jungle King; F. A. Griffith's Sarada; J. Simon Healy's Coat Tails; Maxwell Howard's Resurrection and St. Stephens, John E. Hughes' Silent Shot, Willis Sharpe Kilmer's Dark Law, Dark Winter, Sun Apollo and Dark Conquest; S. W. Labrot's Rush Hour and Damascene, Llangollen Stable's Poppyman and Crowning Glory, Mose Lowenstein's My Counsellor and Cruising.

P. A. Markey's Swinhaven, H. C. Phipps' De Valera and Enthusiast, Adolphe Pons' Projectile and Swivel, Quincy Stable's Repaid, Lee Rosenberg's Kerry Patch, Sage Stable's Sang Froid, M. L. Schwartz's Clarify and Gold Basis, Wheatley Stable's Edelweiss and Utopian, C. V. Whitney's The Dark and Volette, George D. Widener's Don Guzman and William Ziegler, jr.'s Keep Out.

Record for Race Threatened.

Sandy Beal, winner of the inaugural Chesapeake in 1930, and Bobashela, who scored in 1928, are joint holders of the time record of 1:45 1-5 for the Chesapeake. However, these figures stand a chance of being erased from the record books this year.

A checkup of the stables already on the grounds shows that the best caliber of thoroughbred ever to race here is awaiting Saturday's opener. There are more than 1,000 horses on the grounds, with 1,500 additional quartered at other State tracks; therefore one can expect high class racing throughout the thirteen-day session, which marks the opening of the Eastern season.

Folks forced to use trains getting here from Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia, Wilmington, Chester and other Eastern cities can do so at a 40 per cent reduction over last year. The low rate was brought about following a conference between General Manager Edward Burke and the officials of both the Pennsylvania and B. & O. Railroads.

The racing strip, due to the untiring efforts of Supt. James Ross and his staff, is in grand condition. The entire plant has been dolled up and when visitors arrive on Saturday they are going to call it the most picturesque race course in the State.

The Waite stall gate, which will be used to send all fields away, is in position, and the horsemen are now marking time to Saturday's opening.

Caterwaul Leading Whitney Nominee for Coming Derby

By THOMAS H. NOONE.

NEW YORK, April 12 (U.P.).—Caterwaul, coal black son of Mad Hatter, out of Purr, heads the list of six nominees from the stables of C. V. Whitney to the Kentucky Derby early next month.

Caterwaul, a long barreled, leggy colt, made ten trips to the races in 1932. He won three races, two of them stake events, finished second twice and was third on three occasions. He finished fourth on the list of money winners with earnings of $55,897.

Brought to the racing wars at Belmont Park on May 12, Caterwaul raced the Pelican to a head in his first start, while beating such good youngsters as De Valera and New Sun. Two days later he started in the Keene Memorial Stakes, earning brackets at the expense of Happy Gal.

Conceding Happy Gal 5 pounds in the Juvenile Stakes on May 26, the Whitney colt was beaten a neck by this good filly, but on June 4 he was returned triumphant in the National Stakes at the Westchester Racing Association's course on Long Island.

Rested up after the Belmont meeting, Caterwaul made his next start in the Saratoga Special on August 13 at the Spa, running third to Happy Gal and Ladysman. This was his only start at the up-State New York track.

Caterwaul's next race was in the Belmont Futurity, in which he finished fourth, behind Kerry Patch, Ladysman and Dynastic. A flying trip to Havre de Grace netted him victory in the rich Eastern Shore Handicap, and he came back to Aqueduct to finish a well-beaten third, back of Repaid and Kerry Patch, after suffering much interference in the running of the Junior Champion Stakes at the latter course.

Third was the best he could do in the Breeders Futurity at Latonia in mid-October, bowing to Technique and his stablemate, The Darb. Shipping to Maryland, Caterwaul made his final start of the year in the Pimlico Futurity on November 5. He finished eighth in this event, beaten off.

Caterwaul is a fast horse on last year's form and a superior mudder. One of his best races, the Eastern Shore Handicap at Havre de Grace, was in that kind of going.

How sound his underpinnings are can only be conjectured. One of his knees was not so good last season, and he was punch fired when retired to winter quarters at Red Bank, N. J. However, Tom Healey, his trainer, says he has progressed wonderfully over the winter and hopes to bring him to the races during the Havre de Grace meeting, which starts Saturday, April 15.

BARRY FACES TEST IN HUNT

Dempsey to Referee Bout in Boston Tuesday Night.

GREATLY encouraged by his victory over Unknown Winston, recently in Holyoke, Mass., Washington's aspirant for heavyweight championship honors, Donald (Red) Barry, will attempt to hurtle over another obstacle in his path next Tuesday night at the arena of the Argonne A. C. in Boston, where he will engage Babe Hunt, the Oklahoma beak buster, in the feature ten-round match on a program that will present Max Schmeling, former champion, in an exhibition.

Another one-time boxing luminary, Jack Dempsey, former world's heavyweight champion, will referee the Barry-Hunt melee—the first time the Manassa Mauler has been the third man in a ring when the Washington boy is boxing.

Meets Birkie Again on May 1.

Word also came from Mushky Jackson, Barry's manager-trainer, that the District flash would meet Hans Birkie at Holyoke, Mass., on May 1 in a return scrap. New York ring experts were loud in their protests of the decision handed down against Barry when he met Birkie in Gotham two months ago.

Barry's itinerary also will carry him to Springfield, Mass., where he will meet Johnny Risko, the Cleveland rubber man, on May 15 on a big benefit card that is conducted annually and attracts thousands of fans.

Successful in getting by Hunt, Birkie and Risko, Barry may find himself pitted against Stanley Poreda, probably on the Schmeling-Baer card June 8 in New York.

SPRING LIFE-SAVING COURSE

The spring life-saving course will open at the Y. M. C. A. in the men's pool tomorrow. Classes will be held on Monday and Friday at 8 p. m. The course consists of ten lessons. The Y. M. C. A. Life Saving and American Red Cross examinations are given at the completion of the course, and Y. M. C. A. registered examiners cards awarded.

COURT TITLE TO NAVAL RESERVES

Friendship Five 30-25 Victim in Southeast Finals.

IN the final game of the Southeast Community Center basket ball tournament at Hine Junior High School last night Naval Reserves defeated Friendship House, 30 to 25. In the preliminary Congress Heights were victors over Easton A. C., 40 to 27.

Waverly Wheeler, Tech High star, was the big siege gun for the Reserves, shooting nine baskets and he was also a tower of strength on the defense. The game was nip and tuck up to the last few minutes of play, when Boyd, Thomas and Ellington put the game on ice with three beautiful shots.

At the conclusion of the game Mrs. Davis, secretary of the center, presented Capt. Boyd, of the Reserves, with a silver trophy, complimenting the teams and Jack Haas, athletic director, who staged the tournament.

Northeast Ring Team Meets Alexandrians

Northeast Boys Club mittmen will play host to the visiting Alexandria Boys Club ring team tonight in a match starting at 8:30 o'clock. It will be the rubber of a three-match series. Northeast won the first setto, 3-2, and the Virginians copped the second by a 4-2 margin.

Joe Kmech, of Alexandria, and Creighton Allen, Northeast, will clash in the feature bout. Kmech is undefeated in four bouts. Nine bouts are scheduled.

AT THE POST

with Bill Bennings

DEAR AL: LEXINGTON, KY., APRIL 12.

Well, friend, business is not so bad here from a Bennings angle. Five winners Monday, two winners yesterday and four winners today. Yes, sir, Scotland Beauty, Ruckus, Genteel Lady and Hamburger Jim all turned the trick. At that, I'm glad I have only two more days here before moving to Havre de Grace. Mike is supposed to be up there now digging up some good things. If you must play them tomorrow, you might go to these in your own small way.

BILL.

FIRST RACE—BROMBO is everything I have said he is. The Chance Play gelding will draw plenty of play in this and I can't see him missing. Campaigned well at New Orleans. LAST STAND and DEWHURST appear to have the edge on the others.

SECOND RACE — CONVENTION looked good here the other day and I understand the stable has been casting eyes on this purse. Gets in with the light weight of the party. PETITE ANNE has backers among the clockers. LADY HOCKBERGER for the show end.

THIRD RACE—VONAIR packs a closing punch that may carry the Wildair colt home ahead of this field. Came from eighth to be second to Binding Time at New Orleans. DOUBLE O has been threatening to wake up and this would be a logical spot. BETTY BEAU to show.

FOURTH RACE—The Greentree Stable's COURLAND, a Broadside filly, could use this race as a stepping-stone out of the maiden ranks. Has some experience and is backed by some good works. FIJI and LITTLE JOYCE for the rest of it.

FIFTH RACE—CAPTAIN RED and BRASS MONKEY will battle it out for this purse, or I miss my guess. The Captain gets my call due to his recent fine effort. Of the others, I'd prefer PEGGY LEHMAN as a show proposition.

SIXTH RACE—MAKING BUBBLES and DEEMSTER get the 1-2 places on my list here, although I understand MOREHEART may be sent postward with serious designs on the long dough.

SEVENTH RACE—LADY DEAN, one that I chased into the money in Florida, finds a field here that she should handle. Gets in with only 103 pounds. PURLIE and MAGNA MATER for the show.

EIGHTH RACE—MUDRAKER will appreciate track conditions tomorrow and I look for a winning performance. EDITH A. and MISS FRISKY appear the best placed of the others.

Bright Bubble Lexington Winner

Takes Feature Race by Five Lengths; Next Call Next.

LEXINGTON RACE TRACK, April 12 (A.P.).—The return of warm weather combined with a good program drew out a fairly good attendance at the local track today. The racing strip was heavy but drying out fast.

The feature race, the Ashland, was won by Bright Bubble. Bright Bubble rushing to the lead soon after the start led all the way to land the money. She certainly liked the heavy going and quickly showed just how the race should be run. She took a long lead, made Flying Dere quit when she attempted to follow her and when Next Call challenged in the stretch, easily drew away to win by five lengths. Next Call was second and Nituma third, three lengths back. The winner paid $9.90 for $2.

Jockey Geving Banned For Meet.

The apprentice jockey, J. Westrope, who has every promise of developing into a good rider, gave further evidence of his fine horsemanship by landing Scotland Beauty a winner over a big field of platers in the opener.

Little Westrope has run up quite a following among the local players and the lad always receives a good hand when he returns to the scales. He got Scotland Beauty away flying, but was joined by Birthday Gift. They ran like a team for 5 furlongs, then Westrope shot Scotland Beauty to the front and, drawing away, won by two lengths in 1:14 3-5. Magna Mater came along in the final sixteenth and nabbed the place from Birthday Gift by half a length. The winner paid $6.30.

There was a lot of crowding in the second race, a baby event, 4 furlongs, and Braedal, with D. McAuliffe up, went down just after rounding out of the back stretch. The boy appeared to have escaped serious injury. The winner turned up in Mr. Bun, which paid $28.12. Sabre Flash was second with Four Spot third.

Scotland Beauty Wins Opener.

Jockey L. Geving was suspended for the remainder of the meeting for causing the spill in the second event in which Braedal fell.

Ruckus, well played, led all the way in the mile and 70 yard gallop to land the third purse by 1½ lengths. Red Polly annexed the place, with Romac third. Ruckus, which paid $7.20, got away flying and kept out in the dry going and simply ran away from the field to win.

Whisking, fresh from the South, where he performed brilliantly, kept up his good form by annexing the fourth race, a sprint over the Futurity Course. Whisking was the choice, and W. Curran quickly ran him into a long lead. The son of Whiskaway spread-eagled his field for speed and won by four lengths in 1:14 1-5. Young Bill easily took the place from Different. The winner paid $5.

Genteel Lady, who suffered a defeat on the second day here, came right back with another sparkling performance to anex the purse in the fifth race, which was for 2-year-old fillies at a half mile. The veteran K. Horvath had the mount, and he was a bit slow in getting the filly away.

Genteel Lady Shows Great Speed.

Genteel Lady had so much speed that she quickly ran up and into the lead as the field turned into the stretch. The rest of the journey was easy. Genteel Lady won by two lengths over Ginga, who, in turn, beast Customer 1½ lengths for the place. The time was 51 4-5.

N. Y. Racing Will Start On May 6

Jamaica Opens First; Admission Prices Are Reduced.

NEW YORK, April 12 (A.P.).—New York State's abbreviated racing season will open May 6 at Jamaica, according to the schedule of dates drawn up by representatives of the five racing associations today to be presented to the Jockey Club for approval tomorrow.

The meeting at Jamaica, which has opened the metropolitan season the middle of April in past years, will run for twelve days following on which there will be short sessions at Belmont Park, Aqueduct, Empire City, Saratoga and a fall meeting at Belmont. No action was taken on fall meetings at the other courses.

In their application to the Jockey Club for sanction of the dates, the associations are expected to ask for extra days as a matter of record. Whether they operate for the entire period will be optional, depending on the public's support, except at Belmont Park, where Joseph E. Widener announced there would be twelve days of racing to run off the scheduled stakes.

General Admission Reduced.

The heads of the associations also agreed to reduce the general admission to $2.50, plus the usual tax, and the clubhouse fee for men to $5 and for women, $3.50.

Under the proposed schedule there will be a lapse of several days between each meeting. If the public support warrants, however, the associations will be permitted to fill in the open dates.

In the list of tentative dates, Saratoga was not included, although George Bull, president of the Saratoga Racing Association, was present at the meeting. The upstate track, however, is expected to run as usual in August, curtailing its meeting from 80 days to about 20 days.

The tentative schedule: Jamaica—May 6-20 (12 days). Belmont Park—May 27-June 10 (12 days, second Monday excluded). Aqueduct—June 17-July 4 (15 days). Empire City—July 8-July 29 (19 days). Belmont Park—September 4-16 (12 days).

BOXING AT Y. M. C. A.

A boxing match in conjunction with the George Washington Squared Circle Club will be staged by the Central Y. M. C. A. at the "Y" gym on Saturday night, April 22, with each organization slated to put on six bouts.

Among the up-and-coming boxers from the "Y" who will be seen in action are Mark Mooney, welterweight; Doc Blue, a lightweight; Winston Mooney, a middleweight, and Curtis Varah, former heavyweight champion of the Marine Corps.

Hitting the Headpin

Rendezvous, with a team game of 570 and set of 1,580, defeated Recreation last night, as Elsie Fischer rolled a 121 and 351 to lead the attack.

Meyer Davis girls beat the Petworth in two games, Hazel Jarrett toppling the maples for 124 and 322.

Mount Rainier beat Lucky Strike in two, as Mrs. Sonnenburg captured honors with 125 and 317, and Columbia took two from Arcadia, as Katherine Quigley featured with 113 and 323.

Feighenne hung up an all-time game record for the Electrical League at Convention Hall last night when he upset 171 pins. He finished with a 375 set. Exide Battery rolled 621 and 1,640 to lead the teams.

Occidental Hotel rolled 667 and 1,861 to take all three from Beaver Dam in the District League at Convention Hall. Astor Clarke's 383 set was high and Dutch Newman captured game honors with 147.

Convention Hall took all three from Columbia in another District League match at the Hall as Eddie Espey clicked the wood for a 154 game and 401 set. The winning team rolled 646 and 1,861.

Garibaldi and Ernie Dusek Promise Battle Tonight

A COUPLE of gents in the rough, Gino Garibaldi and Ernie Dusek, supply the principal amount of energy to be expended tonight at the Auditorium in the weekly mat show to be presented under the auspices of Joe Turner.

No holds barred, but no hitting the referee, is the keyword tonight. Both boys employ the unskilled labor style of wrestling, so Turner has agreed to be as lenient as possible with the rules in order to assure them of an enjoyable evening.

Garibaldi returns after a 60-day vacation, taken at the request of Turner, who deemed it prudent to bar the olive-skinned Italian for that period following his disqualification in a match with Frank Judson. Garibaldi also had a request to make upon his return—that Referee Bennah Bortnick be kept out of the ring. While Bortnick will be in the vicinity tonight, it is hardly likely he will officiate.

Ernie Dusek, the other half of the feature go, has promised to contribute to the gaiety of the evening. Ernie says he can take care of himself, and if he can't, Big Brother Rudy will see Garibaldi in the dressing room after the match and have an understanding with him.

Dick Raines, the Titanic Texan, who evoked more Bronx berries in his initial appearance here than any other man has ever received, tries for a new record against gentle Casey Berger in the 45-minute semifinal.

Everett Marshall, the blond Californian with that enormous chest expansion, will be introduced to George Zaharias in the principal 30-minute preliminary, and two more bouts of the same duration complete the bill. Abe Coleman tangles with Karl Davis, and Vic Christy engages George Hill.

SUTTER WINS PINEHURST MATCH

Gains Quarter-Finals With 6 Other Seeded Tennis Stars.

PINEHURST, N. C., April 12 (A.P.).—Seven of the eight seeded players and Marcel Rainville, the Canadian Davis Cup star, moved into the quarter-final round of the North and South tennis tournament today.

At the same time play got under way in the men's doubles and mixed doubles with the favorites advancing with ease.

Clifford Sutter, of New Orleans, seeded No. 1, advanced with a 6—0, 9—7 victory over Elmer Griffin, of the University of North Carolina, while Rainville turned back Charles Harris, of Palm Beach, Fla., the Duke University freshman who yesterday eliminated Berkeley Bell, of New York, eighth seeded player.

Sutter and Rainville meet tomorrow. In other quarter-final matches Lester Stoefen, of Los Angeles, will play J. Gilbert Hall, of Orange, N. J.; Frank X. Shields, of New York, meets Bryan Grant, of Atlanta, and Gregory Mangin, of Newark, N. J., plays George M. Lott, jr., of Chicago.

Stoeffen and Lott Advance.

Stoefen and Lott, who drew first round byes, got into action today for the first time. Stoefen advanced with wins over William Campbell, of Houston, Tex., 6—2, 6—3; Richard Covington, of Asheville, 6—0, 6—4, and William Hines, of Columbia, S. C., 6—2, 6—3. Lott turned back Alvin Mann, of New Orleans, 6—1, 6—1; Walter Levitan, of North Carolina, 6—4, 9—7, and Barney Walsh, of Duke, 6—2, 5—7, 6—4.

The Walsh match was originally declared defaulted by Lott, but the Duke player arrived later in the day and Lott agreed to play him.

Miss Eliza Coxe, of Asheville; Mrs. John Van Ryn, of Philadelphia; Miss Florence Le Boutillier, of Westbury, Long Island, and Mrs. P. B. Hawk, of New York, advanced to the semifinals in the women's singles. Mrs. Van Ryn will play Miss Coxe tomorrow and Miss Le Boutillier meets Mrs. Hawk.

In the first round of mixed doubles Miss Coxe and Bell teamed to defeat Miss Mary King-Smith and Covington, and Mr. and Mrs. John Van Ryn defeated Miss Dorothy Day and Howard Hoyt, of New York.

Mangin and Bell, Stofen and Grant, Lott and Van Ryn and Hall and Rainville advanced in the men's doubles with victories over teams from Wake Forest, Duke University and the University of North Carolina.

A. A. U. Title Handball Semifinals Tonight

Three Y. M. C. A. men and one from the Jewish Community Center will clash tonight in the semifinals of the District A. A. U. hand ball championship at the "Y" courts.

Joe Cowley, who beat Paul Parlman, 21-7, 21-19, takes on Jack Kosowski, of the J. C. C., and J. B. Payne, who whipped Bill Neville, 21-18, 21-19, opposes George Newman, conquerer of Dan Arnold, 21-11, 21-15. The Payne-Newman tilt starts at 5 o'clock, the other semifinal going on an hour later. The finals are slated for Saturday at 2 p. m.

JUNE 29 SET FOR PRIMO, SHARKEY

Promoters War Seen; Schmeling, Baer Due June 8.

By EDWARD J. NEIL.

NEW YORK, April 12 (A.P.).—A couple of months of jockeying for position in the early summer heavyweight derby came to an end today as Madison Square Garden grabbed June 29 for Jack Sharkey's title defense against Primo Carnera and created one of the most unusual situations in modern ring history.

That date is exactly 21 days after Jack Dempsey proposes to pit Max Baer, brawny California larruper, against Max Schmeling, former champion, in the Yankee Stadium, and marks the first time in years two rival promoters have warred to the extent of scheduling two major heavyweight shows within so short a space of time.

Agree to June 29 Date.

The New York State Athletic Commission, with only Chairman John J. Phelan in personal attendance, accepted Jimmy Johnston's request on behalf of the Garden for the June 29 date today. Rain kept Commissioners Wear and Muldoon at home, but the aged Muldoon quickly assented when reached by telephone.

Last week, after three hours of debate, the commission approved Dempsey's request to switch from June 1 to June 8.

The commission at that time decreed that the rival promoters "wouldn't be allowed to cut each other's throats" and mustn't stage their feature matches within 20 days of each other.

Both camps claimed victory in their efforts to get the first "shot" at boxing's playing clientele, greatly reduced in numbers due to economic conditions.

Dempsey has a clear road to the first open-air show of the season, but the gamble with bad weather so early in the summer shadowed his optimism. Commission authorities refused point blank to consider the possibility of a postponement of the Schmeling-Baer show that would bring it within 20 days of the Sharkey-Carnera date and thus violate their own new rule.

Johnston Satisfied, He Says.

Johnston claimed he had wanted June 29 all along because of the promise of better weather then, and the fact that he had a championship match to dangle before the thirsty customers.

"If Dempsey has to postpone his show, and it comes into the 20-day period, I'll fight 'em tooth and nail," he said. "They'll have to wait then until Sharkey and Carnera have fought it out. I may get the first crack at the customers."

In the meantime the Garden made preparations for another title match, this one involving the featherweight championship claims of Kid Chocolate, who sailed from Cuba as Seaman Watson left England for a 15-round bout here May 12. A previous match between the two was canceled when Chocolate became tangled in the immigration laws.

SHOLL'S QUINTET ADDS COMMUNITY CENTER LEAGUE CROWN

United Grays Lose Final, 42 to 19

Kiesel and Jones in Star Roles; Score 25-6 at Half.

Cafemen Also Won in A. A. U. Tourney for 2d Season.

A FRESH garland was added to the crown of Sholl's Cafe Basket Ball Team as the District A. A. U. champions smothered the United Typewriter Grays beneath a blanket of field goals to win a 42-19 victory and the sixteen-team Community Center League championship last night. A large crowd witnessed the battle at Central High School.

There was to have been another game, and possibly a third, comprising a series for the championship, but the Grays hollered "nuff" when the opposition doubled the score on them.

Grays Trail, 25-6, At Half.

Hal Kiesel, center, and Bernie Jones, guard, led the double-barreled assault that added up to a 25-6 lead for the eventual winners at half-time. Latona and Phillips were the only members of the Grays to register a field goal in the initial period.

The affair lost all semblance of a contest at the start of the final half as Sholl goals continued to pour through the basket, and as the fray wore on the hash-slingers simply toyed with their opponents.

Deck Again Heads Capital City Tennis

Brown Also Retained at League Meeting; Five Teams Compete.

The Washington Tennis Association's annual meeting failed to materialize last night at Wardmen Park, but the Capital City Tennis League, which gathered at the same time, reorganized for the season and announced that play would begin on Sunday, April 23.

Pat Deck was reelected president of the league and J. Frank Brown secretary-treasurer. The same five teams that competed in the 1932 race will vie again this year. They are Wardman Park, champions; Veterans' Administration, H. Wood, Claremont and Filipino Club.

A schedule will be adopted in the next few days.

It was announced that the tennis association would meet next Wednesday at Wardman Park.

St. John's Lacrosser Drinks Beer; Banned

Annapolis, Md., April 12 (A.P.).—Coach William A. "Dinny" Moore, of the St. John's College lacrosse team, has suspended Edward "Whip" Williams, of Hasbruck, N. J., star midfielder for three seasons, from the squad because he drank 3.2 per cent beer.

Govt. Court League Title Game Tonight

The National Federation of Federal Employes Trophy and a second consecutive Government Basket Ball League championship will belong to Investigation if the Sleuths are able to down G. P. O. in their second series game tonight at 8:30 on the Bolling Field court.

Investigation won the first tilt, 20 to 16, but if G. P. O. wins tonight, a final and deciding clash will be staged tomorrow.

Rain, Snow Prevents International Openers

New York, April 11 (A.P.).—Rain today washed out one of the two opening games in the International Baseball League and caused the postponement of the inaugural games at Newark and Jersey City tomorrow.

The all-day rain, which turned into snow this evening, caused the Newark and Jersey City officials to announce they would play their opening games with Montreal and Buffalo, respectively, Friday. The Albany-Rochester inaugural at Albany, scheduled for today, also was put over until Friday when the storm left the field covered by several inches of snow.

In the only game played today the Baltimore Orioles came from behind to defeat the Toronto Maple Leafs, 12 to 7, at Baltimore.

D. C. BOXING BILL UP.

Representative Loring Black, jr., (Democrat), New York, yesterday reintroduced in the House his bill to legalize boxing in the District.

BLUE RIBBONS CHALLENGE.

The Blue Ribbons would like to schedule games with the Washington Red Sox, St. Mary's Celtics, French's A. C. and other strong unlimited teams. Those desiring games should call North 0749 after 7 p. m. The Blue Ribbons play the Adjutant General's office of the War Department, Saturday afternoon.

The Flag Goes Up and the First Ball Goes Out at Griffith Stadium

Louis Johrden, Post Staff Photographer.

President Treats Ball Fans To Prize Fighters' Salute

his duty wrapped up in a great coat big enough to cover the infield.

The President and his party drove up outside the right field wall of the ballyard in an open car and paused while the chauffeur blew a mighty peal with his horn. The walls didn't exactly fall down in response to this blast, but suddenly a section opened away and the presidential automobile rolled through the gap and onto the greensward amid cheers from the 25,000 citizens assembled around and about. The President's is a convenient way to go to the ball game for the official barouche slid across the grass and delivered him square in front of his reserved box from which a little inclined platform, carpeted in green, ran a few feet down to the field. He waited in the car quite a long time while the United States Army Band played the National Anthem, including several encores, then dismounted, following Mrs. Roosevelt up the aisle to the box.

They say that Warren Harding, when he was President, used to keep a complete box score, including fouls over the roof, but when someone behind him handed a score card over Mr. Roosevelt's shoulder, he first tried to ignore it but presently accepted, as if to quiet a pest, and a few minutes later shoved it over to Mrs. Roosevelt. She, in turn, managed to ease it along to someone else and they settled down to observe the contest entirely by ear, as it were.

Garner Threatens To Cut Off Throw.

The official first-ball-throwing-out was clowned up somewhat when Alexander Throttlebottom Garner, the Vice President, who hasn't seen his picture in print since coronation day, moved into the scene and stood a few steps in front of Mr. Roosevelt, waving his hands as though to intercept the toss.

"What's goin' on here? What's goin' on?" Mr. Garner demanded jovially, and the President, with a remark to their photographers that their lives were in danger, standing in the line of his high swift to photograph the same head-on, fetched it a flip to Nick Altrock. And just then Johnny Kerr, a forgotten man who escaped from the White Sox by the underground railway, hopped in front of the old Nick and stole the honor of fielding the Presidential throw.

There was a chunky party in a dark overcoat and iron hat sitting on the President's right, and in the next seat away there loomed the tall, wide physique of Mr. Jim Farley, the Postmaster General, who used to play a pretty fair armful of first base for the Haverstraw (N. Y.) Excelsiors, a uniformed club which didn't play many games because the boys refused to play teams which didn't have regular baseball suits.

Mr. Farley Wore His Iron Hat.

They found few social equals in the neighboring towns of Nyack, Sparkill and West Point, and won the uniformed championship of three townships almost by default on this account. Mr. Farley wore an iron hat too, concealing the familiar gleam of his nude scalp, which had become part of the scene at the ringside at Madison Square Garden over the course of a thousand and one nights among the cauliflowers. His iron hat bobbed and hopped upon his noble brow in unison with the beat of his jaws as he sat there crunching his wad of chewing gum, the Postmaster General's only vice.

Mr. Farley was four rows to the rear of Mr. Roosevelt in the original seating arrangement, but a couple of innings' time found him right up there with his man. He didn't spend all those years among the fight managers for nothing and history has shown repeatedly that if a manager brings a man along to the championship it is just as well to hang pretty close to him, just in case. Jack Kearns neglected this in the case of Jack Dempsey and lost him. Uncle Will Gibson had a similar misfortune with Gene Tunney.

Berg's Presence Boosts Average Intelligence.

There was a vaguely familiar figure in a Washington uniform serving as warm-up catcher between innings, who turned out to be himself, Moe Berg, the noted philologist and linguist, who has studied in so many universities in so many lands that he has wound up speaking pidgin English. Mr. Berg is another who escaped from the White Sox. And who showed up in back of first base for the Athletics, yowling and mooing at the base runners, but old Lena Blackburne, who signed to serve as manager of the White Sox that year but found himself working as sparring partner for Art Shires, instead.

The patrons hopped up full of commotion when Fred Schulte hit a long triple to left field in the fourth inning, but if not the longest hit ever seen on these grounds then, anyway, the longest seen here this year up to that time. He scored on an unexpected single by Oswald Bluege. There was a sort of lake in center field, reminiscent of the days when Tris Speaker, afflicted with ailing dogs, used to swamp the ground with a garden hose in the mornings so that fly balls would plop dead for him and he could stand there cooling his feet in the ooze.

None of That Wicked Decimal Brew.

They were selling none of that wicked brew in the Washington ballyard, because, for one thing, old Clark Griffith, the local proprietor, looked upon his last beer many years ago and decided that there was nothing but grief and repining in the alecrock. The ballyard lies just within a surveyor's mile of the Old Soldiers Home, and the story is that when this home was established, evil characters of both sexes and all descriptions took to hanging around the institution gates on pay days preying on the lads for their pension money. Therefore Congress got up a law to forbid the sale of alcoholic beverages within a mile of the place, and, although most of the inmates have gone over the hills to Arlington since that time and the few who remain are not so spry as to sneak over to Griffith's ball yard for any decimal beers at this time, the law remains on the books. Of course, this beer is legally nonintoxicating, but that is something that the prohibition ladies will take up in due time.

G. W. Golf Team Trials Due Today

East Potomac Links Scene; Baseball Players in Night Practice.

Easter holidays begin today for all but George Washington's small army of athletes. Starting at 3 o'clock this afternoon tryouts for the golf team will be held at East Potomac Park. Eighteen holes of medal play followed by a similar number tomorrow comprise the test.

Capt. Bill Coleman is the only veteran on the team. Four players and an alternate will be selected to play the five matches scheduled.

Nearing the completion of a lengthy elimination tournament, the tennis team travels to Baltimore Saturday for a bit of volleying with Johns Hopkins' netmen.

Randy Robinson, No. 3 man of the team last year and a well known public parks performer, tops the list of candidates. Larry and Raphael Sherfey, Dewitt Bennett, and a newcomer, Clyde Smith, are well up on the list.

The Colonial baseball team plans to stage its initial workout at Griffith Stadium tonight, weather permitting.

UNION PRINTERS PRACTICE.

Members of the Union Printers Baseball Team are requested to report for practice this afternoon at 4 o'clock at the West Ellipse diamond. Manager Heinie Webb will conduct another workout at the same time tomorrow.

Ring Results

New York, April 12 (U.P.).—Nick Lutze, California, threw Charley Lehman, Boston; Sam Cardovano, New York, threw George Manich, New Jersey; Al Grant, New York, threw Gene Bruce, Norway; Joe Komar, Lithuania (drew) Joe Shimkus, Lithuania; Bert Freeman, New York, threw Jack Burke, Omaha.

Vice President Wears His Rubbers After All

A little thing like rough weather or bad underfooting does not feaze that big, he-man from Texas, Vice President John N. Garner.

Yesterday morning, President Clark Griffith of the Nats phoned Mr. Garner regarding plans of march to the flagpole preceding the game.

"You had better wear your rubbers," Griffith suggested.

"How deep is the water in the outfield?" asked Mr. Garner.

"There's no water, but it's very muddy," was the answer.

"Oh, the heck with the mud," came back over the wire from the V. P.

But, when "Cactus Jack" appeared to make the march, it was noted that he wore a nice, new pair of rubbers.

NOTES OF GAME

Members of the presidential and vice presidential party were the only fans viewing yesterday's game on "Annie Oakleys."

Petey Sarron, popular with Portner's ring fans, had a long chat with "General" Al Crowder in the Nats' locker room before the game. He hails from Birmingham and knew Crowder when he hurled there for the Barons.

Fifty-eight cops drew yesterday's best assignment, being on duty at the stadium. Like the scribes they saw everything and yet drew pay for it.

Chattanooga is returning two rookies to the Nats—Pitcher Eddie Edelen and Outfielder Walter Cazen. President Griffith hopes to be able to place them in the minors.

Walter Johnson missed his first opportunity to see a game as a second-guesser. He was conspicuous by his absence yesterday.

Catcher Luke Sewell made a good start as a stopper of base thieves. He easily tossed out Bishop when he tried to steal in the first.

Kuhel tried to catch the A's napping in the first and bunted, but Freitas made a nice play and nipped him at first.

Freitas' cleats evidently caught on the pitching slab with Cronin on first in the native second. When the little left-hander stumbled off the hill without letting the ball go, he was charged with a balk and Cronin was franked to second.

But for the heavy going, Schulte might have caught Cihocki's three-base looper, almost to the flagpole, in the third. At that, he made a great try for it.

The Mackmen are not the speedsters they think they are. In the fourth, Cochrane tried to carry on to second on Kuhel's error and was caught and then a fast return, Schulte to Cronin to Bluege caught Cramer when he tried to stretch a double into a triple.

Cochrane evidently had plenty of respect for Goslin's throwing arm in the seventh, for he made no motion of continuing on to third when Cramer followed his walk with a single to right.

Alphonse (Tommy) Thomas started warming up for the Nats in the seventh when the A's began making merry at Crowder's expense. He would have gotten the call had not the General pulled himself out of a hole by starting a double play, which Sewell and Kuhel completed for him with the runways packed. The change came in the next round, though, after Dave Harris had pinch-hit for the pitcher.

Cronin made quite a grab when he gathered in Cochrane's low liner opening the ninth.

President Roosevelt proved to be a real baseball fan. As the game was over and Pilot Cronin was rushing to the dressing room, the Chief Executive called to the Nat leader, shook hands with him again and said, "Nice work, Joe."

Mack Learns All About It After His Boys Lose, 4-1

trying to help out with the batting than sitting on the bench praying for your young men to get a hit and wishing for the good old days when Simmons, Dykes, Haas and Foxx were always hanging about with a handy home run or two.

You could hardly blame Tony Freitas, either, Connie. The young fellow did tolerably well, allowing the Nats only six hits and two runs in the seven innings he worked, but with Crowder chucking 'em over the way Crowder chucks 'em your boys had a 1-run deficit when both these pitchers left the game in the seventh inning.

But it was a grand fight, Connie, and you'd have enjoyed it—up until the game started. President Roosevelt came up from the White House and rolled right inside the park in D. C. license No. 101, while 23,359 paying customers stood with their heads bared as our Army Band played "Hail to the Chief." Of course, President Roosevelt was a crash customer, not a cash customer, but he stood up just the same as if he were, and it would have done your red blood good to see all this patriotism.

By the way, Connie, did you ever stop to think that baseball is the only industry that cashes in on the drawing power of the President and his official party? Or didn't you? They say that Griff has him under contract for the next three years, too.

They must have meant what they said, Connie, about the new deal. It was the first time both the President and the Vice President teamed in officiating at an opening ball game here. Mr. Garner, in his official capacity, led the parade to the flagpole, and we've got pictures in the paper to prove it. I might mention, too, Connie, that your boys outstepped the Nats on the way to the flag-raising. I always suspected Bing Miller of being a top sergeant and, althought the Washington line of march wasn't much to beat, your boys kept step so much better that there were whispers in the grand stand.

Too bad about Jimmy Foxx, Connie. With no Simmons and no Foxx, your boys were in a bad way. Dib Williams as a first baseman is a fair shortstop, but no harm came of him. But up there at the plate you couldn't fool anybody about Williams not being Foxx. I hear that Foxx was ready to play, but missed both the train and the airplane, like you did. Is that right, Connie, and if so, why?

Cronin Hogs Hits For Nats.

All our boys were in good health yesterday, Connie. Of course, with Cronin hogging three hits there weren't a great many more to go around, but Fred Schulte, our new outfielder, hit a triple and a single, and Joe Kuhel got a triple for himself. Kuhel made an error, like Max Bishop did, but the difference is that Kuhel's error didn't hurt anything but his fielding average.

I thought for a minute that we were playing the West Philly High School boys when the A's took the field with your lads answering to such names as Finney, Johnson, Higgins, Cihocki and Freitas. But I did recognize Mickey Cochrane behind the bat, and, of course, Mickey warn't playing with no West Philly High. I guess it was true about all this revamping business on the A's. Cochrane and Bishop were the only two from the Old Guard that won pennants in 1929, 1930 and 1931. But I guess, Connie, that you know that as well as I do.

For a young fellow, our boy, Joe Cronin, is a wise, old head. Fr instance, in the seventh inning, when your lads started to hit General Crowder's pitches right on the nose, Joe had Al Thomas warming up in the bull pen for quick action. And then when the General did get the side out with your only run scored, Joe figured that he was weakening a bit, and sure enough, he put Thomas in the game. By the way, Connie, against Thomas in the last two innings, your boys got no runs, and no hits, just by way of detail.

Bishop Opens With Single.

It was a treat to see Max Bishop strike a blow for the Old Guard, Connie, by leading off the game with a base hit to center field, but he can run only so fast, and when he tried to get away with a steal of second, Lukey Sewell pitched one down to Cronin and there were two out and none on. I might say at this point that just before that happened your young Mr. Finney had stood stock still and watched our Mr. Crowder throw a third strike past your Mr. Finney.

This Cronin fellow is smart as a whip if you don't watch him, and what should he do but order Kuhel to bunt to start the Nats off. Kuhel didn't get away with it, but it just shows you how these young fellows like Cronin think.

When Cronin stepped to the plate to start the second with your boys still scoreless, it could be seen that his managerial duties, as lots of people claimed, were weighing heavily on his mind. He was as chipper as a lark and promptly banged a single to center field, the poor kid. Your Mr. Freitas then kindly balked him to second, a wasted effort inasmuch as Goslin drew a walk right after. Cronin went to third when Schulte hit a fly ball, and, by golly, what should he do but score while your Mr. Bishop was attempting to complete a double play on Bluege's grounder and threw the ball too low for Dib Williams, who, as I said, is no Jimmy Foxx.

Cihocki Auspicious In Debut.

Your young Mr. Cihocki, made his bow to big league pitching with a rollicking triple off Schulte's glove with one out in the third and Crowder, still amazed, walked Freitas. Bishop should have saved his first-inning hit. The fact is that he batted one to Joe Kuhel, who pitched it to Joe Cronin, who pitched it back to Joe Kuhel and your boys were retired on a double-play. You should have been here.

The next inning your boys ran wild on the bases—so wild that two of 'em were put out just like that. Mickey Cochrane got on when Kuhel let his grounder get away but they got him at second, Myer to Cronin. Then your Mr. Johnson hit a nice two bagger which was all it was worth and he was out at third, Schulte to Cronin to Bluege.

Crowder Goes to Weakening.

This fellow Crowder, who beat your boys 5 straight two years ago, and ended last season with 15 straight wins, as you know, Connie, was weakening in the seventh and you got your only run. He walked Mickey Cochrane to lead off and then Cramer got a single to right. Higgins brought him home with a single to left and three of your boys were on the bases with Cihocki up. Only one was out and things looked promising for your side, when what does Cihocki do, but bounce one back to Crowder, who slammed it to Sewell for a force-out at the plate, and what should Sewell do, but slam it to Kuhel to catch Cihocki for a double play.

This big Gowell Claset that Bing Miller put in in the eighth didn't go so good, either. Manush singled, Cronin singled and Goslin doubled and we had two more runs just like that. Your boys couldn't do anything about anything in the ninth, Connie.

Just thought you might like to know what happened down here.

Yours in sport,

S. L. P.

PHILS RELEASE HEATHCOTE

Philadelphia, April 12 (A.P.).—The Phillies of the National Baseball League tonight announced the unconditional release of Clif Heathcote, veteran outfielder.

Heathcote came to the Phillies last season and for a time acted as understudy to First Baseman Don Hurst, in addition to being on call for duty in the outer garden.

Indian Spring Women List Golf Dates

Baltimore Intercity Match Feature of 24-Event Card.

AN attractive golf schedule, which will be inaugurated on April 24, has been arranged for feminine members of Indian Spring, according to the program announced last night by Mrs. J. F. Gross, golf committee chairman.

Twenty-four events are on the links card, with the first team matches between clubs of the District of Columbia Women's Golf Association clashing in the curtain-raiser.

The date for the opening of the club championship tournament has been set for September 2, with the finals slated on or before October 1. Competition for the Wineman Cup, a 36-hole medal tournament, will take place during the month of October.

Intercity Match Listed With Baltimore.

An outstanding event on the calendar will be the intercity match with a team from Baltimore some time during September, the date of which will be announced later.

Serving with Mrs. Gross on the golf committee are Mrs. Betty Palmer Meckley, first team captain; Mrs. William Smith, second team captain; Mrs. Don Scott, handicapper, and Mrs. F. J. Kelly, in charge of prizes.

The schedule follows:

April 24, District first team matches; 29, Ringers tournament begins and ends on October 1; May 3, Ladies day, to be featured by golf class by George Diffenbaugh, pro; 4, Second team matches; 7, Mixed Scotch foursome; 23, Ladies day; 30, Flag tournament; June 4, Blind boxey; 13, Ladies day; 18, Mixed Scotch foursome; 27, Ladies day; July 4, Flag tournament; 9, Mixed Scotch foursome; 10, District Women's Golf Association Duffers' tournament; 16, Tombstone tournament; 23, Scotch foursome; 26, Ladies day; September 4, Mixed Scotch foursome; 6, Ladies day; 19, Ladies day.

September 2-3, Qualifying rounds of 18 holes for club championship; 4 to 10, First round match play; 11-17, Second round; 18 to 24, Semifinals; finals on or before October 1.

Golf history may be written at Rock Creek next week, with a record field expected to compete in the much-discussed Rock Creek open championship.

"Looks like our largest entry list," Al Price, professional, said yesterday in taking inventory of the number that already had signed up for play, starting next Tuesday.

With the tournament five days off, a total of 50 already has entered and before the end of the week the list is expected to mount over the century mark.

The championshp, which will have eighteen holes of qualifying Monday, and two matches on Wednesday and two on Thursday, will officially inaugurate the tournament season at Rock Creek. Practically all of the public links stars will try their fortunes in this event. John Connoly, John Downey, Ralph Bennie, George Marlow and Bobby Bowen are among the bright lights of the public links who will shoot for prizes in the various flights.

Here are others who have paid their 50 cents entry fee and are full-fledged contestants:

Frank Ward, Robert J. Marks, Richard F. Bowman, Andrew Oliveri, Bob Sibley, Frank D. Phillips, sr., Frank D. Phillips, jr., John Schultz, Buddy Sharkey, A. P. Hare, H. C. Bowers, G. W. Keene, Matt Walker, John M. Baer, George R. Sullivan, Walter B. Jarvis, Joseph Mecker, C. J. Williams, Harry Saunders, James Donohue, J. H. Jarman, Paul Heston, T. E. Wallace, R. R. Miller, James N. Miller, Larry Day, Tony Somers, Philip E. Wall, J. P. Robertson, E. L. Byers, D. E. O'Daniels, E. B. Ault, F. C. Winsap, Ralph H. Bean.

W. E. Coleman, P. T. Lawrence, L. K. Downey, C. L. Kessler, G. C. Heffner, D. J. Stalark, Tommy Thomas, M. O. Prasell, Oscar Fagan, Bob Lewis, Dave Bent, George Clark, Walter Haight and C. J. McCauley.

Perhaps he thought it was just another good shot, but George Richards' hole-in-one on the eighth of "B" course at Rock Creek the other day startled his numerous friends, and he was the recipient of congratulations when the news leaked out yesterday that he had registered his one and only ace.

Cliff Spencer's new golf shop situated in a strategic position—a short pitch from both the first and tenth tees—will be opened today, much to the delight of the Beaver Dam professional. The caddy house in the rear of the shop also will be opened.

Early this morning Spencer, and his brother assistant, Carroll, will direct the work of moving the golf equipments and other material from the old golf structure to the modernly equipped, green-painted shop.

Davis Cup Net Play Here Is Uncertain

No Interzone Final If Argentine Team Withdraws.

THE expected withdrawal of Argentina from the Davis Cup matches may mean the cancellation of the interzone finals scheduled at the Chevy Chase Club May 25, 26, 27, it was stated yesterday by Lawrence A. Baker, member of the Davis Cup committee and secretary of the United States Lawn Tennis Association.

In response to a query as to whether any other country would replace the South American champions in the event they definitely dropped from the competition with the United States, Mr. Baker wired the following telegram from New York, where he is spending a few days in business conferences:

No Interzone Finals Likely Here.

"No official confirmation Argentina is unable to play, but if they withdraw, the interzone finals probably will not be played this year."

A report from Buenos Aires the other day was to the effect that three of the five members of the South American squad informed the Argentine Tennis Association that they would be unable to compete in America because of the pressure of business and could not spare two months from work for the trip.

It has been bruited about in some quarters that Chile, which was second to Argentina in the South American zone, may be substituted in the matches with America at Chevy Chase.

All is not so well with Canada and Cuba with respect to their guarantee for the tie match which is to be played in the next few weeks, and with Argentina on the verge of quitting the competition this season, the Davis Cup committee will find the situation in a muddled condition when it convenes in the next few days to iron out matters.

Bishop McDowell, 75, Awarded Sports Letter

Delaware, Ohio, April 12 (A.P.).—Fifty-four years after his graduation from Ohio Wesleyan University, Bishop W. F. McDowell, of Washington, D. C., today was awarded the letter "W" by the university's board of athletics.

His loyalty to his alma mater and the fact that he is known as a "battling bishop," bought the award. Wesleyan's athletic teams use the name of "Battling Bishops."

The letter was presented by George Gauthier, director of athletics, while Bishop McDowell was speaking at chapel exercises. It came as a surprise to the 75-year-old cleric, who until his recent retirement was senior bishop of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

WHITEHILL-GROVE BATTLE SEEN TODAY

inserted as to keep him bearing down throughout—and he is not yet ready to travel at full speed for the entire route.

The Mackmen showed power at bat, but it was not the concerted power of old, just enough to make them troublesome. They were as tame as house tabbies in the first two rounds, but Crowder had troubles of various kinds in the third, fourth, sixth and seventh. A nobby double-murder helped him out in the third, wild and weird base-running by the A's in the fourth, and another twin-killing, started by the General himself, with the bases filled, saved him in the "lucky" frame. And at this stage, the Nats' margin was a whisker-one, 2 to 1.

What pleased the goodly gathering of fans almost as much as did the fact that the Nats won was the peppy and heads-up game displayed. Cronin's men, in addition to their mechanical ability and physical fitness, have absorbed much of his spirit and dash and reminded of a group of rah-rah boys willing to die for dear old Rutgers, rather than players using the game as a mode of livelihood. And that Cronin did not let his managerial duties affect his play is shown in the hit column of the box score, for he cracked out three singles, to take batting honors of the game.

Foxx, Mack Miss Airplane.

Both Jimmy Foxx and Manager Connie Mack were among the missing yesterday. The former undoubtedly was missed, but it is doubtful if the pilot's famous score-card wigwagging from the bench would have gotten any more hits for his men. Foxx had spent three days in the Graduate Hospital at Philadelphia being treated for a threatened infection on his left shin and he, with Skipper Mack as the nurse, had planned to come to the Capital yesterday in time for the game. Hearing of the morning rain, however, they delayed making a start and then, after deciding to come by airplane, missed catching it at the airport.

Although his team is physically fit, Manager Cronin has announced that his Nats will practice the few mornings they remain at home before starting West on May 2. "We won't have any opportunity for drills when we leave town so I feel that I should take advantage of the few chances we have here," the boy leader explained.

Because of his proximity to the center of play, Cronin states that there will be no Nat captain this season unless he is out of the game for one reason or another. In this event, a temporary boss will be designated.

"Now the moanin' and groanin' starts," remarked Goose Goslin as he prepared to take his position in right field. What the Goose referred to was scraps with the umpires and cussing out the official scorer for not giving him all of the close ones.

The Goose, by the way, expects his new assignment to boost his stick average several points. "I used to be almost blinded when first up in an inning after playing in that sunfield," he explained.

Easter Gift Buying Made Easy by Following the Meanderer.

Theory of Opening Suit Bids Is Explained by Culbertson.

The Meanderer

Looks Into Easter Gift Buying for Children and Grown-Ups; Spring Flowers Again on the List.

Telephone questions on The Meanderer's column to The Washington Post, National 4205, Extension 19; or address The Meanderer, The Washington Post, inclosing self-addressed, stamped envelope for reply.

Round, small and yellow, a rubber duck with a big beak is a fitting gift for the little baby, as it is just the right size for a tiny hand to grasp. A healthy little squeak goes with the duck, of course. The little duck, costing only 35 cents, is being wrapped in Easter packages of small wearables in the children's wear section of a big shop on Fourteenth street. Tiny one-piece knitted suits, hand-joined and hand-decorated with matching berets, are charming baby gifts for $2.95 in this department. Diminutive dresses, rompers and sun suits in a countless number will interest the shopper with the small one on his Easter list.

Some of the nicest Easter eggs the Meanderer has found are painted. Furthermore, they are hand-painted. After the fresh, very strictly fresh, best-quality white eggs are hard-cooked, then hand painted, they are finally covered with clear shellac to protect the color and surface. Many of them are painted so well with flowers or other colorful designs that they would seem to be china eggs. Others have faces in hand work decorating them. They are for sale in a big food market on K street.

Alice-in-Wonderland dolls with their quaint yarn hair and prim pinafores are appealing. They are durable as well, made entirely of cloth, yarn and cotton. They cost $1.95 in a store on Fourteenth street.

Mickey Mouse, Minnie Mouse and Clarabelle Cow decorate dishes for children. They are showing in a Connecticut avenue shop at reasonable prices from 25 cents up.

Mugs, cereal sets and plates with sections arranged to divide the child's meal attractively are made of unbreakable wear and are decorated with bunnies and other Easter designs. They are showing at low prices in the china section of an F street department store.

Dyed and home-made Easter eggs are to be featured Saturday in a women's farm-to-home market. The dyed eggs are priced at 30 cents a dozen and the candy eggs are 5 cents each. If desired, names may be placed on the candy eggs.

Big sister who doesn't want an Easter egg basket may like a little flask of perfume, which fits in a candlestick and which would be a pretty touch on her dressing table. This novelty sells in a department store on Seventh street at F for $1.

Perfumes for mother's Easter gift may be bought at low cost this week in a perfume sale in the store just mentioned above. Some of the best known and most wanted perfumes are selling at prices lower, probably, than have ever been placed on such delightful quality of perfumes, for this week only. A skillful, accommodating sales girl in charge of selling perfumes, who wears the French peasant costume known so well to shoppers in the store, can tell the shopper a great deal about her wares.

Not to neglect big brother in the Easter gift list, the Meanderer looked over some new zipper, high or low adjustable necked sport shirts in a famous color and sun fast poplin, the big boy will feel enthusiastic about, at $1.95. Ties for the smaller brother in bright colors are copies of the best larger ties, and are in good fabrics and designs, just 50 cents. The shopper will like the boys' wear department of the Fourteenth street shop showing the articles the Meanderer recommends.

Interpreting the Mode

By DARE

THERE'S no use denying the high crown. One has been so used to a hat crown actually hugging the coiffeur, that the first hair release, as it were, gives one a touch of vertigo. 'Twill pass, 'twill pass, and one will feel the grateful breezes circulating around and through one's crown, and wonder how one managed without 'em or it at all!

The fez and the postillion are considered responsible for the high crown. Also it is not to be taken too seriously before autumn. Reboux, Agnes, Talbot, Maria Guy, and Schiaparelli are all names of prime importance in the hat world, and all interested in this higher crown. Many and slightly weird are the effects produced by some of these ladies—but they all point to something worth while paying attention to. And in the meanwhile, higher trimmings. If not actually higher crowns—that is, feathers, flowers and ribbons all pointing upward and giving height, are right here with us.

You have to wear cosmetic gloves at night, of course—but you don't have to let hubby know about it! Cover them with pastel colored and quilted or embroidered satin mittens, and just enjoy yourself! Cold footies rate the same covering—and not until you have snuggled them into foot warmers of real elegance have you truly lived. These are only two of the boudoir pretties and comforts we tell you how to make in this week's illustrated leaflet—there are lots of others, equally unusual and odd. A stamped, self-addressed envelope sent to the Dare Department of The Washington Post will bring the leaflet to you—and you will surely find something in it that you have wanted all along. Tells you how to make 'em, too.

Now you can have one bracelet form—and ten different bracelets all at once if you wish! When it comes to just the one spot of color in a whole ensemble, this novel bracelet surely furnishes it—for one of its several differently colored rings is bound to be the one you want.

Au revoir.

How to Keep Well

By DR. W. A. EVANS

NOT CONTAGIOUS.

A. M. writes: Would it be dangerous for a young woman to marry a man who has gastric ulcers? He was operated on several weeks ago. Would she be in danger of contracting them later on?

REPLY.

Gastric ulcer is not contagious.

DEPENDS ON AMOUNT.

B. S. writes: Are buttermilk and yogurt fattening?

REPLY.

Both are fattening if you drink much of them and eat abundantly in addition. They are not if the quantity consumed is small or if no other food is taken.

HEAD LICE.

Mrs. C. K. writes: My little girl got head lice from some of the children at school. Will you please tell me a quick and sure way of getting rid of the lice and the eggs?

REPLY.

Wash the hair with kerosene. After half an hour remove it. This kills or drives out the insects.

Wash the hair with warm vinegar. Comb out the nits. This removes the eggs. When you apply kerosene avoid all fires and open lights. Also be careful that the insects do not escape into the clothing and later return to the head. Be careful of the child's associates, lest she be reinfested. There is an old saying, "Evil communications spread insects," or something like that.

Today's Recipe

Roquefort Cheese Dressing.

½ cup Roquefort cheese
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon paprika
¼ teaspoon dry mustard
¼ teaspoon celery salt
1 teaspoon sugar
4 tablespoons lemon juice
½ cup salad oil

English mustard is particularly good with roast beef.

Mix the dry mustard with water as everyone knows, but a pinch of salt and a pinch of sugar makes all the difference in the world.

Culbertson on Bridge

By ELY CULBERTSON

648

THE THEORY OF OPENING SUIT BIDS.

A MASTER player's first thought in Bridge is the same as that of a skillful commander of troops in the field—that is, defense. The first job of a field marshall is to protect his army against surprise and also, incidentally, to keep open a line of communication to the rear. Similarly, a Bridge player, before he thinks of making a game, turns his thoughts first to the problem of saving an adverse game, and before he tries to score at his own bids, plans first to make it difficult for his adversaries to get together at their best bids. One of the truest axioms in Bridge is: "If you take care of your losses, your winnings will take care of themselves."

The ideal defense in Contract is attack, and the best defensive bid of all is an opening bid of one. There are thus fewer rounds left in which the enemy can exchange valuable information. Proper opening leads are shown to your partner if he should be charged with the burden of leading, and the opponents are quite hampered in getting together on their own best bids, while partner has a definite basis for penalty doubles or takeout bids. As a result, the adversary is quite often between the anvil of an opening bid—even a minimum—on his right, and the hammer of possibly great strength on his left. Generally speaking, the adversaries will be more hampered through such guerrilla tactics than through passive resistance or "laying a trap," which, while good strategy, sometimes proves, as a rule, only a worthless illusion. The "trap" bid of most great players is much more subtle than merely passing with strong hands with the strong risk of losing the game in the innocent hope that their opponents are too ignorant to judge their hands through their own bidding.

There has recently arisen a small circle of players who have resorted to these tactics. In fact, one or two members of this group go so far as to say that any hand should be passed first and second hand, no matter how strong, and that partner must protect their passes by bidding on hands containing only Queen-Knave. The unwisdom of such a course has been proved again and again. Such a hand as

Spades	9 8 7 6
Hearts	A K 10 4
Diamonds	J 10
Clubs	K 10 7

is a fair opening bid of one heart, first or second hand, while a hand such as

Spades	10 8
Hearts	A K 9 7 6 3
Diamonds	4 3

is not. The failure to open the bidding on minimums—that is, on hands which are somewhat above the average in honor strength—in addition to missing games for a partnership, makes it far too easy for the enemy to get together.

Still another objection to the passing of sound opening bids is that it is precisely this type of play which is most frequently penalized. His partner, third or fourth hand, will not ordinarily anticipate as much as 2½ honor-tricks in his hand, and, in consequence, frequently will overbid and take a loss, thinking to save the game, only to find that partner held more than sufficient values to have inflicted a worthwhile penalty upon overbidding opponents. Had the "sure thing partner" opened the bidding, there would then have arisen no occasion for a losing overbid. The few players and writers who advocate passing even on 3 and 3½ honor-tricks on the hands in the naive hope of trapping the opponents are survivors of the innocent early age of Bridge when bidding systems were not based on a scientific count of partnership hands, but on the perplexed frowns of the opponents. These players advocate passing originally with hands as strong as 3 to 4 honor-tricks and opening with as little as 2½ honor-tricks in the position of fourth hand, in order to protect a partner who may have passed a strong hand.

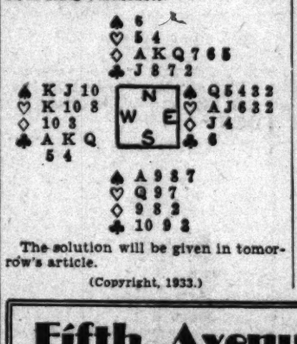
While a semipsychic bid on only 2 to 2½ honor-tricks—or even less, if holding a sound trump suit—should be made from time to time as third hand, for strategic reasons, the fourth hand always has the much safer option of passing out the deal. To open with insufficient values, when last to speak and in a position to consign the hand to the millions of unbid and unplayed Bridge hands, is as dangerous for the player as it is for a murderer to loiter on the scene of his crime. Even though the second hand may occasionally pass a fair sprinkling of honor-tricks, the chances are more than even that second hand is average, and should it be below average and fourth hand make a weak opening bid, something in the nature of a slaughter of innocents must occur. It follows, of course, that second hand, in such a situation, can not judge how weak the fourth hand is until the bidding becomes fairly high; and if a keen opponent, sitting third hand, decides to profit by the fourth hand's weak bids and also passes with a good hand for a trap, the slaughter will then assume the proportions of a massacre.

Opening bids must contain not only the factor of defense, but the factor of attack as well. Suits to be bid must have a minimum of length and strength in order that the partner may be guided in the best eventual contract. Of the two factors, defense is equally important with attack, for, although occasional losses may be suffered through bidding on minimums, these losses are amply repaid through the value of the cheapest and most effective of all defensive bids—the opening bid of one.

TOMORROW'S HAND.

If you, as East, had reached the contract of four spades, against which North and South had taken two diamond tricks, and a third diamond was returned, how would you plan your play from this point in order to make the contract?

West, Dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.



The solution will be given in tomorrow's article.

What Today Means to You

"ARIES."

IF April 13 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 8:30 a. m. to 9:30 a. m., from 5 p. m. to 6 p. m. and from 11:05 p. m. to 12 midnight. The danger periods are from 11 a. m. to 12:10 p. m. and from 7:30 p. m. to 8:30 p. m.

This April 13 will quite likely prove a dull one at the office; matters of routine will be taken care of, but little more. Friends and families gathered in the homes should have happy and gay times. Comaraderie between those of the opposite sexes should prove mutually stimulating.

The child born on this April 13 will no doubt travel a straight and steady path through life. He will accomplish no outstanding things nor acquire any honors in school, but in his later years he may establish himself as an authority in some field. A very honest little one.

If April 13 is the date of your birth, you are probably inclined to be harsh in your dealings with others with a tendency to walk rough-shod over anyone who happens to be in your path. The qualities of mercy and compassion are not yours; you are too quick to condemn and censure. Your advance in life will be a rapid one, for your great force of character, your strength of mind and your unwillingness to deviate in the slightest degree from a course which you have mapped out will enable you to overcome all obstacles in your way. You have persuasive powers of speech, and your ability to deal with others to your own advantage is hard to equal. You must take care not to "bite off too big a piece" or you will pave the way to your own destruction in a business way.

Born on April 13, you combine with your desire and ability to get ahead in a business or professional way, a rare delight in playing at this and that. You enjoy a gay life away from the office, you like to dance and you are fond of athletics. Pleasure, however, you never allow to interfere with business. The women born on this date take much interest in the affairs of their husbands. They are loyal coworkers and willingly share their trials as well as their successes. These women will stand by their husbands through thick and thin and regardless of whether they are in the right or not. Splendid mothers and wives.

Successful people born on April 13:

Guiding Your Child

By MRS. AGNES LYNE

A BOY was brought by his mother to a mental hygiene clinic. Her description of his conduct seemed to indicate that here was a case of really psychopathic personality.

She pictured him, with elaborate and circumstantial details, as being given to insane rages during which she was afraid to be left alone with him.

His last rage had occurred merely because she had insisted upon his washing his hands after dinner.

Asked how it was that she had the boy wash his hands after dinner rather than before, she answered: "O, yes, but he has to wash his hands before dinner, too."

Further questioning revealed that she made him regularly wash his hands before and after each meal. She insisted, too, upon herself giving him his daily bath (although he was quite a big boy) so that she might be certain he was perfectly clean." She added that she always put an antiseptic solution in the water.

This rather unusual measure of cleanliness caused the doctor to pursue the subject still further.

He discovered that this mother lived in a state of constant anxiety lest she or her family become infected. Particularly was she afraid of all the germs which she might collect from the outside world and bring into the house.

In order to minimize this danger, she took all sorts of sanitary precautions in the house and washed her own hands between 30 and 40 times daily.

Since the doctor's subsequent talk with the boy gave no indication of anything unusual about his personality, it became evident that his "insane rages" were only the normal reactions of a normal boy brought to frenzy by a highly neurotic mother.

Fifth Avenue Fashions

SOPHISTICATED and youthful!

The yoked bodice with sleeves that widen and puff above the elbow creates a charming effect.

The skirt lines are clever with snug hips and a deep pointed section at the front that gives elegant height to your figure.

For it you may choose a discreetly patterned crinkly crepe silk (such as made the original) in your favorite scheme. Medium blue, carrot-red and spring green tones are delightfully chic.

Plain crepe in beige, gray or black you'll like equally well.

Style No. 3333 is designed for sizes 14, 16, 18, 20 years, 36, 38 and 40 inches bust.

Size 16 requires 3⅛ yards of 39-inch material with ¼ yard of 39-inch contrasting and ⅜ yard of 35-inch lining. Price of pattern, 15 cents.

Our new Fashion Magazine for spring contains all of the new spring styles for women, misses and children as well as the most interesting illustrated articles—beauty hints, hairdressing, how to reduce sensibly, poise as an aid to fashions, dressmaking hints, &c.

Just write "Fashion Magazine" on any piece of paper, inclose 10 cents in stamps or coin and mail your order to fashion department, The Washington Post, Fifth avenue and Twenty-third street, New York City.

Radio Dial Flashes

By ROBERT D. HEINL

IF Dr. Einstein is right, and space is really curved, like the walls of some vast cyclorama, then the broadcast programs of today will some time come echoing back to the earth, Orestes H. Caldwell, president of the New York Electrical Society, said yesterday.

"Of course, there will be delay experienced by those who want to sit up to await the return of some favorite program, for the round-trip time of such a cosmic radio echo will be about 500,000,000,000 years," Mr. Caldwell went on. "And taking a tip from the red-shift or frequency reduction observed in the light of all far-off nebulae and galaxies, it would be expected that the returning radio programs will be considerably altered in tone, downward. Thus the voices of sopranos, heard on the rebound, would be singing bass; the shrill tones of Rubinoff's violin would sound like the deep diapason of some vast organ, and the canaries on the morning Cheerio Hour would sound like bullfrogs."

Mr. Caldwell also gave a schedule of the time taken for American broadcasting to reach listeners on neighboring planets and elsewhere in space: The moon, 1¼ seconds; Mars, 4 minutes; the sun, 8 minutes; Neptune, 3 hours; Alpha Centauri (nearest star), 4 years; Betelgeuze, 150 years; Andromeda Nebula, 900,000 years; farthest observed galaxy, 120,000,000 years.

Baseball scores will be broadcast over WRC at 6:16 p. m.

THE Minneapolis Symphony will present an all-Wagner program as the second of its series of concerts over National Broadcasting Co. networks tonight, with Eugene Ormandy conducting (WMAL, 11:30 p. m.). The program follows:

Overture from "The Flying Dutchman;" entrance of the Gods to Valhalla from "Das Rheingold;" Wotan's Farewell and Magic Fire Scene from "Die Walkure;" Forest Murmurs from "Siegfried;" Siegfried's Funeral March from "Gotterdammerung," and Dance of Apprentices and Finale from "Die Meistersinger."

The Minneapolis Symphony is an orchestra of 83 pieces, organized in 1903 as an outgrowth of the Philharmonic Club. Mr. Ormandy assumed its leadership two years ago. He is a frequent guest conductor of the Philadelphia Orchestra.

In order that Washingtonians may hear the entire Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra concert, Station WMAL will continue on the air until 1 o'clock and Station WRC will be signed off at midnight. This arrangement will be allowed to stand for the next four Thursday nights.

Harris Hull, the Postilion, will have to get himself a new hat. It isn't everybody who can be preferred to Bernard Shaw over the radio.

Didn't we tell you the young man had possibilities as a broadcaster?

Milton Berle, comedian, and Walter C. Kelly, "The Virginia Judge," will head the variety bill with Rudy Vallee tonight at 8 o'clock over WRC.

Thom s Mitchell, star of the dramatic success, "Clear All Wires," in a scene from Eugene O'Neill's "Anna Christie;" Zez Confrey, composer of "Kitten on the Keys," in a group of piano solos and Katherine Perry, Harlem blues singer, assisted by a Negro chorus, will complete the list of guests.

The April meeting of the Washington section of the Institute of Radio Engineers will be held tonight at the Kennedy-Warren.

The usual informal dinner will be served at 6:30 p. m. At 8 o'clock Mr. Frank A. Cowan, engineer of transmission, American Telephone & Telegraph Co., will give an illustrated paper on "Telephone Circuits for Program Transmission."

RED AND RAMONA, vocal and piano team, will visit Capt. Henry aboard the Maxwell House Show Boat tonight (WRC, 9 o'clock).

Ramona, a former Cincinnati girl who sings and plays the piano, and Red McKenzie, one-time jockey and vaudeville singer who also is a pianist, have become popular with the radio audience both as soloists and as a duo, since they were introduced to the networks by Paul Whiteman.

Col. Stoopnagle and Budd, assisted by William O'Neal, Jeannie Lang, orchestra and vocal ensemble, will repeat an original operetta, "Stoopnocracy," in the Gilbert and Sullivan manner first broadcast by them last month. This presentation will occupy the major portion of the Pontiac broadcast over WJSV at 9:30 p. m.

Addresses of the American Coalition of Patriotic Societies today will be heard over WMAL at 11 a. m.

Senator Simeon D. Fess, of Ohio, will speak on "Why I Oppose Recognition of Russia;" Representative Robert L. Doughton, of North Carolina, "Perils of Communism;" Representative Thomas A. Jenkins, of Ohio, "New Problems in Immigration Restriction," and Representative Lamar Jeffers, of Alabama, "Protecting Our Government From Force and Violence."

Senator Morris Sheppard's speech before the national convention of the Women's National Committee for Law Enforcement will be broadcast over WMAL, 10:30 p. m.

Mrs. Henry W. Peabody, general chairman of the committee, will preside.

THE poetry and music group of Washington entertainers (WMAL, 9:30 p. m.) is a veritable League of Nations. Torovsky, pianist, is a Czech; Bagranoff, tenor, a Bulgarian; Miss Apple, singer, English, and Eileen Fowler, reader, Scotch-Irish.

"The Black Legend of Spain" will be related by Dean Henry Grattan Doyle in the George Washington University Forum (WMAL, 7:30 p. m.).

There's apparently intense behind-the-scenes activity surrounding this new "Myrt and Marge" mystery—"Where Is Myrt?"

"On the air Myrt is mysteriously missing. Friends, attorneys, theatrical associates, newspapermen and radio stations are following her elusive trail. In real life, Myrtle Vail is being attended by a day and night nurse and a physician in a hospital in Chicago. The telephone is disconnected and visitors are barred," according to Columbia advices from Chicago. "Her jaw is fractured and her face is painfully cut, the result of an automobile accident. She can not even talk with those attending her. A note pad and a pencil are her only means of communication.

"The removing of an author and a principal might have forced another act from the air, but Myrtle Vail had barely recovered from the anesthetic administered for an emergency operation before she was scribbling a note, asking that Bobby Brown, director of the five-a-week series, be summoned posthaste. It was 2 a. m. before he could be reached. A bandaged hand extended a note as he entered the sickroom.

"'Just see what a wreck I am. We'll have to revamp tonight's script and maybe lots more. The doc will explain this unusual silence.'

"Until daylight this strangest of all script conferences carried on despite the physician's disapproval. Pencil points were worn away, new ideas were born. At daylight a new 'Myrt and Marge' was on paper, a Myrtless 'Myrt and Marge.'

"Brown went from the room to the studio. Members of the cast were called in. Schedules were upset and new schedules were made. More conferences, and at noon the new story was in rehearsal. What might have been a tragedy and the end of an outstanding radio show had been turned into the greatest radio mystery since 'Who Killed Ray Hunt?'"

HERB POLESIE: "What do you think of the moratorium?"

Tom Howard: "It's one of the finest boats I've ever crossed on."

Musher Pushes On.

Cherry Blossoms Are Hit by Rain

Fallen Petals Blanket the Ground; Easter May See Nearly All Gone.

A white blanket of fallen cherry blossom petals yesterday threw into relief the splendor of the Japanese blooms fringing the Tidal Basin—and sounded the closing bars of the floral color song.

Easter Sunday will see the cherry blossoms nearly gone, Albert Clyde-Burton, public parks official, said yesterday. The heavy, cold rain of Tuesday night proved too much for the blooms that had swung into maturity with the warm atmosphere of Monday.

The waning glory of the blooms marks the first time in a number of years, said Mr. Clyde-Burton, that the pink petals have not lasted through two successive Sundays.

Prince's Son Confirmed.

Potsdam, Germany, April 12 (A.P.).—President von Hindenburg, as the godfather of Karl Joseph, the only son of the late Prince Joachim of Prussia, today attended confirmation services at the Friedenskirche. The court chaplain, Bruno Doehring, admonished the prince to be faithful to the traditions of the House of Hohenzollern.

Washington's Kin Dies.

Erding, Germany, April 12 (A.P.).—Maria Baroness von Washington, whose late husband was related in a remote degree to the first President of the United States, died here today. She was 89 years old.

A New Yorker At Large

By MARK BARRON.

New York—The arrival of Bernard Shaw brings forth a flood of anecdotes about the merry Irishman who has been quipping his way around the world.

One lecture was all that he would allow New York, but that was quite generous of him for he never accepts fees for speaking. Once he turned down an offer to speak to America over the radio, commenting that he would do it only for $1,000,000, or else when he found a subject which was of mutual interest to this country and himself.

Eventually he did find such a subject—Albert Einstein.

He also let out another secret. "America once offered me an enormous sum for my film rights," he said, "but I submitted the proposal to an income tax expert.

"He told me that the net result would be that I should have to pay $37 to the American Government."

During this tour he has been getting in quite a bit of work, including writing of a short story. "I don't think it will interest Americans," he observed, "as it deals with fundamentalism."

One of the new crop of popular novelists was busily hammering away at a new story the other afternoon. Although the quality of his stuff hardly will allow his works to survive for posterity, he does manage to sell enough to keep him in a penthouse overlooking the East River.

Such a luxurious setting has tended to give him the illusion that he is another Maugham or Huxley, and he frequently bursts forth in storms of artistic temperament to impress friends of his self-implied genius.

As he was writing this certain afternoon, two of his pals were carrying on a conversation in another corner of the room. Finally the author leaped from his chair, screaming: "Great heavens, can't you go somewhere else. I can't write when anyone is around me."

"You can't write anyway," was the squelching retort of one of the pals.

On the other hand there is that former newspaper reporter who turned out a couple of good books and retired to Bermuda to write novels.

He had become so accustomed, however, to grinding out copy in the turmoil and noise of the editorial rooms that he found he couldn't do any work amid the quiet and peace of the tropical island.

So he returned to New York, borrowed desk space in the office of his erstwhile city editor, and he is there now happily grinding out his books in the bedlam of shouting reporters, ringing telephone bells and clicking telegraph instruments.

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS —By John Hix
For further proof address the author, inclosing a stamped envelope for reply. Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.

LITTLE Jack Nunnely is perhaps the only person on earth who has been pronounced dead by physicians three different times—only to be snatched back from the grave each time by the administration of adrenalin. Other cases, of course, are known where a person apparently dead once has been revived by injection of this drug into the heart, but Jack was dead three times. Medical science's time-honored test of life and death is the heart action—if the heart was not beating the patient was presumed to be dead. With the administration of adrenalin, however, this test must be discarded in some cases where it has been shown that a person apparently lifeless can be revived by adrenalin.

Strange as it seems, adrenalin is not a new discovery, as popularly believed. It has long been known to medical science and used to contract muscular tissues and stop hemorrhage. Use of the drug to revive patients whose hearts have stopped beating, however, has become more general in recent years.

More than one kind of ice can be frozen from ordinary water—six, in fact, according to scientists. The ice we know, frozen at ordinary atmospheric pressure, is ice-I to the scientist. The other ices, ice-II, III, IV, V and VI, must be frozen under high pressure. They differ from ordinary ice in formation, and all five are heavier than water.

Colors give added realism to strange things and happenings illustrated by John Hix on a full page in The Sunday Post.

THE ONCE OVER

By H. I. PHILLIPS

LEXICON OF THREE-POINT-TWO.

BEER—A brew of malt, hops and cereals without the aid of skilled needleworkers.

Beer garden (outdoors)—A few yards of trellis, two or more trees, a goldfish pool, some wooden benches and a faint aroma of sauerkraut.

Beer garden (indoors)—Any auditorium, hall or space lacking any resemblance to a garden, with a strong aroma of sauerkraut.

Rathskeller—A restaurant, usually in the basement, and with the walls decorated with crude paintings of the Rhineland.

Restaurant—A saloon in which frankfurters can be boiled if necessary.

Hotel—Any building in which beer is sold.

Club—Any organization in which all the members are in arrears.

BAR—A counter at which a customer could stand while drinking in the old days, but which is now considered a highly incriminating piece of furniture.

Clambake—An old-fashioned outdoor festivity which has become extinct due to the fact that the barrel of needled beer produced by the committee made everybody unconscious before the clams could be opened.

Sheeproast—Same as above.

Picnic—A one-time pleasant rural outing which may now be attended by a family man who likes his beer, but who always is afraid of high explosives in liquid form.

BUSINESS MEN'S OUTING—A summer festivity attended for the last 14 years by males who wanted to know how dreary a day at the shore could really be. It will now be restored to its old-time form, with the usual baseball game between the married and single men, with the keg at third base and with everybody having a good time without falling over a cliff after the second stein.

Brewery—An alcohol cutting plant gone straight.

Stein—A large beer mug.

Keg—The stein's mother ship.

Pretzel—Geometry's gift to the beer industry; an indigestible piece of trick baking, highly varnished.

Growler—A pail in which beer is transported from the sales place to the kitchen.

"Rushing the duck"—Act of carrying beer in a pail or pitcher.

THE GREAT GOLF FRATERNITY.

The golf season is at hand again, and whereas it was once difficult to get into a foursome unless on intimate terms with millionaires, you may now play the best courses with no other bond of brotherhood except that you are broke, too.

Ad similes: As attentive as a suburbanite to a new lawn.

If they want encampment entertainers at those Government reforestation camps, they will, of course, consider Helen Twelvetrees.

River Bulletin.

Harpers Ferry, W. Va., April 12.—Shenandoah River very muddy, and Potomac clear.

PRE-EASTER RITES WILL START TODAY IN CITY CHURCHES

Catholics and Protestants Will Hold Services of Maundy Thursday.

In observance of the three momentous days preceding Easter, Protestant and Catholic churches will recognize Holy or Maundy Thursday with solemn services today, and Good Friday and Holy Saturday tomorrow and the next day.

Episcopal and Catholic churches have arranged for special services today. Maundy Thursday will be celebrated at Washington Cathedral with Holy Communion at 9:30 a. m. Good Friday will be ushered in with morning prayer and litany at 10:30 a. m. Bishop James E. Freeman will conduct the passion service at 12:30 p. m. in the great sanctuary and choir. The service will be broadcast.

Other Episcopal churches which will conduct similar services today and tomorrow are: St Agnes, 46 Q street northwest; St. Paul's, Rock Creek Church road and Webster street northwest; St. John's Church, opposite Lafayette Square; St. Andrews, V street and New Hampshire avenue northwest; Church of the Ascension, Massachusetts avenue and Twelfth street northwest; Church of the Epiphany, 1317 G street northwest.

National Shrine Rites.

At the National Shrine of the Immaculate Conception at Catholic University, Maundy Thursday will be observed with solemn mass at 7 a. m., tenebrae at 4 p. m. and holy hour at 8 p. m.

Mass of the presanctified will be celebrated at 8:30 a. m., tenebrae at 4 p. m. tomorrow; solemn mass at 8:30 a. m. Saturday, and solemn mass at 10 a. m. Easter Sunday. The Right Rev. Bernard McKenna will be the celebrant.

The Rev. George Strohaver, S. J., of Georgetown University, will preach the Three Hours' Agony from 12 noon to 3 p. m. tomorrow at the Church of the Immaculate Conception. The Rev. Francis J. Hurney will preside at the service, a portion of which will be broadcast from the church by Station WOL from 12 noon until 1 p. m.

The tenebrae services, to be held at 7:45 p. m. today and tomorrow, will be chanted by the Friars of the Atonement and the brothers of the Chaminade College in Brookland.

Dr. Charles A. Hart, of Catholic University, director of the Catholic Evidence Guild, will conduct an open air meeting in Franklin Park at 8 p. m. tomorrow. He will speak of the meaning of the Last Supper.

Blessing of New Fire.

At the Franciscan Monastery solemn high mass and the procession to the holy sepulcher, followed by the mandatum (washing of feet), will take place at 9 a. m. today. Tenebrae will be at 4 p. m. and the holy hour at 8 p. m.

Tomorrow, Good Friday, the singing of the passion, veneration of the cross, procession, and mass of the presanctified will take place at 9 a. m. Way of the cross service will be held at 3 p. m., tenebrae at 4 p. m. and funeral of Christ and sermon at 8 p. m.

On Holy Saturday, blassing of the new fire and of the Paschal candle, singing of the prophecies and solemn high mass will be held at 6:30 a. m. The resurrection service will be held at 8 a. m.

Special services will be held at St. Patrick's Catholic Church today, tomorrow and Saturday, beginning at 8 a. m. The Rev. Charles A. Dougherty, S. M., will conduct the three hours' agony service from 12 noon until 3 p. m. tomorrow.

St. Dominic's Program.

Solemn Mass will be celebrated at St. Dominic's Church, Sixth and E streets southwest, at 8 a. m. today and tenebrae at 7:30 p. m. Mass of the Presanctified will be at 8 a. m. tomorrow and a Three Hours Agony service from 6 to 9 p. m. Solemn Mass will be celebrated at 8 a. m. on Holy Saturday.

Holy Communion will be celebrated at St. Martin's Church, 1908 North Capitol street, at 7 a. m. today; Solemn High Mass at 8 a. m., procession to repository after mass, and the tenebrae and sermon at 7:30 p. m. From 11 p. m. until midnight, a special service will be held, ushering in Good Friday.

At St. Aloysius, North Capitol and I streets, Solemn High Mass will be celebrated at 8 a. m., and at 7:30 p. m. the Rev. Francis E. Garner will deliver a sermon on the "Holy Eucharist."

A vested choir of 60 voices will sing Gaul's passion music at the Mount Vernon Place M. E. Church South, at 8 p. m. today. R. Dean Shure will direct the music, assisted by Miss Edith Gottwals, at the organ. The Sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be observed at the conclusion of the musical program.

Universalist Services.

Celebration of the Lord's Supper will take place at 8 p. m. today at the Universalist National Memorial Church. At 8 p. m. tomorrow, the Passion will be sung by the National Capital Choir, directed by Albert W. Harned. The service will include the reading of, "The Seven Last Words of Our Savior on the Cross" by the Rev. Frederic W. Perkins.

Holy Thursday will be observed at the First Congregational Church, Tenth and G streets northwest, with a service at 8 p. m. The Rev. Allen A. Stockdale will preach on "The Midnight Christ." New members will be received into the church and the Lord's Supper will be served. The vested choir of 60 voices will sing, under the direction of Ruby Smith Stahl.

The Mount Airy Baptist Church, North Capitol and L streets, will observe Good Friday with a service from 12 until 3 p. m. under the direction of the Women's Convention, auxiliary to the Baptist Convention of the District.

Stainer's "The Crucifixion" will be given by the Mount Pleasant Church choir at 8 p. m. tomorrow at the Mount Pleasant Congregational Church, 1410 Columbia road northwest.

Prayer service will be held at 8 p. m. today at the Francis Asbury Church, Sixteenth street near Lamont street northwest.

Communion will be held at 8 p. m. today at the Sixth Presbyterian Church, Sixteenth and Kennedy streets northwest. A Good Friday service will be held at 8 p. m. tomorrow.

MAUNDY SERVICES PLANNED TONIGHT

Scottish Rite Ceremony to Be Held in All Souls' Church at 8 P. M.

The solemn and impressive Maundy Thursday ceremonies of the Ancient and Accepted Scottish Rite of Freemasonry will be held at 8 o'clock tonight in All Sours' Church, Sixteenth and Harvard streets northwest.

The observances of the mystic banquet and extinguishing the symbolic lights are performed simultaneously in every chapter of Rose Croix in the 33 States of the Southern Jurisdiction, thus drawing together the greatest possible assemblage of Masons at one time. Attendance is obligatory on all Knights Rose Croix, but the program this year is expected to attract not only local members, but many distinguished visitors.

Dr. Hubert M. Poteat, thirty-third degree, past grand master of North Carolina, one of the most noted of Masonic speakers in the Nation, will make the address.

Masonry will turn out in full force for the occasion. The most worshipful grand master, Harry G. Kimball, will attend, also Sovereign Grand Commander John H. Cowles, Illustrious Brother Hyman Witcover, secretary general; Ellwood P. Morey, thirty-third degree, deputy in the District for the supreme council, and many other dignitaries of both the York and Scottish Rites.

The cast is under the leadership of Carl H. Claudy, K. C. C. H., wise master of Evangelist Chapter. Music will be under the direction of J. Walter Humphrey, K. C. C. H., director of the Scottish Rite Choir, and the arrangements and decorations are in charge of Joseph F. Schevlin, K. C. C. H., and Emil Fisher, K. C. C. H. The uniformed camp guard, under Capt. Frank E. Koch, thirty-third degree, will supply the guard of honor and ushers.

These observances are strictly confined to Scottish Rite Masons of the eighteenth degree or more, and admission is by Scottish Rite card only. Owing to the unusual economic conditions, however, all Scottish Rite Masons with any cards will be welcome.

The complementary service of relighting the symbolic lights will occur at the same church on Easter Sunday at 3 p. m.

New Boat to Make Mt. Vernon Trips

Service to Start May 11 on Reduced Fare Schedule.

The new steamer City of Washington will be operated to Mount Vernon by the Wilson Line, Inc. The speed of the new vessel will reduce the running time to one hour.

The steamer will make her inaugural trip May 11. Trips will be made twice daily, except Sundays. A number of reservations have been received for scheduled runs and it is believed water travel to Mount Vernon will be greatly increased.

Fare for adults and children making the trip has been reduced.

Benning Indorses Taggart Candidacy

Citizen Group in Favor of Woman Lawyer on Juvenile Court Bench.

Indorsement of Etta Taggart, Washington attorney, for appointment to succeed Judge Kathryn Sellers on the bench of the Juvenile Court was voted last night by the Benning Citizens Association.

Presided over by President Frank E. James, the Benning group heard Private Milton M. Welsh, Eleventh Precinct policeman assigned to break up depredations on private property by prowling boys, ask for cooperation from parents in his task.

Letters were voted sent to District authorities asking a drinking fountain at the Benning School, where children must climb two flights for water, asking replacement of trees along Minnesota avenue, and for a curbing to be built on Galt place northeast.

TRAFFIC TOLL

TO DATE.

The wiring of your car is a very important matter. More than 50 per cent of automobile fires are caused by defective wiring. It is an excellent idea to examine the wiring to make sure that wires are properly insulated and kept free of "shorts." Usually when something happens to the wiring the fuse under the dashboard blows out.

The figures are:

WOMEN DRYS PLAN NEW PARTY TO SAVE NATION FROM BEER

Mrs. Peabody Says Men Have Betrayed Trust for Cash and Drink.

Formation of the Constitutional Party of America was forecast last night by Mrs. Henry W. Peabody, chairman of the Women's National Committee for Law Enforcement at the oganization's opening session here.

"Women are rising," said Mrs. Peabody. "They will drive the money-changers and brewers out of our national temple. We thought we had sent men to represent us, but they have betrayed the Constitution for revenue and beer.

"Until women in every State organize for political action, as they are doing, the cause may be temporarily lost, and with a far greater cause, our free government. Therefore we, representing 10,000,000 women in the national organizations, will hold the line."

"Disloyal Men's Parties."

Mrs. Peabody voiced an emphatic "no" to any proposal for a woman's party, declaring:

"—— but we will oppose disloyal men's parties and a new coalition is bound to come, men and women who will be the 'Constitutional Party of America.'

"Our Government has broken down," continued Mrs. Peabody. "Not through prohibition, but through disloyalty, weakness and perjury of men appointed to govern under the Constitution. The old danger that Washington feared, that Lincoln fought, is cheerfully indorsed by a majority in Congress."

Senator Arthur Capper, of Kansas, principal speaker before the committee last night, lashed out at the "easy-going complacency" of the American people and charged proximity of politics to police work and administration was "the central vice of the situation."

Scores Apportionment System.

"The police must be made to feel that they are the immediate and exclusive servants of the community," said the Kansan, "with no concern but for the fearless and thorough performance of their duty—answerable to no gang, political or otherwise."

An attack on the method of apportionment of congressional representation among the States was voiced by the Kansas senator. He declared that "the several million unnaturalized aliens in New York give that State at least three—probably four—extra votes in the national Congress."

"The States of the Middle West are the ones that suffer from this unjust discrimination," said Senator Capper, "the States with large industrial centers profit most from it."

Mrs. M. L. Darby, representing the National Council of Federated Church Women, declared that the eighteenth amendment has been "the greatest boon" to home mission work.

"Curse to Humanity."

Labeling the saloon as "that curse to humanity," Mrs. Morris Liebert, president of International Kings Daughters, attacked antiprohibitionists' claims that repeal will provide employment for millions and appealed for "vigorous action."

The committee's sessions will continue through today and tomorrow On tomorrow at 10 a. m. a march to the Lincoln Memorial will be held on the anniversary of the death of the Civil War President.

Lodydensky to Speak At Coalition Luncheon

M. de Lodydensky, of the Entente International of Geneva, Switzerland, will give an illustrated lecture on Soviet Russia to the American Coalition meeting at their luncheon session today at the Carlton Hotel at 12:30 p. m.

He arrived yesterday on the Majestic from Europe and came here last night. The Entente International is opposed to the Soviet International.

D. C. BEER TENSION GREATLY RELIEVED

Police Find Dealers Ready to Cooperate and Obey Rules Cheerfully.

Though beer dealers, distributors and the District's only brewery were still having plenty of trouble yesterday the lager situation in Washington seemed eased.

Police officials, including Inspector L. I. H. Edwards, a member of the beverage board, are pleased with cooperation of dealers in the project for city-wide, strict observance of regulations governing sale of beer.

Inspector Edwards said reports from police personnel indicate few tendencies to violate the regulations and warnings are being taken pleasantly and meet ready compliance.

The brewery here has settled down to a steady daily output of 3,000 cases of bottled and 10,000 gallons of barrel beer. Despite demands, brewery officials said yesterday no lager is being released until sufficiently aged.

Scant supplies of beer have been received to date from Milwaukee and St. Louis, but distributors held high hopes for shipments arriving today. Scouts from large jobbers here reported general inability on the part of Pennsylvania brewers immediately to begin large shipments to the Capital.

A total of 1,106 temporary selling permits for the District had been issued by the Beverage Permit Board at the close of yesterday's activity, and Wade Coombs, superintendent of licenses, predicted that not more than 1,300 would be issued altogether.

The rush for licenses has practically ceased, and the board yesterday was acting on applications about as rapidly as they were received.

A total of $115,500 has been received by the tax collector in fees. The 1,106 permits are classified as 531 off-sale, 528 on-sale, 46 wholesalers and 1 brewer. Rejections to date number 175, though many more have been returned as improperly submitted.

Hopes of representatives for the sale of beer in the House restaurant, so that tongues wrung dry in debate might be moistened with lager, were still in abeyance yesterday. A subcommittee has not yet decided whether the restaurant manager shall apply to the District beer board for a permit or omit this formality on the ground that the Capitol is a Federal reservation. The Senate's beer hopes, too, were still undecided by a committee of its members.

Salesman Asks $50,000 In Suit for False Arrest

Because he was allegedly arrested without justification Ernest O. Hammersla, 5100 Kansas avenue northwest, a jewelry salesman, yesterday in District Supreme Court filed suit against William W. Stewart, 452 D street northwest, for $50,000.

Hammersla claimed he was arrested March 30, and after being questioned, was released.

Judgment of $4,770.50 Is Asked on Bank Stock

Charles Facchina, 1215 Quincy street northeast, yesterday asked the intervention of the District Supreme Court in a financial tangle which he has met with the defunct International Exchange.

Through Attorney J. A. Rafferty, Facchina contends that he had purchased stock in the bank, and he said the stock had never been delivered to him. Because of this alleged nondelivery he asked for judgment against the bank for $4,770.50.

Woman in Blackmail Case Called Bigamist

Virginia Warrant Issued for Mrs. Burleigh Charging Her With Remarriage Without Divorce; Howell Held for Grand Jury.

Wanted in Arlington County on a charge of bigamy, Edna Spradlin Burleigh, held in Washington as a Government witness in a blackmail case, will be served with a Virginia warrant today.

The wararnt was issued yesterday on complaint of Mrs. Mae E. Jacobs, superintendent of public welfare for Arlington County, and signed by County Judge B. M. Hendrick.

It was charged that Mrs. Burleigh's first husband, Ira Spradlin, resides in Roanoke, Va. She will be taken into custody by Virginia authorities as soon as she completes her testimony against James Slusher Howell, who was held for the grand jury yesterday in Police Court on a charge of blackmail. His bond was set at $1,500.

Testimony given in court was that over a period of three months Howell took various sums of money from Elmer B. Burleigh, after threatening to disclose that Mrs. Burleigh had never been divorced from her first husband.

Mrs. Burleigh, who is 34 years old, said she separated from Ira Spradlin in 1930 and came to Washington, where she met Howell, whom she had known in Roanoke. Howell learned that she had not been divorced, and later, it is charged, after her marriage to Burleigh in January of this year, threatened to have her arrested for bigamy unless Burleigh met his demands.

In her testimony, Mrs. Burleigh stated that she had heard that her first husband had sued for divorce in Roanoke shortly after their separation and had been awarded a decree. It was because of this that she agreed to marry Burleigh, she said.

P.U.C. FILES PHONE AUDIT BRIEF TODAY

Members of Six State Units in Long Session With Local Group.

The Public Utilities Commission and representatives of six State public service commissions yesterday spent the entire day preparing a petition to be filed this morning with the Interstate Commerce Commission at a hearing on accounting classifications of the subsidiaries of the American Telephone & Telegraph Co.

No information was revealed as to the nature of the petition, but it is known that the commissions are seeking particularly to gain control of the depreciation accounts of the telephone companies in their respective jurisdictions.

On the outcome of the hearing will depend what further steps are taken by the District Commission to bring about a reduction in local telephone rates. It is the contention of the District body that the Interstate Commerce Commission should give it control of the purely intrastate accounting and depreciation charges of the telephone company.

There is considerable question whether the Interstate Commerce Commission can delegate its authority to fix depreciation rates and charges of an interstate organization to State commissions, but it is possible that recommendations of the latter might be accepted by the Federal agency. The specific question of telephone depreciation charges, however, does not come within the scope of today's hearing.

Counsel for the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co. will be present at the hearing as will People's Counsel Richmond B. Leech. William A. Roberts, special counsel, will handle the District's case. It is expected that the session, which opens at 10 a. m., will be ended before noon.

Among those who conferred with the local commission yesterday are Dr. Milo R. Maltbie, Charles G. Blakeslee and M. F. Orton, of New York; M. N. Morse and H. Styles Bridges, of New Hampshire; David E. Lilienthal, G. C Matthews and J. H. Brickley, of Wisconsin; Frederick P. Gruenberg and B. P. Morgal, Pennsylvania; P. R. Reed, Oklahoma, and E. K. Murray, Washington State.

Masons to See Byrd Pictures.

Pictures of Byrd's South Pole expedition will be shown tomorrow evening at a meeting of Eureka Chapter, No. 4, Royal Arch Masons. An invitation has been extended to all Blue Lodge Masons, the Grand Lodge and Grand Chapter. Attendance prizes will be awarded.

PIERSON, CLEARED, RETURNS TO OFFICE

Gen. Glassford and Costello Testify as Rum Charges Are Proved False.

Capt. Joseph W. Pierson, commander of the Second Precinct, who was suspended March 14, on a charge of intoxication after two police officials had gone to his home at 48 T street northwest after an anonymous telephone call and reported that he was drunk, was found not guilty by a police trial board yesterday and was officialy restored to duty last night.

Dr. L. A. Cornet, of 1927 North Capitol street, testified before the trial board that he examined Capt. Pierson an hour after Inspectors L. I. H. Edwards and Thaddeus R. Bean called at his home, and that he showed no signs of intoxication.

Attorney James O'Shea presented evidence that Dr. Samuel M. Sacks, of 1000 M street northwest, had given the police captain a prescription on the morning of March 14. Both Edwards and Bean admitted that it is not in violation of the police manual for an officer to drink prescription liquor.

Testimony also was presented of the fact that Pierson had been on sick leave for two days under orders of Dr. W. H. R. Brandenburg, police physician. He was suffering from a bad cold and grippe. The police doctor accompanied Bean and Edwards when they went to Pierson's home and told the board that he had detected a faint odor of liquor on the captain's breath.

Fourteen character witnesses testified on behalf of Pierson. Among them were Brig. Gen. Pelham D. Glassford, former superintendent of police; John F. Costello, Democratic national committeeman for the District, and Inspector Frank S. W. Burke, chief of the detective bureau.

The trial board was composed of Inspectors William G. Stott, Ogden T. Davis and James F. Beckett.

F. A. Cowan to Address Radio Men.

Frank A. Cowan, engineer of transmission, American Telephone & Telegraph Co., will give an illustrated lecture on telephone circuits for program transmission at the April meeting of the Washington section of the Institute of Radio Engineers, today at 8 p. m. at the Kennedy-Warren Apartments. An informal dinner will be served at 6:30 p. m.

13 BANKS' REPORTS ON CONDITIONS ARE SENT TO TREASURY

Commercial Depositors Will Get Statements on Accounts Today.

Reports on the condition of thirteen closed Washington banks were sent to Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Cummings yesterday as the Commercial National Bank announced that depositors would be notified of their balances today and a committee of Park Savings Bank depositors called on the conservator of that bank in search of information about the bank's condition.

Mr. Cummings will make a study of the local bank situation, as revealed by the reports, before anything about them is made public, it was said at the Treasury. The study is expected to take two or three days after which news will be forthcoming.

The first news is expected to be of banks which may be able to reopen on their present sites and under their present names. Later the banks which may reopen after reorganization will be named, and even later the banks to be liquidated will be listed.

Park Savings Committee.

The Park Savings committee got little definite information during a call on Richard Hargreaves, conservator of that bank, J. W. Thompson, chairman of the committee, said last night. The committee was appointed to report at a meeting of depositors to be held at the Mount Pleasant Public Library Branch tonight. This meeting will be held, even though there is nothing definite to report, Mr. Thompson said.

Furnishing of information on their balances to depositors in the Commercial National Bank is only the first step to be taken before claims are filed with the receiver for the bank. The Commercial's doors will be opened today to depositors in commercial accounts, who may learn exactly how much they had in the bank when it closed on February 27.

With this information, the depositors will be in a position to file claims at some later date. Only balances will be furnished today, the cancelled checks being retained. Later, depositors in the savings department of the bank will be notified to appear for the balancing of their passbooks, and holders of other evidence of indebtedness also will be summoned to appear.

Northeast Savings Bank.

Nearly half of the stock required for the reopening of the Northeast Savings Bank has been subscribed. It was announced last night after a meeting of the stockholders at the bank. Subscriptions for 4,500 shares already have been received out of a total new issue of 10,000 shares.

Next week the bank will be opened from 7 to 9 o'clock every night to receive subscriptions for stock. The opening of the bank, according to officials, depends on the rest of the stockholders signing up, and the bank will be kept open for their convenience. About half of those present last night subscribed for stock after the meeting, it was said.

Geneva Cellist to Play In Huguenot Program

Dr. Emile Simon, cello soloist of the Geneva Symphony Orchestra, will be featured in a musical program today at 8:30 p. m. at a meeting of the Huguenot Society of Washington in the Mayflower Hotel.

The meeting will be held in commemoration of the anniversary of the Promulgation of the Edict of Natas in 1598. Dr. Nicholas L. Dashiell, chairman of the Maryland branch of the organization, will present the local society with a photogravure of the painting, "The Huguenot," by John Everett Millias.
